PLANS TO RELIEVE NATIONAL IMPOVERISHMENT.

Provisional Government May Last Many Months, but Its Final Fall Seems Certain.

National impoverishment and an increasing organization among scores of rebel bands have reduced the provisional government to what appears to be a desperate situation, but conservative residents of the Mexican Federal capital profess to see, in the recent military operations and the continuation of provisional President Huerta to secure money, even though in driblets, evidence that the government may not fall for many months unless some unexpected turn for the Saturday past was pay day for government employees, and in almost all departments there was little delay in meeting the pay rolls. That the government may not be able to float another loan generally is conceded by Mexicans, but none has lost sight of the fact that the country is rich and that Gen. Huerta, as a last resort, would not hesitate to take money where he can find it.

Already a drastic measure has been discussed by the Cabinet-that of the confiscation of the property of all individuals who are known to have arrayed themselves against the Huerta government. The measure has not yet received the full approval of the ministers, but if adopted it will prove a rich resource. Collections that fall little short of being forced loans have been made in cities outside the capital and provisional President Huerta's new order for the establishment of a militia at the expense of business men generally in the various states is in line with his policy to draw directly from the country the revenue necessary for carrying on the Shoots Six as a Warning.

"Any one who hereafter loots or molests property of foreigners or Mexicans will be executed. The right to confiscate property will rest only with the Constitutionalist government." Gen. Francisco Villa issued this order Sunday as showing his intention to maintain strict military discipline. As an example he executed on the plaza a band of rebels who had been found guilty by courtmartial of sacking the home of a wealthy Mexican. While the six rebels were marched before the firing squad, the stolen goods were returned to the owner. All stores confiscated from the expelled Spaniards Sunday were closed and sealed. Orders were given that no more goods are to be taken from them. This action was believed to have resulted from the protest of the United States against the seizure of Spanish property. Already great quantities of the goods, valued at several million dollars, had been utilized by the rebels. The remainder of the property is to be held pending an investigation as to whether the owners aided the Huerta government.

Gen. Villa said his forces were be ing strengthened by desertions from the Federal troops. He proclaimed amnesty to Federal soldiers, who would surrender and give up their arms. Many Federal troops are reported to have joined the rebels. Three hundred thousand rounds of rifle ammunition and 500,000 rounds of artillery ammunition were recovered east of Chihuahua, where they were hidden by Gen. Mercado's evacuating Federals.

Telegraphic and railroad communication has been extended as far west as Minaca and as far south as Bermejillo. If there is no Federal interference, Gen. Villa expects soon to have the states of Chihuahua, Sonora and Sinaloa as freely open as in times the Canadian, a "bear on doping the of peace.
