La Grippe is all the go now. Christmas week makes weak pocket books. Here's hoping we'll all have a merry Xmas. Sad is the heart that cannot rejoice at Christmas time. The college boys and girls are rolling in for the holidays. Mr. J. F. Bradham lost a very fine mule Monday on his farm. We look for several business changes in Manning the first of the year. Miss Olive Sturgeon of Sumter visited Mrs. Marion Williams this week. Rev. G. P. Watson left last week to take up his new charge at Bishopville. Miss Flora McKelvey of Spartanburg, is visiting her brother in Manning, Mr. B. C. McKelvey. Mr. J. N. Riggs was operated on here yesterday, and our last reports are that he was suffering a great deal. The Home Bank and Trust Co., will in a few weeks install a modern locker system to keep valuable papers safe.

Never mind, ladies. The Christmas shopping doesn't come out of your pocket. It is your annual opportunity to get even with the men folks. Miss Cora Sprout, of Spartanburg, stopped over in Manning Saturday on her way to Foreston to spend Xmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. P. Sprout.

Last Saturday's Sumter Item contained a notice, stating that Mr. E. C. Gross had moved to Sumter, which is a mistake. Mr. Gross is still a resident of Manning.

On last Thursday afternoon fire destroyed several frame buildings in Sumterton, one of which was the Masonic hall, and all of the paraphernalia of the lodge.

All persons having claims against the county, are requested to have them properly itemized and in the hands of the supervisor not later than the first Wednesday in January.

Hang up an extra stocking. Be sure you don't forget. One week from the dawned old state will be no longer wet.—Exchange.

Mr. D. E. Bradham, bookkeeper for the Farmers' Supply Co., is having a handsome five-room bungalow erected in North Kingstreet, adjoining Mr. W. P. McGinn's residence. Contractor Chas. H. Singleton is doing the work and as soon as completed Mr. and Mrs. Bradham will occupy it as their residence.—Kingstreet Record.

Mr. R. J. Bland was endorsed by the Sumter Bar Association at a recent meeting for the position of referee in bankruptcy, and the endorsement sent to Judge H. A. M. Smith of the Federal court at Charleston. The recommendation was made upon the resignation of Mr. I. C. Strauss, who has heretofore held this position.

J. T. Hamilton, white, was brought from the state farm at Hagood on Sunday morning and lodged in the county jail on the charge of obtaining goods from O'Donnell & Co., by false pretenses. Hamilton finished his term on the State farm yesterday. It is alleged that he is from Williamsburg county, but has been living in Clarendon county, where there are other charges held against him.—Sumter Item.

Married yesterday afternoon at the bride's home in Pinewood, Mr. Lee Roy Gross and Miss Abbie Theo Ragin, a daughter of Mr. J. P. Ragin.

Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock a horse belonging to Rees Green, a colored man, who lives beyond Shady Side, was killed when it ran into the big plate glass front of D. C. Shaw Motor Co.'s show room. The horse was hitched to a wagon and for some unknown cause had become frightened and ran away. They were going up Sumter Street at full speed until they reached the corner of Hampton Avenue, when in endeavoring to turn they ran into the glass in front of the Shaw Company office and show room. One of the horses endeavored to turn and was cut only about the feet by the glass, while the other animal reared upon the glass and then came down on it, the glass striking it in the stomach near the hind legs and completely dismembering it. The horse was then pulled back out of the building by its mate and Mr. Plowden ran out of the building and cut the two animals loose. However, the injured horse was in such a pitiable condition as it stood in the street with its intestines hanging out that those standing nearby had pity on it and killed it at once by striking it in the head with an axe.—Sumter Item.

Welcome To The New Pastor. A very interesting service was held at the Methodist church on last Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. It was a union service for the purpose of extending a welcome to the new Methodist pastor, Dr. Watson B. Duncan. After the opening services Rev. McCord of the Presbyterian church, took charge and introduced the speakers. Hon. J. H. Lessee represented the town and in fitting words welcomed the new minister as a force in the intellectual and moral uplift of the community. Mr. Lessee indulged in some reminiscence and referred to the time when Mr. Duncan first came to Manning, ex-chaplain of the late Rev. Henry M. Wood who was then Pastor of the church here. The speaker remembered the text upon which Mr. Duncan preached that day and also referred to the suggestion that perhaps the young minister had some other motive than time besides preaching the Gospel in Manning. He said that a very serious blow was given the church here a little later when the visiting minister married the organist. Hon. Charlton DuRant represented the Methodist church and in fitting words extended a very gracious welcome to the incoming pastor. Mr. DuRant said that he was glad to welcome to the community a man whom many of the people here knew and loved. On behalf of the entire church the speaker pledged the new pastor hearty sympathy and co-operation. Mr. Wilkins represented the Baptists in the absence of the pastor of that church who was prevented from being present by sickness. Mr. Wilkins' talk was brief but hearty.

The Rev. Mr. McCord spoke for the Presbyterians and spoke very feelingly of the spirit in which the Presbyterians of Manning welcomed the new preacher. Mr. McCord, using Presbyterian phraseology, spoke of "installing" Dr. Duncan.

Mr. Duncan was very happy over the hearty welcome and expressed high appreciation of the kind words that had been spoken. The occasion was a very delightful one and was greatly enjoyed by all present. A splendid program of music added to the occasion.

Obituaries. In sad but loving remembrance of my two dear children, Placidia Shorter Stokes, who died May 24th, 1914, and Harvey N. Shorter, December 24, 1914. Oh! the memory of the evenings as I stood with breaking heart. Seeing the ones I loved so dearly pierced by death's most cruel dart. I often sit and think of them when I am all alone. For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own. Oh! Placidia, how I miss your smiling face, where ever I go. I feel so lonely without you, but 'twas God who bereft me can all my sorrows heal. Oh! Sonny, my precious one, you wanted to walk the beautiful shore with father and sister. But we didn't know you meant to leave us so soon. You have been gone one year, your memory is as fresh as the day you passed away. May we, by God's help, be able to meet the loved ones that has gone on. Where there will be no more parting. MOTHER AND BROTHERS.

A Tribute. On Friday December 2nd, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Ridgeway and took away their eldest daughter, Estelle Rebecca. She was sick a long time, and all was done for her that could be done by her loving parents and skilled physicians, but God knew best and took her from earth to rest in heaven. Though she was sick a long time she did not murmur nor complain and before the end came she assured her parents that it was well with her soul. She was a young woman of Christian character, had a kind and loving disposition and was loved by all who knew her.

She was a member of Home Branch Baptist church to which church she was devoted. The funeral services were conducted the following day by Rev. M. J. Kyser at Oak Grove church and the remains laid to rest in Oak Grove cemetery.

Ween not fond parents for your loving daughter. She leaves besides her parents three brothers and two sisters, besides a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her death. Beneath a mound of blooming roses, Cold in death your daughter lies; But her spirit is with the angels, In that home beyond the skies. A FRIEND.

To The People of Clarendon County. I feel so grateful to you for the part you took in making our first county Fair a success. Especially do I wish to thank the officers of the Fair Association who so freely gave their time and energies to this public work. Every one seemed to vie with the other to see who could do the most. But with all of our efforts we must acknowledge that the ladies deserve the most credit for the success of the Fair. I am not going to mention any names for fear I shall leave out some one, but you who visited the Fair know who did the most work.

Of course there were a few "knockers" who tried to discourage us in our undertaking. The "knocker" is usually with us on such occasions, but the faint knock cannot be heard since the enterprise has proved a success. The managers of the different departments did the best they could, and that was the best that could have been done, and not a man or woman would accept a dollar for his or her services.

Now for a greater Fair another year. We want to have a grandstand, a dry park, and more and higher premiums for stock to induce the farmers to bring exhibits. All of this will call for money. You have entrusted us with a small amount of money and we have realized a profit of over one hundred and thirty dollars above all expenses on the amount turned over to us. Now help us by taking more stock and I am satisfied it will prove a good investment for you, financially as well as educationally. Let us not undervalue the educational advantages secured by the 1500 school children who had free access to the Fair grounds. Then too the social feature is worthy of consideration.

Yours for a better Fair next year, JAMES M. WINDHAM, Foreman, Dec. 15, 1915.

Public cordially invited to all services at this church.

Fuel Qualities of Wood. The fuel qualities of chestnut adapt it particularly to work in brass foundries, where it gives just the required amount of heat and it is therefore in favor. Coasting vessels in Florida pay twice as much for Florida bituminous as for any other, because it burns with an even heat and with a minimum amount of smoke and ash. LURING WILD GEESSE. Live Decoys Are Often Used and Made to Play the Tractor. American wild geese each spring migrate from waters of the southern states to the shores of the Arctic in northern Canada. The two great common varieties of the bird are the honkers and the waxy, or white, geese.

Both of these are extensively hunted. Covering, as they do, about 5,000 miles on their annual migration, these birds rest at various places en route and are thus shot by sportsmen almost across the length of the continent. The birds have a peculiar trait of always leaving one of their number on lookout while the rest feed.

To all in the shooting of wild geese live wild ones, captured young and raised in captivity, are often placed in feeding grounds in likely territory on the line of flight of the migrating flocks. These decoys are terrible traitors and by their calling often bring the flying ones within shooting distance of the sportsmen, who lie in hidden pits near at hand.

Painted decoys, shaped like geese and made of steel, are also used by the hunters. In the latter case the men, from their hiding place in the pits, call the birds by using a goose call, a metal instrument like a flute, which mimics the sound of the goose with remarkable realism.—Philadelphia North American.

WRITING ON METALS. By the Use of Wax and Acids Etchings May Easily Be Made. Usually a man attempts to put his name on his metal possessions by scratching with a file or knife point and makes the poorest sort of a job. It is really very easy to write on any metal—the blade of a jackknife, a watchcase, skates—if one happens to know how, and the attractiveness of the inscription is limited only by the artistic ability of the individual.

Cover the place where you wish to write with a thin coating of melted beeswax. When the wax is cold write plainly with any pointed instrument, being particular to cut the letters through the wax to the metal. Then mix one ounce of muriatic acid and one-half of an ounce of nitric acid, or smaller quantities in the same proportions (and remember that those acids are deadly poisons, and apply the mixture to the lettering with a feather, carefully filling each letter.

Allow the acids to remain from one to ten minutes, according to the etching is to be light or deep. Next dip the article in water, wash out the acids and melt off the wax, and the thing is done. A little oil should be applied as a finishing touch. Gold, silver, iron or steel can be marked in this way.—Youth's Companion.
