BUY-A-YARD MOVEMENT.

Buy a yard of cotton—you whose cash would fail Long before you'd purchased a quarter of a bale. Buy a yard that's woven from the snowy boll. Help the planters move the crop, help the mill-wheels roll.

They who proudly buy a bale their purchase lie In the stuffy warehouse till some distant by and by, You who buy the finished goods keep the wheels a-spin— Buy a yard this instant—a new crusade begin.

Buy a yard of cotton—make the freight-trains run Swiftly from the storehouse to where the weav'rs done. Quarter dozen handkerchiefs, piece of calico, Sheet, gingham, madras, scrim—make the spindles go!

Favored few can buy a bale—most folks find it hard, Scarcely anyone who can't buy one little yard, "Buy a bale of cotton?" Fifty dollars—wow! She, unequal to the price of a bulky bale, Buy a yard—that's easy! Got the money now.

If the widow of the mill—praised for freely giving— In this cotton-strangled age still wore humbly living, She, unequal to the price of a bulky bale, Would go forth to buy a yard—strike that widow's trail!

Buy a yard or buy a bale—whatso'er you can, Help the toilers in the mills, help the farmer man, Bales are lovely things to buy—finer still to card, Make the mills produce the goods, then you BUY A YARD!
