A Merry Christmas to You.

The Manning Grocery Company in this issue have its annual full page advertisement which the readers of The Times would do well to ponder over and make such notes from it as will aid them in their Christmas ping. This concern boasts of being caterers to the public, they do not wait they fill up their stock, but they study the wants and needs of the trading public and then find the best markets to supply these wants and needs. Take a trip to their store and we venture that you will concede there is not a better appointed establishment in the State. What has built up this magnificent business? It was the close attention to their work, and their systematic methods, not only so, they are live wires who are not content for the trading public to come to them to inquire is they have the goods, but they go ahead to seek for the best and then let the people know they have what they want Not only has this concern a full and complete stock of everything to tempt the appetite, and to make the house keeper happy, but they also carry many articles of adornment for the home, they keep things which bring gladness to the hearts of friends, and they are up-to-date with all of their novelties. It would be hard for us to describe beir stock of goods, their store is veritable emporium where everything first class can be bought. The best way to get an idea of what the Manning Grocery has to offer is to a personal inspection. The force in their store is an intelligent body of young men who will take a delight in pointing out and showing the goods, and directing attention to many things which will aid the housekeeper in making selections for a "big dining" when the college boys and girls with their friends come home for the bolitheir friends come home for the holi-days. These people are hustling all of the time, and if there is anything that can be found in any market in this country which will please their trade they get it and take the chances of selling. It is this spirit of energy, together with the courteous attention, and the quick delivery which has given them a reputation that is as valuable from a business viewpoint as the goods on their shelves. Get your pantries ready to be filled up for the holidays, and if there is anything which from oversight they have not in stock all you have to do is to mention it and it will be forthcoming as fast as the wires and express can bring them. Did we undertake to enumerate what can be seen at the Manning Grocery it would take up more space than they are using in their advertisement, therefore, take it from us that there is no establishment anywhere better prepared to please the trade as to quantity, quality and price.

Teachers to Meet

The Teacher's Association of Clarendon county will hold its regular meet-ing Saturday. December the 14th, in the Manning school building. As this is the last meeting of the association before Christmas, we hope it will be well attended The following psogram will be carried out: 1, How to get general co-operation of parents in the work of school improvement association -Miss Richardson. 2. The order of entering and leaving the school building—Miss Edge.

SUMMERTON.

Mrs. Orland Coskrey entertained delightfully on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Margaret Coskrey, who s to be married in December to Mr Howe Lemon of Winnsboro. Mrs Coskrey's attractive country home was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Mrs. Coskrey, assisted by Miss Christine Coskrey, received the guests, who were conducted into the parlor, where the guests wrote in rhame good wishes for the bride-to-be.

A delicious salad course and ho ocolate were served. Much merriment was created when each guest drew from a heart-shaped basket suspended from the ceiling a ribbon to see who the next bride would be. Miss Sue Cantey drew the heart. After many good wishes on the part of the guests the ladies took their departure, each being prosented with white satin heart filled with rice. with the letters C and L in gold.

Those who enjoyed Mrs. Coskrey' hospitality were: Mesdames J. Y. Eadon, Wallace Mathis, Mary Lanham, Aletha Davis, Sue Cantey; Jennie Furse, Helen Cantey, Corinne Davis, Myrtle Allen, Margaret Coskrey, May Cantey and Christine Coskrey.
