

Seed Peanuts!

Everybody's Planting Them Now!

The high value of Peanuts as food for man and beast makes them a necessity on the farm these days. As a stock food and hog fattener Peanuts have no equal. The vines make excellent forage, while the vines and nuts together make a splendid whole ration.

No Farmer Can Afford To Be Without His Patch of Peanuts.

Everybody knows the Old Reliable N. C.'s—price 10c. quart—3 quarts 25c., 65c. peck (liquid measure).

Valencia Red Spanish Peanuts.

This is an improvement over the little twisted Spanish Seed. These Valencias are of good size, well filled, with from three to four perfect nuts to the shell. Price, 10c. quart—3 quarts 25c. and 65c. peck (liquid measure).

We are handling only the most reliable varieties, best suited to this locality.

HOW AN INDIANA GIRL

Got Strong and Well Again at Small Cost.

Miss Alta Abel, of West Baden, Ind., says: "I was a complete wreck, always tired, worried and nervous. I had to spend about one-third of my time in bed and my life was not worth living. Vinol, your delicious cod liver and iron tonic, was recommended, and it has done me more good than all the medicine I ever took in my life. That nervous and tired feeling is all gone. I have gained in health, flesh and strength, until I feel like another person."

Vinol is the most efficient strength-creator for such women. It is the medicinal elements of the cod's livers contained in Vinol, aided by the blood-making and strengthening properties of tonic iron, which makes it so far superior to all other tonics to build up health and strength for weak, tired, ailing women. It contains no oil and has a delicious taste.

We give back your money if Vinol does not do all that we claim.

DICKSON'S DRUG STORE, CHARLESTON, S. C.

What Would You Do? "What would you do if you were a millionaire?" was the question propounded to the little boys of an east side school the other day.

The little east siders' answers were interesting. Some of them wrote: "I would have a house with rooms for each kind of use, such as sitting room, bedroom and dining room."

"I would buy banks and be a bank president at a large salary."

"I would live on Fifth Avenue in a clean house and buy autos and charts."

"I would be proud of my situation and also glad, and I would own autos and earn money by hiring them out."

"I would treat my pennants; also institute an education school."

"I would buy the subway and get rich by charging 10 cents."

A Queer View of Education. Opposition to state education in the past was due largely to a belief that too much learning was not good for the masses. The worthy Hannah More, even, who was one of the most earnest supporters of the movement for the establishment of schools for the poor in England, had very definite ideas as to how far the children should be educated. The curriculum, she declared, should comprise only reading the Bible and the catechism, and such course works as are fit for the children for servants, outside districts.

"I am not writing for the poor," she said.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

Cures Croup Prevents Pneumonia

CHARGED THE ENEMY.

It Wasn't Because He Was Brave and Defied Death, Though.

General Basil Duke of Louisville, commander of Morgan's cavalry following the death of his brother-in-law, General John Morgan, told this story at a reunion of the survivors of the battle of Shiloh.

He said that during one of the Tennessee campaigns Morgan's men surprised and drove back a regiment of Federal troops. In the midst of the retreat one of the enemy, who was mounted upon a big bay horse, suddenly turned and charged the victorious Confederates full tilt, waving his arm and shrieking like mad as he bore down upon them alone. Respecting such marvelous courage, the Confederates forsook shooting the approaching foe, but when he was right upon them they saw there was a different reason for his foolhardiness.

His horse had run away with him. The bit had broken, and while as a sheet and secured stiff, the luckless youth was being propelled straight at the whooping Kentuckians, begging for mercy as he came.

Jeff Sterritt, a noted wit of the command, stopped the horse and made a willing prisoner of the rider. Sterritt, who had not washed or shaved for days and was a ferocious looking person, pulled out a big pistol. "I don't know whether to kill you right now," he said, "or wait until the fight is over."

"Mister," begged the quivering captive, "don't do it at all. I'm a dissipated character, and I ain't prepared to die."—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

REAL ROOF GARDENS.

The Kind They Plant on Log Cabins in Rural Norway.

The log cabins of rural Norway are built of heavy pine logs beveled square and of equal size from end to end. They are usually stained or oiled, and their rich yellowish or brownish color is in harmony with almost any surroundings. Their roofs are sodded, a circumstance that adds picturesque to the general effect.

"I have come across roofs that were a riot of wild pansies," says a writer in the Craftsman, "and I have seen wonderful roofs where wild roses hung over the eaves or a daisy roof, the effect of whose white, starlike flowers, topping the dark brown structure, was exquisitely picturesque."

"Some roofs produce only pasture grass, and the story runs in Norwegian folklore that a lazy man led his cow on the roof—the cabin was built against a hill—instead of taking her to the pasture. I have no doubt that the story is true. For I have often seen a couple of white kidlets gambolling on the soft green house-tops while the mother goat, grave and ruminative, was tethered to the chimney.

"Sod roofs are just as water tight as others if they are laid correctly. A board roof is first laid upon a house, and this is covered with a layer of birch bark. On top of this comes a layer of sod with the grass turned down to the roof, then a rather thick layer of earth and finally another layer of sod, this time with the grass up. The result is a most exquisite and poetical covering for the house."

Work of the Doctor.

Dr. Stephen Paget has some interesting observations on the doctor and his rewards in his "Confession Medical." "If medicine is a trade why should the doctor so often work for nothing?" he asks. "If it is an art what works of art does he produce?" None, says Claude Bernard. "Le medecin artiste ne crec rien." But surely he is wrong. The doctor, so far from creating nothing, creates life, for he saves or prolongs life, creates more life. If Miss X. is seventy, and the doctor by an operation enables her to live till she is seventy-five he has not prolonged the years, for they were ended before he came, but he has created five brand new years. If he had not been there they would not be here. That is creation.—London Chronicle.

Velocity of Light.

The velocity of light as determined by Simon Newcomb is 299,830 kilometers, or 186,327 miles, per second reduced to a vacuum or space specific speed. Time required for light to come here from moon, 1.3 seconds; from sun, 8 minutes 19 seconds; from nearest star, 4.35 years; from Sirius, 8.7 years; from Arcturus, not less than 40 years, and from others vastly more remote, from 1,000 to 5,000 years.

GRAPHITE.

Graphite is a very interesting body and is known as one of the allotropic modifications of carbon. Carbon like the diamonds of old has the power under proper conditions of assuming various forms called allotropic modifications without losing its individuality. So while its properties and appearance may have changed it is still chemically carbon and nothing but carbon. As ordinarily met with in the form of coke, coal and charcoal, it is called amorphous carbon, as graphite it is called crystalline carbon, and in the form of the diamond it is known as crystalline carbon. Coal is therefore very aptly termed "black diamonds" since chemically it is identical with the same as the white diamond though some change which has taken place in the molecule has caused its value to be rated in dollars per ton instead of dollars per carat.—Exchange.

Don't Let Dry Weather Ruin Your Crop.

In times of scanty rainfall, the soil must be tilled more frequently to keep it sufficiently moist. This means that in dry weather the right amount of moisture can be found only in a perfectly tilled bed. A perfect seed bed is indispensable without perfect satisfaction. That is why a well constructed harrow is an absolute necessity on your farm. We sell a harrow that will be just what you want. It is built for perfect work and will last for many years. Repair expense will be practically nothing. Let us talk over with you the many advantages of this harrow. We know you need one on your farm.
