MANNING, S. C., AUG. 4, 1915.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY
I. I. APPELT,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

We owe it to the community in which we live to do everything we can in every way possible that will be to its advantage. Our neighbor's prosperity means a great deal more to us than someone who lives elsewhere. We should bear this in mind in buying our goods. We can afford to pay our home man a firm price for his wares rather than send our money away, knowing as we do that every dollar our own citizen makes will help in sustaining our schools, churches and public institutions. It pays richly to patronize home industry.

Pull together, brethren. We are all here for the same purpose. Then live and let live. The best way to build up a town is for each and every man to pull together and not strive to rend and tear down. All the residents of a town are partners, not opponents. In all likelihood the more business done by your rival the more you will do. Every merchant who treats his customers honestly and fairly will get his share and the more business that can be secured by united effort, the better it will be for all. When a town ceases to grow it commences to die, and the more people try to kill each other off in business and good name the more rapidly will utter ruin come to all. Stand together for the advancement of every citizen, and if a man shows the ability to prosper do not pull him back with jealousy or weight him down with cold indifference.

PROHIBITION ELECTION.
Following is the law bearing on the prohibition election to be held in September:
"This election will be held on Tuesday September 14. There will be two ballots, as provided by the statute, one, "For the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors and beverages in South Carolina," the other "Against the sale and manufacture of alcoholic liquors and beverages in South Carolina."
There will be but one ballot box. If the result of the election is against the manufacture and sale, the county dispensary will be closed after the 31st, of December, and the sale of alcoholic liquors and beverages within the state will be unlawful after that time.
This has nothing to do with the gallon-a-month law, regulating the importation of liquors from outside the state.
All persons who are eligible and desire to vote in this election must have a registration certificate and a receipt showing the payment of all his taxes for the year 1914.
To vote in this election a person must have been registered more than 30 days before the election, unless he becomes of age within the 30 days.
It is earnestly desired by those favoring prohibition that the election shall be a full expression of the people, both for and against prohibition. And for that reason, all persons who are eligible to do so, are urged to register and vote.
It is an old saying that the American people love to be humbugged. We are reminded of this by seeing agents canvassing our town and county with packages of dry goods. These packages are sold for various prices. People forget how extremely low all classes of goods are at the present time, and fall easy victims to the traveling humbugs. They could buy a much better class of goods of our honest merchants for less money. These city sharks travel through the country and make a fortune out of shoddy goods. A word to the wise should be sufficient. The goods they sell are dear at any price.

DON'T BE PESSIMISTIC
Don't be pessimistic so far as your home town is concerned. Can't you see that if you go about with a long face bewailing the miserable fate of your home town, it only pulls it down? Don't say that the town is dead, that its citizens are back numbers, that the population is steadily decreasing and a hundred other evils that probably exist only in your own mind. If you can't say anything good, then keep still. Don't let other people know that you haven't the energy to move away from such a miserable hole as you claim you are living in. If you are a property owner don't tell the whole world that your property is worth just half as much as it was a year ago. It is very possible they may believe you and some day you may want to sell the property and you will be able to get just half its worth. So you see when you talk against your home town it only hurts yourself. Your town has as good a chance as many other towns, of becoming an enterprising city. All it needs is a few good boosters. So put your shoulder to the wheel and boost and the result will richly repay you for your trouble.
YOU MUST WORK.
Whether you handle a pick or pen, a wheelbarrow or a set of books, dig ditches or edit a paper, ring an auction bell or write funny things, you must work. Don't be afraid of killing yourself with work. Work gives an appetite for meals, gives the appreciation of a holiday. There are young men who do not work but the world is not proud of them. It does not even know their names, it simply speaks of them as old so and so's boy. The great busy world does not even know that they are here. So find out what you want to do and do it, take off your coat and make a dust in the world. The busier you are the less deviltry you will get into, the sweeter will be your sleep and better satisfied will the world be with you.
To Drive Out Malaria
And Build Up The System
Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking, as the formula is printed on every label, showing it is Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form. The Quinine drives out malaria, the Iron builds up the system. 50 cents

RIGHTS OF THE COTTON PRODUCER
If the United States government desires to insure a fair price for this year's cotton crop it can easily do so, but the United States government is not at all likely to have such a desire, and unless the cotton producer uses such means as he may have at hand to help himself, he is not likely to be helped very much.
It will be remembered that last year there was a strenuous effort to persuade congress to valorize cotton at 12 cents a pound, and that it would do nothing of the kind. The events of the year have proved beyond doubt that if congress had attempted such valorization as was desired, it would have put millions of dollars into the pockets of the cotton producers of the south, without one cent of expense to the government.
As it was, the only thing that the government did was to go into the marine insurance business for the benefit of the shippers, thus enabling them to make millions of dollars out of cotton that was bought from the producers at a little more than half the cost of production.
The farmers of the south were told last year that they were legitimate victims of circumstances that were beyond human control. It was put up to them that by reason of the utter demoralization of the cotton manufacturing industry and commerce, by reason of the European war, there could be but small demand for their tremendous crop of raw cotton, and it was simply out of the question to create an artificial market so far in advance of real values, etc.
What we have actually seen is exactly the opposite of what we have been told. Instead of there being a smaller demand for cotton, the demand has been larger than ever. Instead of the cotton being manufactured into goods that would help to reduce prices on present and future markets it has been destroyed—annihilated. Instead of a glut there are prospects of a famine. And we are confronted by the fact that whether the war goes on and continues the demand for powder, or comes to an end and permits a renewal of the demands of commerce, the supply of co-ton will not nearly be up to requirements.

At present cotton is tied up more or less by embargoes levied principally at the instance of England, which country has ample supplies for her immediate needs and some to spare to her allies. England is fixing the present low price and preventing the free sale to Germany, Austria and other countries that would gladly enter the market and increase the price to the consumer.
The situation is one of hardship to the south and there are those who think it can only be relieved by very drastic action on the part of the United States—action that would seem to seriously threaten war.
It is quite probable that the United States would be justified in demanding and enforcing free trade in cotton, but whether the United States does that or not, it is clearly within the power of this country to help the southern producer out of the present dilemma.
If congress will at its next session valorize the present crop of cotton at something like 10 or 12 cents a pound as it can easily do it will help the southern cotton producer out of a serious situation and do no harm to anybody.
But in view of what has been done all along—the opportunities there have been for helping the cotton producer, and helping him legitimately—we do not advise our readers to look for assistance from the government. If he gets help in the present situation he is going to have to help himself very much as he has been doing.—Yorkville Enquirer.

LOOKING FOR OPPORTUNITIES.
A wise and honest man, a man of ability and earnestness, is not troubled about looking for opportunities. Many and great opportunities everywhere are on a constant outlook for such men. It is the numbskull and street loafer who is continually talking and complaining about the lack of opportunities. As a rule his native town is too slow and small, and he feels compelled to leave his parental backyard for some bustling, bustling metropolis in order to show the world the stuff he is made of—Mush.
We have several such young fellows standing around the post office, with their hands in their pantaloons pockets up to the elbows, smoking cigarettes, feeling confident that our home town has no opportunity for them. It is a sad fact, but every village and town has such serious parents. Remember, no village is so small and quiet, but is large and active enough for every honest man of practical ability to be happy and do something noble and useful.
It is all fol-de-rol to be everlastingly hankering to live in a large city because of larger opportunities. Of course a man who has really outgrown his native village has a moral right to seek larger opportunity elsewhere, but that man is as rare as a pearl in an oyster. Thousands of our youth, however, are annually rushing to our larger cities believing themselves to be talented and capable to become famous and financially successful in the midst of the large and dazzling opportunities of the city. Alas! only to be compelled to turn the grindstone for sharpening the tools of others. If our young men are wise and truly will remain at home, at least, for a season longer until their wisdom teeth are cut. It is more satisfactory to be a prominent and respected citizen of a village than to be an insignificant stranger, jostled and ignored, by the hurrying mass of humanity in a metropolis. We would rather be a hog on a farm than a caged lion in a menagerie.
How To Give Quinine To Children.
FERRELIN is the trade-mark name given to an improved Quinine. It is a Tasteless Syrup, pleasant to take and does not disturb the stomach. Children take it and never know it is Quinine. Also especially adapted to adults who cannot take ordinary Quinine. Does not nauseate nor cause nervousness nor ringing in the head. Try it the next time you need Quinine for any purpose. Ask for Ferrelin original package. The name FERRELIN is blown in bottle. 25 cents.
