PLEASE AT SUMMERTON.

By a special invitation Gov. Cole L. Blease was asked to make an address at Summerton last Thursday evening, and at the appointed hour, there was a crowd estimated at about 800, of which a goodly number of ladies gathered in the grove of Hon. Selwyn Dingle where the address was made. The writer was not present, therefore we are unable to give to our readers as much of this speech as we would like. We are told it was a very fine and logical talk, and free from abuse or harsh language. The following is a short synopsis of the matters the speaker touched on:

The speaker was introduced by Judge Richbourg, and after being greeted by applause, he began by thanking them for turning out to hear him. He paid a touching tribute to the late Senator Louis Appelt, then congratulated the people of Summerton upon their splendid school building, saying at the same time that he was heartily in favor of education, he launched into a discussion of the leading topics of the day. "South Carolina is now facing a crisis," said the speaker. "She is in greater need than ever for a citizenship that is capable of doing its own thinking. She needs men who know the right and dare not to do it."

He advocated a system of land credits whereby the small farmer can purchase a home for himself. A system like they have in France and Germany. Let the State of South Carolina stand behind the purchaser and work it out just like we are working the Cotton Warehouse System. What better security could the State want than this land. In this way the small man could buy him a home for his wife and little ones on a ten or twenty year time plan. If he should die before he completes the payments the State would allow his wife and children to finish it. Now I advocate this only as a State System, for I am against this modern tendency to nationalize every thing. I believe in States Rights, and the Federal Government should be hands off on a proposition like this. If the Federal Government were to try to work out a plan of Rural Land Credits I would be opposed to it because we would never know who the middle man might be. This is a system that should be worked out by the State, then the purchaser will always be protected. I trust that the next Legislature will adopt a system like this and not wait on a new administration to do it.

The present warehouse system is a splendid thing and I hope to see it perfected in the near future.

We have, said the speaker "the most censored press in the whole world right here in South Carolina." If a man from this State should go to North Carolina, for example and make a speech, the reporter would send a telegraph report of it to the papers back here. The editor of the paper would then examine the report on the telegram and if the speaker was a man of the same political faith he would give him a glowing write up, but should he be his enemy, regardless of how worthy the speech might be, it would find its way to the waste basket and you people would never know the difference.

Our rate of interest in this State should be changed to 6 per cent. Plenty of other States charge only 6 per cent.

Our State appropriation this year has been entirely too high. Too many new offices have been created. "That boy" who is Secretary of the Board of Charities gets $3000.00 a year and his travelling expenses, a salary as large as the Chief Executive of the State, a salary as great as the Chief Justice of your Supreme Court. And for what? For nothing.

I want my position on the whiskey question understood so that no one can go away from this meeting and say "Blease favors a barroom system." I believe in Local Option, but I am bitterly opposed to a barroom. If we have a county dispensary and conduct it properly it will put the blind tigers out of business and you can get better liquor to drink. A man who is paying a license to sell whiskey is going to report a blind tiger if it is being conducted in his territory, he will do it in self defense.

The speaker paid his respects to the new tax commission, saying "that it was created to give somebody a job." He said that the commission was going after the banks and other corporations now just for a blind. But just what said the speaker "until they get to you farmers and men of moderate means." Later on the corporations will call for hearings and their taxes will be reduced at the hearing to where they were at first, BUT YOURS will remain where ever they put them. Now mark this prophecy.

When I was Governor they claimed that my use of the pardoning power was going to flood the State with criminals, but in spite of the fact that the next solicitors report will show the greatest per cent of crime since the days of Moses and Chamberlain, and in spite of the recent tragedy in Charleston, not a name pardoned by me can be seen in this great list. Now my friends it has been a pleasure indeed to be with you here tonight. I have held every office in my State that I have wanted, I have been in public office now for a quarter of a century, and during that time I have made some enemies and I have stood by my friends, a thing that I shall always do.

Uncle Sam is having about as strenuous a time in keeping out of the war as the other fellows are having in it.

Attorney General Thos. H. Peoples has announced his candidacy for re-election to succeed himself in 1916. Mr. Peoples has made a capital officer, and should be re-elected without opposition. He has always dealt fairly with both factions, so why make a change? He does his duty as he sees it, with out fear or favor, at the same time, giving to his constituents every consideration. Mr. Peoples is a young man of brains, and one that South Carolina should feel proud of.

Great Thanksgiving Sale of Millinery!

Feeling very grateful to the Ladies of Manning and surrounding country for their liberal patronage given me this, my first season with them. I have decided to show my gratitude of giving them a chance to purchase their Thanksgiving Millinery at greatly reduced prices. Shall offer a lot of "Fish" and "Gage" trimmed hats at one half their actual price. "Fish" and "Gage" goods need no introduction or praise as the well dressed lady is already familiar with them. All Hats are greatly reduced in this Sale and we have good selections still on hand. Beyond a doubt this will be the Greatest Saving on Millinery this Season. Would be pleased to have you come in early and let us show you. We can build one to suit your own individual self, and sell it to you at big reduction in price.
