Modest Fitzgerald.
Edward Fitzgerald was utterly careless of his fame. He lived to be an old man, yet not one in a million of his fellow countrymen regarded him as a poet, even if they had heard his name mentioned as an old chum of Alfred Tennyson. Yet he translated "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" long years before his death. He kept it "chucking about" apparently not thinking it worth publication, and when he did print a few copies nobody took any notice of it. Today it is one of the most famous poems in the world.

First He'd Heard of It.
Harry returned to Sunday school, after a long absence, on the day on which tickets for the annual picnic were distributed. He trembled in his seat when the teacher began a quiz on the lesson of the previous Sunday.
Finally his turn came.

"Harry, who slew Goliath with a pebble?"
"Ehonest, teacher," said Harry, "I don't know; I didn't even know he was dead."--New York Press.

Just the Other Way.
Old Lady (offering policeman a tract)
--I often think you poor policemen run such a risk of becoming bad, being so constantly mixed up with crime. Pol-liceman--You needn't fear, mum. It's the criminals wot runs the risk o' becomin' salats, bein' mixed up with us.--London Punch.

Explained.
Mr. Aggie (to Mr. Stoutman, running for a car)--Hello, old boy! I thought you were too lazy to run like that. Mr.
Stoutman (angrily)--Easily explained, my dear boy; laziness runs in our family.--Lippincott's Magazine.

Agreed.
Wife--Do you know I have a very little month. In the glass it doesn't look large enough to hold my tongue.
Husband (testily)--It isn't.--London Answers.

Men tire themselves in the pursuit of rest.--Sterne.

The Other Woman.
"I don't see how that woman can sneak about the way she does and neglect her little children."
"How do you know that she gads about?"
"We get the same girl to take care of our babies when we're away from home, and she's kept busy over there fully half of the time. It provokes me so to have to be put off so often when I want to get away."--Chicago Record-Herald.

Where Ma Was Strict.
Little Girl--My mamma is awfully strict. Is yours? Little Boy--Orful.
Little Girl--But she lets you go anywhere you want to and-- Little Boy-- Oh, she ain't strict with me. Little Girl--Then who is she strict with?
Little Boy--Pa.

Squared Accounts.
A dispute arose across between an English landlord and his tenant. The latter had given notice to quit, but would not put a bill in his window to say this house was "To Be Let."

To make matters worse, they went to law about it. The judge, having heard the case, made an order for the defendant to put a bill up within four teen days.

The landlord was so overjoyed at his victory that on the fourteenth day he took a friend with him around to the house to chaff his tenant. The bill was up in the window plain enough, but under it was another bill, which ran as follows:
"Cause of leaving: bad drains."

Musical Plagiarist.
Victor Herbert, the composer, once said of a musician whose work he disliked:
"The prophecy that was made about this chap in his boyhood has come true. In his boyhood his mother said of him:
"Oh, he's such a remarkable child, a perfect prodigy, in fact. He remembers every tune he hears."
"Well, well!" said a pianist who was present.
"Isn't that a very rare and valuable faculty?" his mother asked.
"It isn't rare," said the pianist, "but it's certainly valuable. It will probably enable him to become in after years a successful composer."

Our Language.
An intelligent foreigner is said to have expressed himself after the following fashion on the absurdities of the English language: "When I discovered that I was quick, I was fast; if I stood firm, I was fast; if I spent too freely, I was fast, and that not to eat was to fast. I was discouraged.
But when I came across the sentence,
"The first one won one $1 prize," I was tempted to give up English and learn some other language."

Neatly Turned.
Jack--I hear that you called on your girl's father. How did you come out?
Tom--So so! I said to him, "Mr. X., I love your daughter." He said, "So do I; now let's talk of something else."
Jack--And then-- Tom--Then--well, we talked of something else.--Boston Transcript.

Her Talk Not Dead.
"I understand that your wife is a student of the dead languages."
"Yes," replied Mr. Meekton. "But her studies are of no particular advantage.
When she talks to me she insists on using language that I can't fail to understand."--Washington Star.

Talent's Advantage.
Willie--Paw, what is the difference between genius and talent? Paw-- Talent gets paid every Saturday, my son.--Cincinnati Enquirer.
