Some Shots at "Haste."
Hurry usually leads to error. The motto of Baron Plunket was "Hasten slowly." Churchill said, "The more haste ever the worst speed." Bollean, "Hasten slowly and without losing heart put your work twenty times upon the anvil." "Haste maketh waste," said Heywood. "I am always in haste, but never in a hurry," is from John Wesley. Richard III, mumbled, "Sweet flowers are slow and weeds make haste." He would have made a successful farmer. This is Seneca: "Haste trips up its own heels, fetters and stops itself." Tennyson, "Raw haste, half sister to delay." Life for delays and doubts no time does give. None ever yet made haste enough to live. That bright couplet was written by Cowley. Listen to Bulwer-Lytton: Business dispatched is business well done. But business hurried is business ill done.

Women Soldiers.
In several cases Prussian women were most capable as soldiers, able to command and ready to obey, as well as being able to withstand the hardships of campaigning. To cite some instances, Maria Warder, a woman of Silesia, was allowed to serve as a busbar in the same regiment as her husband, who was a wealthy landowner. She was wounded in several engagements and saw her husband shot dead by her side at Leipzig. Eleonora Prochaska is one of the better known of these heroines. She engaged under the name of Carl Renz in the Light horse when only eighteen, and several poets have written of her courage and of her death just before the battle of Leipzig. A monument stands to her memory in the cemetery at Potsdam.—London Standard.

With muscle and brain.
The boy who can master the science and art of the higher craftsman will hold just as responsible place in the world as the practitioner at the bar, the occupant of the pulpit or the physician. Indeed, the wholly competent artisan, the worker with muscle and brain who knows how, is the backbone of the nation. If it were not for him there would not long be need for the specialized professions. He is the weaver of the larger social fabric, the mason who sets the foundation stones of the country's industrial structures, and many a man who is now a doctor, lawyer or preacher would not only be happier and better off, but enjoy more real dignity, if he, too, were one of the "sincere artisans" of the day.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured.
"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured of one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by all dealers.

BOOTH'S GRIM HUMOR.
The Story of a Bullet the Actor Wore on His Watch Chain.
At times Booth's humor was satirical. When leaving a church in Boston after the funeral of the eminent essayist and critic, Edwin Percy Whipple, obsequies which he attended in company with Lawrence Barrett and at that friend's suggestion and during which he had been annoyed as well as amused by the convulsive facial contortions of the officiating clergyman, he remarked to Barrett: "I knew Mr. Whipple, but I never expected I should be so sorry to attend his funeral."
When a stagestruck lunatic named Mark Gray attempted to murder him in Chicago, at a performance of "Richard III." (April 23, 1879, at McVicker's theater), firing at him twice with a pistol from a place in the second balcony. Booth calmly advanced to the front of the stage and, pointing at the madman, directed that he be seized and then, after a brief absence from the scene, to reappear with his wife, comely finished his performance. Later he caused one of the bullets to be extracted from a piece of scenery where it had lodged and had it mounted as a charm for his watch chain, inscribed, "To Edwin Booth from Mark Gray." That sinister relic he customarily wore.—William Winter in Collier's Weekly.

The healing demulcent qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound are not duplicated in any other medicine for coughs and colds. Any substitute offered you is an inferior article. Refuse to accept it for it can not produce the healing and soothing effect of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Insist upon the genuine, which contains no opiates. For sale by all dealers everywhere.

Strenuous.
"He used to be a straight enough young chap. What made him get crooked?" "Trying to make both ends meet, I believe."—Exchange.

What will the Harvest Be?

Have you ever stopped to think of what the harvest of your life's work will be? Are you storing away part of your money crop for the winters of old age and misfortune?

An investigation will convince you that our bank would be an ideal place for keeping your funds safely. It's a good plan for every farmer to have a strong banking connection.
