"Everything Good to Eat."

Mr. Jake Iseman spent last week in Savannah, where he underwent an operation.

Mr. John S. Cuttino of Columbia, visited his mother in town last week who is sick.

Mr. Karl Lehmann delivered a very fine talk in the Presbyterian church last Sunday.

Politics are looming up, and rumors are coming in as to prospective candidates next summer.

Mr. Austin Smith of Florence, spent Sunday in town with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Smith.

Mr. J. W. Rigby has returned from the Western markets with a car of select horses and mules.

After this week the library will be open on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons from 3:30 to 5 o'clock.

The Wreck Store of Sumter is out this week with a big page ad. Read it and give them a call when in that city.

Mr. Thomas Bradham was taken to the hospital in Sumter Saturday night, with threatened blood poisoning in one arm.

We are short on news this week, due to a rush of advertisements, and hope our readers will be patient for this shortage.

The friends of Mr. Ruthen Plowden will be sorry to know that he is critically ill at his home about five miles east of Manning.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McPaddin will move to Manning about the middle of next month, and occupy apartments in the Presbyterian manse.

Dr. W. M. Brockinton went to Charleston last Friday to consult a specialist and was accompanied by Mrs. Brockinton and Miss Edna.

The supper given at the Wilson school house last Friday night was a great success. The proceeds netted $129.00. It was a grand layout of food-stuffs, and everybody seemed to enjoy the occasion. The people in that section know how to tickle a fellow's appetite with good things to eat, and here's hoping they will do it again.

We think a town that is worth living in is worth trading in. What do you think?

Monday afternoon Mrs. S. R. Venning while out riding in her car accidentally ran over a colored boy, Peter Hilton, and broke his leg.

Mr. S. W. Thompson, who for several years has made his home in Manning, and is one of our best citizens, has accepted a position in Lake City, and will leave on the first for that town.

We call special attention to the page ad. of The Manning Dry Goods Co., in this issue. Their sale opens Saturday the 30th, and if the trading public wish good, brand new goods at a nominal cost they should visit this concern.

Mr. R. H. Davis was taken to the Toumey hospital last Thursday, and had his leg amputated below the knee. Mr. Davis had suffered a great deal all the summer, and a close examination showed blood poisoning, which necessitated the amputation in order to save his life. Mr. Davis has many friends all over the county that will be saddened to learn of his misfortune.

As The Editor Sees It.

If you want to kill the prosperity of this town, if you want to make it financially hard up, if you want to bust it, just keep right on sending your money to outside firms and especially to the mail order man.

If you want to make Christmas a mockery in this town, if you want to contribute your share toward pauperizing the business interests of this community, just keep right on sending your money to other places and you will succeed.

If you want to decrease the value of your town property or of your farm, if you want to make local conditions such that no one would risk buying your property, just keep right on patronizing mail order men and other foreign concerns and you will wipe out your own accumulations of years.

But if you don't want to do these things--if you are in reality what you profess to be, a good citizen--Buy It At Home This Christmas, and keep prosperity in this town.

Every day good citizens are telling us they are convinced that it is to their own interest to buy as much as possible this Christmas from our own merchants, because they realize that the profits from the sales must be kept at home. We think that at heart you, too, are a good citizen. If you only stop to consider what a blow you are giving your home town when you send your money to outside sources. Why don't you tell us that you are going to buy it at home this Christmas if it is possible to get it here.

Of course, if you must have something that is not sold in this town, you are excusable if you buy it elsewhere. But you can buy most anything you want right here in this town from our own merchants, from people who are your sincere friends and whose heavy taxes on their business enterprises make your taxes that much lighter.

We appeal to every citizen in this community--we appeal to you--to help keep prosperity in our own town by buying your Christmas goods from our own business men.

We are appealing to your better nature--of your loyalty--to your own interests--when we ask you to join us in keeping prosperity at home, where each and every one of us may enjoy its blessings.

We are firm in the conviction that you will do this, because we believe you are a good citizen and are more than willing to prove yourself one of our best citizens by doing that which you know to be to the best interest of the whole community as well as to yourself, and especially when it will not cost you an extra cent.

Paxville W. C. T. U. Teacher's Reception.

One of the most enjoyable social events which has taken place in our little town lately was a reception given to the teachers of Paxville and community by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Paxville, on the afternoon of October, 22nd, at the hospitable home of Mrs. Dr. Gunter, the guests after being met and welcomed by Mrs. Gunter, were entertained in her beautifully arranged living-room, decorated with ferns and white chrysanthemums.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather not all of the teachers could attend, but those that were present, enjoyed the occasion to the fullest extent. After enjoying social intercourse, and music, a contest upon different questions relative to the W. C. T. U. work was entered into. A prize having been offered to the one who had the best prepared paper, it was awarded Miss Catherine McClaurie, one of Paxville's teachers.

After the contest, delightful refreshments were served by Misses Marie Jones and Annie Bradham. After enjoying more of the social hour, we parted with kindest wishes to our hostess, and the W. C. T. U. work.

Mrs. J. W. Mims.

Never Again Says This Live Candidate.

Below is given the expense account of a Hill county candidate who favored a late primary, says the Galenville, Ga. News. From this time on he says he will always be in favor of an early primary, also he never again will be a candidate. Here is the way he put it down:

"Lost four months and thirty-three days canvassing, 1,349 hours thinking about the election, five acres of cotton, twenty-three acres of corn, and a whole sweet potato crop, four sheep, five shots and one best shot to hares, two front teeth and a considerable quantity of hair in a personal skirmish. Gave ninety-seven plugs of tobacco, seven Sunday school books, two pair suspenders, four calico dresses, seven dolls and thirteen baby rattlers. "Told 2,889 lies, shook hands 33,475 times, talked enough to have made in print 1,000 large volumes size of patent office reports, kissed 128 babies, kindled fourteen kitchen fires and cut three cords of wood, parted with bundles of fodder, picked 774 pounds of cotton, helped pull seven wagon-loads of corn, dug fourteen bushels of potatoes, toted twenty seven buckets of water, put up seven stoves, was dog bit four times, watch broken by baby, cost $3 to have repaired.

"Loaded out three barrels of flour, fifty bushels of meal, 150 pounds of bacon, thirty-seven pounds of butter, eighty-two dozen eggs, three umbrellas, thirteen lead pencils, one Bible dictionary, one mow-blade, two hoses, one overcoat, five boxes paper collars, none of which have been returned.

"Called an opponent a perambulating liar--doctor's bill, $10. Had five arguments with my wife--result: one flower vase smashed, one broom handle broken, one dish of hash knocked from table, one shirt bosom ruined, two handfulls whiskers pulled out, 10 cents worth of sticking plaster bought. Besides, spent $1,768. Never again."

There will be a hot supper given at the Lesesne Chapel Friday night for the benefit of the Chapel. The Major says he has every thing "fixed" and it will be the "best yet."

He Saw a Great Light. Wrecks on the coast of Cornwall, England, were once a source of revenue to the natives. The Cornish folk were great smugglers too. The Rev. R. S. Hawker had in his service as man of all work old Tristram Pentire, the last of the smugglers. One day he made to the vicar this notable confession: "Well, sir, I do think, when I come to look back and to consider what lives we used to live--drunk all night and idle all day, cursing, swearing, fighting, gambling, lying and always prepared to shoot the gaffer--I do really believe, sir, we surely was in sin!"--London Express.

Her Turn Had Come. After two years he proposed to her, and she accepted him. "I'm so happy and glad," she sighed. "Why, dearest?" he asked. "Because I'm to be your husband?" "Oh, it isn't altogether that," she answered. "But now I can have the laugh on all our relatives who have been saying that you'd never propose."--Detroit Free Press.

Cherry Wood. Cherry is the wood most used as a backing for the metal plates from which illustrations are printed in magazines and periodicals. It is chosen above all others because it holds its shape, does not warp or twist, works smoothly and does not split.

Not to Be Thought Of. Certainly some might be foolish enough to call Athens, Thermopylae and Marathon the most famous Greece spots in history, but it would be dangerous--Judge.

Of Course Not. "Beauty is only skin deep." "That's enough. You only want to kiss a peachy cheek. You don't want to kiss it."--Louisville Courier-Journal.

Trick of the Smugglers. Russia was once overrun with counterfeit notes. The police felt certain that the notes were imported, which proved to be the case. One day an accident solved the mystery. Some packages of lead pencils arrived there from England, and, while examining, one of the pencils fell out. On sharpening it to use the customs officer was surprised to find the lead but a short piece, while the inner portion was hollow and contained a counterfeit note.

Benjamin Harrison. "Do you think," Benjamin Harrison once asked Louis T. Michener, his campaign manager, "that I am a cold man?"

"I don't think so," General Michener answered, emphasizing the pronoun, "but persons do say that I am the only living man who hasn't been chilled by a Harrison cold blast. I understand your habits and your moods, and when you pass me in the street and don't speak to me I know the reason."

"Well," Harrison replied, "I do get into a subject when I am thinking about it and at such times may seem a little blind and distant."

"But Benjamin Harrison," General Michener told the writer of this article, "was not a cold man. No man is cold whom children and dogs love, and all the children and dogs of Indianapolis knew Benjamin Harrison. He saw them always, and they saw him."--New York Sun.

Agate and Onyx. The distinction between agate and onyx is not apparent to every one, as is indicated by the samples of the two minerals received by the United States geological survey with requests for information. Onyx marble, or Mexican onyx, is composed of calcium carbonate or banded limestone. True agate is a variety of silica. Onyx marble is much softer than agate and is rarely used for gems, but when onyx is obtained in pieces of sufficient size it is cut and polished for small ornamental objects like inkstands and paper weights, as well as for table tops and soda water fountains.
