Death of Mrs. Ardis.

The death angel entered our home last Monday evening and took away our diseased mother, her remains was laid to rest at the Pinewood cemetery Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock She was 78 years of age, leaves seven children to mourn her loss, forty-eight grand children, eighteen great grand children.

A precious one from us has gone A voice we love is still, A place is vacant in our home, is a daughter of Dr. B. A. Muckenfuss Which never can be filled. God in his wisdom has recalled The boon the love had given, And though the body slumbers here The soul is safe in Heaven. Weep not her toils are over, Weep not that her race is run God grant we may rest as calmly, When our work like her's is done. Till than we yield with gladness Our matters to him to keep. And rejoice in the sunset Assurance he gives his love one sleep. Dearest mother thou has left us, And our lost we deeply feel, But it is God that has bereft us He can all our sorrows heal. But yet again we hope to meet thee, When the day of life is fled When in Heaven joy to greet the, Where no farewell tears is shad. Sallie A. Ardis.

per written by Miss Willie Hoke of the Panola school on "How to Create a Love for Good Literature." General discussion of this subject was opened, in which thoughts full of valuable suggestions were expressed. Browne said, in this connection, that teachers as a rule, are not willing to give the extra time and trouble necessary to create the reoding habit and a love of good literature in their pupils. They hurry through the daily routine of lessons, and are in haste to be off as soon as the hour of dismissal comes, never thinking what a few extra minutes devoted to trying to interest the boys and girls tn books could accom-Prof. J. Other questions discussed or touched upon were: The great importance of teaching reading more thoroughly than as yet it has been taught in our schools, because ability to read is the around work of all other learning, that 10:30 o'clock, conducted by their pastor really belongs, even if the teacher loswas in the family cemetery near here. this connection, the importance of a Thanksgiving day was an ideal one, closer association than ordinarily exists between teachers and parents, so that the good understanding and conmany were out on hunting expeditions. fidence, so necessary to mutual help-Misses Alice and Emily Broadway ful ness may be secured and the parful ness may be secured and the parents friendship retained by the teacher even when the latters sense of duty constrains him to deal with the child not in accordance with that parents wishes.

The meeting closed with some announcements and explanations by Prof. Browne on the subject of the approach ing fair, when on Friday next it is hoped there will be a grand rally of Helen E. Malone,
