FOR CONGRESS.

TO MY FRIENDS AND CONSTITUENTS OF THE 1st SOUTH CAROLINA DISTRICT:—
Ten years ago you elected me to Congress by an overwhelming majority. During all of these years I have endeavored to serve you faithfully and honestly. I have worked zealously and unceasingly in your interest, having always in view that I was a public servant holding a sacred trust. It has been my endeavor to serve you courteously as well as conscientiously and I have always responded promptly to the demand of every man, woman and child who has called upon me. In offering for re-election I feel it unnecessary to call your attention to the fact that a man becomes more useful to his state and country by reason of his long service in Congress. That each year he becomes more familiar with the intricate workings of that great body, stronger and more intimate with his colleagues and consequently more useful to you. You realize of course that I am better equipped to-day than ever before to fulfill the duties to which you have assigned me. I trust your confidence in me as expressed on more than one occasion remains the same and that you will so record your votes in the coming primary.
I thank you earnestly and sincerely for your kindness to me in the past and I promise my very best efforts in your behalf in the future.
With Esteem,
GEO. S. LEGARE.

Dr. King's New Life Pills
The best in the world.

Baseball Puzzled the Englishman.

"In St. Louis some years ago," writes a Kansas City man, "I took a dignified Englishman to his first ball game. Big, good natured Robinson was catching. Behind him and near us a youth of about twelve was delivering a choice variety of rooting from the grand stand, to the evident puzzlement of my companion. 'Good boy, Robby!' was a frequent cry of the youngster.

"Restraining his curiosity for a time, finally, on inquiry, the Briton learned that probably no acquaintance existed between the catcher and the lad. 'Dear me!' he ejaculated. 'What assurance for that small boy to address that large gentleman so familiarly.'

"Shortly afterward the players surrounded the umpire, gesticulating angrily in dispute over a decision.

"'What is it?' the visitor asked.

"'They're kicking at the umpire,' I explained.

"'Fancy that!' said he. 'But, don't you know, I have not seen a man lift his foot.'"—Kansas City Star.

Disturbing Albert.

A pianist had moved into a new apartment house, and the first morning she started to play there came a tap at the door, and the pianist upon opening it was confronted by a tearful woman who begged her not to play again until dear little Albert got better, because a piano did get on his nerves so. Being a kind hearted woman with children of her own, the pianist readily consented. Three days later she said to the janitress: "How is that little boy down stairs? Is he any better?"

"What little boy?" said the janitress.

"Albert—I don't know the rest of his name."

"Oh, him," said the janitress. "He ain't a boy. He's a dog."

And then the pianist, although she had a soft spot in her heart for dogs, resumed her playing.—New York Press.

Hate and Cruelty and Animals.

Animals are neither moral nor immoral. They are unmoral. Their needs are all physical. It is true that the command against murder is pretty well kept by the higher animals. They rarely kill their own kind. Hawks do not prey upon hawks, nor foxes prey upon foxes, nor weasels upon weasels, but lower down this does not hold. Trout eat trout and pickerel eat pickerel, and among the insects young spiders eat one another, and the female spider eats her mate if she can get him. There is but little if any neighborly love among even the higher animals. They treat one another as rivals or associate for mutual protection. One cow will lick and comb another in the most affectionate manner and the next moment savagely gore her. Hate and cruelty for the most part rule in the animal world.—John Burroughs in Century.

Fined For Swearing.

In 1650 a law was passed in England for the "better preventing and suppressings" of swearing. It fixed the fines and directed that a record of offenders be kept by a justice of the peace and published quarterly. A lord could swear to his heart's content for $7.50, a baronet or knight for $6.25, and, while the strong word cost an esquire $2.50, a gentleman could relieve his feelings for $1.50, and all "inferior persons" for 75 cents—this for the first offense. You were allowed nine lives, so to speak. But after the ninth conviction you were a "common swearer" and were in danger of jail.

Keeping Up Appearances.

An extraordinary amount of money in London is wasted on keeping up appearances, says a London journal. Any number of people entertain lavishly, have a big house, imposing carriages, three men in the kitchen, the same number of footmen to support the butler, and yet the daughters of the house never have 5 shillings to spend and have to calculate whether a new pair of evening gloves can be afforded.

Her Dear Friend.

"What nonsense all this is about men getting on their knees when they propose," said Mrs. Parslow to her dear friend. "My husband didn't do any such absurd thing when he asked me to marry him."

"He did when he proposed to me," said the dear friend without thinking.

A Gaudy Vulture.

In the South American forests is found the most beautifully colored of all vultures, and it is the true king over the black vultures and turkey buzzards. Its plumage is of a delicate cream, with black quills, and the head is brilliantly colored with red and orange.

Held Her Audience Well.

Diggs—My wife is a wonderful vocalist. Why, I have known her to hold her audience for hours— Biggs—Get out! Diggs—After which she would lay it in the cradle and rock it to sleep.

Putting In Life.

Manager (to dramatist)—Your piece is not at all bad, but it rather lacks life. Dramatist—If that's all I can easily kill off two or three people in the third act.—Rire.

Permission.

Fond Mother—My son, did your father forbid you learning to smoke? Young America—No, ma. When I asked him if I might smoke, he said, "Not much!"

A Sensitive Conscience.

Carrie—Goodness, it's that horrid old bore, Wilkins. Tell him I have gone out. Belle—No, I won't tell a story but I will say that you have not come back yet.

Every Indian Had an Umbrella.

One of the incidents of the early days in Great Bend that caused a great deal of merriment among the white residents was the time the Indians bought all the parasols and umbrellas that were for sale in the town. This happened in the seventies and was on a rainy day. The Indians were on their way south and came through the town of Great Bend. They saw a number of men and women on the streets with umbrellas, and, being plentifully supplied with money and a desire to own one of the handy contrivances, they got busy. The funny part of it was that they made no distinction between toy parasols, silk ones and the serviceable linen ones. It was not long until the entire visible supply of all the stores had been purchased. Then the fun began. Some of the toy parasols were made of cloth that was highly colored, and as soon as the water hit them the coloring matter began to mix with the water and drip down upon the Indians' clothes. They minded this not in the least and were seen going southward whooping and seemingly in the very best of spirits.—Great Bend Tribune.

An Astronomical Mirror.

One of the most remarkable scientific instruments yet devised is that constructed by Professor R. W. Wood to aid the work of astronomers. This is an astronomical mirror, the reflecting surface of which is revolving mercury elaborately protected against vibrations, and it magnifies in proportion to the speed of its revolutions. A metal dish containing mercury and turning on bearings carries on its edge a series of magnets. Encircling, but not touching them, is an iron ring. By motor power this ring is made to revolve upon bearings separate from those of the mercury container, but its magnets, attracting those on the container's edge, cause the latter also to revolve. Centrifugal force compels the mercury to form a concave surface, perfect so long as free from jars. This apparatus is sunk in a well fourteen feet deep and set upon a solid foundation to eliminate all ordinary shocks.—Harper's.

Kangaroo Mother's Bravery.

During a severe drought in a certain section of Australia the owner of a country station was sitting one evening on the porch when he saw a kangaroo lingering about, alternating approaching and retiring from the house, as if half in doubt and fear what to do. At length she approached the water pails and, taking a young one from her pouch, held it to the water to drink. While her baby was satisfying its thirst the mother was quivering all over with apprehension, for she was but a few feet from the porch where one of her foes was watching her. The baby, having finished drinking, was replaced in the pouch, and the old kangaroo set off at a rapid pace. The spectator was so much impressed by the astonishing bravery of the affectionate mother that he made a vow—and kept it—never again to shoot a kangaroo.

A Genial Old Duke.

Duke Max of Bavaria had no greater delight than leaning over the counter of some small shopkeeper, talking gossip or purchasing toys for his great-grand-daughters in Austria. Innumerable stories are told illustrating his character. B. H. Goldschmidt, a wealthy banker of Frankfurt, was once journeying to Vienna. Opposite on the velvet cushion of the first class car sat an old gentleman whose dress and looks betrayed no uncommon rank. "Are you on a pleasure trip?" asked the banker's vis-a-vis. "Yes," answered the latter; "I am going to visit my daughter, who, thank God, fortunately married the Banker Wiener in Vienna." "How strange," replied his companion. "The incentive to my trip is the same. I am going to visit my daughter in Vienna. Thank God, she, too, is rather fortunately married to the emperor of Austria."

Royal Superstition.

Canterbury cathedral, like most great cathedrals, is decorated with innumerable niches for statues. At Canterbury a series of these niches is occupied with statues of kings and queens of England, and there are only four niches left unoccupied. An old tradition has it that when all the niches are filled the throne of England will come to an end.

Queen Victoria was approached with a view to a statue of herself being placed in one of the four remaining niches, but her late majesty was aware of the old tradition and refused. One wonders whether in the future there will be four monarchs of England sufficiently indifferent to superstition to defy the tradition and allow their effigies to fill the unoccupied spaces.—London Answers.

French Revolutionary Calendar.

Beginning with Sept. 22 the tour of months in the French revolutionary calendar was Vendemaire, Brumaire, Frimaire, Nivose, Pluviose, Ventose, Germinal, Floreal, Prairial, Messidor, Thermidor (Fervidor) and Fructidor, which ended on Sept. 16. Then followed five days, the Sansculottides, dedicated as feasts of reason to Les Vertus, Le Genie, Le Travail, L'Opinion and Les Recompenses. Decreed Nov. 21, 1793, this calendar was antedated to Sept. 22, 1792. It was abolished on Nivose 10, An xiv, corresponding to Dec. 31, 1805.

A Legal Stunt.

A suit having been brought against a defendant, his counsel interposed a demurrer that had the effect to throw it out of court. Soon afterward the same lawyer was elected to congress, and while at his post of duty he was surprised one day to receive a letter from his former client, saying: "I am sued again. Please send me another one of them things they call demurrers."—Case and Comment.

Placed.

Jenks—So you and the Brayton girl are one? Timson—That's what I thought when the parson married us, but I have since concluded we are ten. Jenks—What do you mean? Timson—She is one and I am naught, my dear fellow.

His Brand of Whiskers.

Governess—Who can make a sentence with the word "grewsome" in it? Little Willie—I can. The man stopped shaving and grewsome whiskers.—London Answers.

Not a Failure.

Young Wrymer—I tell you, marriage takes all the poetry out of a fellow. Friend—Then it can't be a failure.—Boston Transcript.

Everything great is not always good, but all good things are great.—Demosthenes.

Too Smooth.

"I won't play poker with that fellow any more. He's entirely too smooth. He bobbed up last night with four aces."

"What's wrong about that?"

"I had dealt him four queens."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

His Changed Fortune.

"Wow! There went Smithkins in his new six. When I knew him a few years ago he had a junk shop."

"He still has, only he moved it to a fashionable street, kept the same stock and labeled it 'Antiques.'"—Leslie's Weekly.

A Real Friend.

"Brown volunteered to lend me some money."

"Did you take it?"

"No. That sort of friendship is too good to lose."—Detroit Free Press.

Her Mistake.

Wife—I really believe you married me simply because I have money. Hub—You're wrong. I married you because I thought you'd let me have some of it.

The Trials of a Traveler.

"I am a traveling salesman," writes E. E. Youngs, E. Berkshire, Vt., "and was often troubled with constipation and indigestion till I began to use Dr. King's New Life Pills, which I have found an excellent remedy." For all stomach, liver or kidney troubles they are unequaled. Only 25 cents at all druggists.

Established a Record.

"What did mother say when you proposed to her, daddy?"

"She hung her head and was silent for several minutes. And that is the only time I have ever known her to be silent for several minutes."—Detroit Free Press.

A Bit Different.

Lawyer (to witness)—Did you say that an incompetent man could keep a hotel just as well as anybody? Witness—No. I said an inexperienced man could.—London Tit-Bits.

Demands.

Knicker—What's the matter with Smith? Bocker—His baby wants the moon, and his wife wants the earth.—New York Sun.

Of Course.

Little Boy (at ticket office)—I want a return ticket, please. Ticket Agent—Where to? Little Boy—Why, back here, of course!

Doubt of all kinds can be removed by nothing but action.

Robert W. Herter, Lawrenceville, Mo., who had been bothered with kidney trouble for two years, says: "I tried three different kinds of kidney pills but with no relief. My neighbor told me to use Foley Kidney Pills, I took three bottles of them, and got a permanent cure I recommend them to everybody." The Dickson Drug Co., Manning, Leon Fischer, Summerton.

A Different Port.

Mrs. Neuritch—So you heard from your sister. How did she enjoy the trip across? Miss Young—Well, she wrote that she was very glad when she reached terra firma. Mrs. Neuritch—Terra firma? Why I thought she was to land at Liverpool?—Boston Transcript.

An Evident Alternative.

"She married him in spite of great opposition, didn't she?"

"Yes. If her marriage doesn't turn out well she'll only have herself to blame."

"Good gracious! Why? What's to prevent her blaming him?"

Troubles.

In life troubles will come which look as if they never would pass away. The night and the storm look as if they would last forever, but the calm and the morning cannot be stopped.

Settled.

Meeks—The man who tries to change a woman's views is a fool. Weeks—How do you know? Meeks—My wife told me so.

One trouble with the pursuit of happiness is that other people get in the way.

The "Progressive" Party

is the individual, man or woman, who uses Foley Kidney Pills for backache, rheumatism, weak back, and other kidney and bladder irregularities. Foley Kidney Pills are healing, strengthening, tonic, and quick to produce beneficial results. Contain no harmful drugs. Never sold in bulk. Put up in two sizes in sealed bottles. The genuine in a yellow package. The Dickson Drug Co., Manning, Leon Fischer, Summerton.

Steady Job.

"Now that your son is through college, what are you going to make of him?"

"Can't tell for a couple of years. He went to a co-ed institution, and he's booked up for two years solid to act as an usher at weddings."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Man's Wants.

"What more should a man want than good health, a good job and a good wife?"

"Well, a good reputation might come in handy."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Pa Knew.

"Pa, how long can a man live on water?"

"It depends, Willie, on whether he is aboard a ship that won't sink."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A. J. RICHBOURG,
County Chairman.
J. M. WINDHAM,
Secretary.

D. C. Bybee, teaming contractor living at 669 Keeling Court, Canton, Ill., is now well rid of a severe and annoying case of kidney trouble. His back pained and he was bothered with headaches and dizzy spells. "I took Foley Kidney Pills just as directed and in a few days I felt much better. My life and strength seemed to come back, and I sleep well. I am now all over my trouble and glad to recommend Foley Kidney Pills." Try them. The Dickson Drug Co., Manning, Leon Fischer, Summerton.

Important Notice.

The Presidents and the Secretaries of the several Democratic clubs in Clarendon county will take notice.

Under the rules of the Democratic party, it is requested that the rolls of the Democratic clubs remain open for the enrollment of voters until August 22, five days preceeding the first primary election, and then at the expiration of the five days before the first primary election, the Secretary of each club must make a copy of the roll of his club, have it certified to by the President, and counter signed by the Secretary, and sent to the Secretary of the county Democratic Executive Committee, and, he will send this certified copy back to the club with the boxes, to be used as the official guide for the managers of said election, no person will be allowed to vote unless his name appears upon that certified roll.

The club roll properly certified to by the President and Secretary must be in the hands of the Secretary of the executive committee not later than the 24th day of August 1912, on which date the boxes will be delivered.

This is very important, and it is urged that the presidents and secretaries of the several clubs give this matter their immediate personal attention, as the managers must have these certified rolls at the election on the 27th.

J. M. WINDHAM,
Secretary.
A. J. RICHBOURG,

DAVIS & WIDEMAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
MANNING, S. C.

Hay fever and asthma make August a month of intense suffering to many people. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound gives prompt ease and relief, and is soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes. Wm. M. Merethew, N. Searsport, Me., says: "A few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound relieved me of a severe attack of asthma and less than a bottle caused a complete cure." Refuse substitutes. The Dickson Drug Co., Manning, Leon Fischer Summerton.

Dr. C. H. Ellsworth, Dentist, 16 Baldwin St., Rochester, N. Y., says Foley Kidney Pills gave him immediate relief and strengthened him wonderfully. "I have been bothered with weak kidneys and bladder trouble and suffered much pain. Foley Kidney Pills gave me immediate relief and strengthened me wonderfully. I am pleased to recommend their use." The Dickson Drug Co., Manning, Leon Fischer, Summerton.

A. S. Jones, of the Lee Pharmacy, Chico, Cal., who has handled Foley & Co's medicines for many years, says: "I consider that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has no equal, and is the one cough medicide I can recommend as containing no narcotics or other harmful properties." The genuine in a yellow package. The Dickson Drug Co., Manning, Leon Fischer, Summerton.
