MCLAURIN MENTIONED FOR GOVERNOR. In Monday's News and Courier from its Columbia correspondent, appears a very interesting news letter, which surmises that Hon. John L. McLaurin will be a candidate for governor next year. Nothing on the subject has come from Mr. McLaurin, but it is assumed that W. P. Beard has been travelling about the State feeling the sentiment of the people to ascertain who they would want to succeed Gov ernor Blease, and has found Mc-Laurin sentiment.

There is no question that Mr. McLaurin would make a splendid governor. He is a statesman of high order, a man of affairs in the business world, he is in close touch with the farming in terests is well known, and that he has been a close student of their needs is also well known. but the order of the day seems to be intense factionalism, as a result the people lose sight of qualification. We regard a condition like the present unfortunate, because, when factionalism runs rampant over the country, the interests of the peo ple are not considered—one side looks upon the other as enemies not to be trusted, and it matters not what is proposed it is rejected without its merits being thought of. How are the people to rid the Forty Movement that result-John L. Leader Underwood believes just as McLaurin asthe building of American ships to take to the high seas and carry American products in competicilities, because of being practically a one crop country with its moving facilities monopolized; he endeavored to arouse congress to come to the rescue of this southern industry, and have the government to subsidise American ships the same as did ocean carriers by this advantage, had driven the Stars and Stripes from competition, thereby plac-
