A single word from Tokyo or Mexico City is of more vital concern to us than a whole column from the European front.

CONVENTION POLITICS.

As we see it, the recent State convention hinged around two propositions, the selection of delegates to the Democratic national convention, and the question of allowing leeway for the warehouse propaganda.

The majority was especially interested in getting the delegates to the Democratic national convention from among its members and in squelching the warehouse question. The minority was especially concerned about the warehouse propaganda, but cared very little about the personnel of the representation in the national convention.

The warehouse question is of practical importance to the people, and the matter of representation in the national convention is of concern only to leading politicians. It is of possible value to them only in the event of the re-election of Mr. Wilson, when it would have some bearing in the distribution of patronage.

To admit the warehouse propaganda into the primary meant the education of the general business and producing classes in their economic right rather than in politics, and for this the majority element was not willing. The proposition was squelched without a record vote, the majority members of the convention being afraid to let the people of the State know how they stand on a question involving the rights of the masses. It was the desire of the majority to let the warehouse question sleep, this was not permitted. The minority made the majority express itself as a whole and the majority did not dare go on record as saying that the warehouse system is not a good thing, however much it would have preferred to do so.

From editorials in the Columbia State it appears that the paper would have the people believe that the only issue between the majority and the minority is Bleasheim, but we do not think the State really believes anything of the kind. It cannot conceal from itself the fact the minority made it clear that the issue is economic rather than factional.

The majority in their convention the other day may be thoroughly well satisfied with itself, but we give it more credit than that. It surely must have some kind of a premonition that, like Canute of old, it is merely trying, by word of mouth to stay the rising tide. The minority representation in the convention of 1912 was only 18 votes, but in the primary it developed that a minority of the convention represented a majority of the voters. The minority representation in the convention of 1914 was negligible, but this year it numbered 74 votes, and now the real issue is beginning to recall the circumstance of the cloud that was no bigger than a man's hand.—Yorkville Enquirer.

WHO WANTS TO DRIFT?

What are we doing for this town? What are we doing to push it along, to make it something more than just a dot on the map. Ask yourself the question first, and then ask others, and keep on asking until we locate the cause of our backwardness and take steps to remedy the defects. This is not a drifting age, and the town that is content to just drift along will soon learn that there is no place left in which to even drift. It is not a lack of brains, because our people are blessed with an abundance. It may be, however, that we lack the initiative that is necessary to keep pace with the more thriving and prosperous communities of the country. If so, we should at once correct our fault and move forward. We should grasp every opportunity for improvement and expansion that presents itself, and when there are none in sight we should go out and hunt them. Drifting will accomplish nothing but to bury us beneath the enthusiasm and prosperity of our neighbors. Now who wants to drift?

Everybody get together, talk improvements, work to the betterment of the whole town. We should never be satisfied to sit idly and let things rock along in a happy-go-lucky way. Our streets should be paved, and to pave a small portion at a time would not materially effect the taxes, you would scarcely feel it, and at the same time, it would be a great benefit and improvement.

BIG DEMONSTRATION RALLY.

Never before in the history of Clarendon county has such an enthusiastic interest been shown in the home industrial club work as was shown today when the Club agents had their regular spring rally. It really commenced to rise Friday afternoon when the ladies of Manning gathered on the court house square to decorate the floats to represent each club. These were as follows: Tomato Clubs, Miss Marion Wells car decorated by Misses Mattie Appelt, Corine Barfield and Minnie Sue Sauls. Pig Clubs—Oliver O'Bryan's car decorated by Mrs. Oliver O'Bryan, Miss Elizabeth Wannamaker and Mrs. C. A. McFaddin. Bear Creek Demonstration Club—Mr. D. Hirschmann's car decorated by Miss Annie and Ronnette Hirschmann. Bread Clubs—Prof. E. J. Browns car decorated by Mesdames Katie Cole and Merritt Mounzon. Corn Club—Mr. David Levi car decorated by Mrs. David Levi. Poultry Club—Miss Katherine Richardsons car decorated by Mesdames F. O. Richardson and Mrs. J. V. Edwards.

This morning before we lazy town folks had scarcely finished our breakfast these busy people from every section of Clarendon county were beginning to gather on the court house grounds, and each one eager for the days proceedings.

At eleven o'clock all of the cars were in line ready for the parade. These came in the following order: The Tomato Club car, driven by Miss Marion Wells. This was done in the club colors red and green, and showed a great deal of taste and work. A post at each of the four corners was prettily wrapped with tomato vines filled with green and ripe tomatoes suspended between them. Several canning club girls rode in this car.

The car representing the Pig Club was driven by Mr. Oliver O'Bryan, and seated behind side him the Mascott little Billie O'Bryan representing a real hog. This club chose the national colors for wrapping the wheels, and rippling little ribbons along the edge of the car. The sides were well covered with bright green cloth, representing the clover fields, while peanuts and grains of corn strung, formed an attractive web curtain on the open sides of the car, then suspended from each of the four corners on the outside was a nice fat ham.

The bread Club car was in brown and white. The object of this car was well demonstrated with shocks of wheat tied at each of the four corners, and strings of loaves and rolls gracefully fastened about the sides, with draperies and bows of the brown and white paper.

The Tarbeville Home Demonstration Club used Mr. Coffey's car, and had it very tastefully done in gold and purple. The garlands of purple were gracefully draped about the car, being caught up at intervals with yellow Chrysanthemums. A pretty Club Pennant was shown on the wind shield.

National colors were used for draperies and wrappings on the corn club car with U. S. flags displayed at the corners. Half-shucked corn was becomingly bunched by the sides, and overtopped by green stocks of corn. The sides of the car were covered with corn colored cloth and trimmed over with ivory. Members of the corn club rode in this car.

Sardinia another of our enthusiastic Home Demonstration Clubs had a pretty car in national colors and flags, arranged about the front and along the top was an attractive pennant giving the name of the club.

The Poultry Clubs were well represented in this car covered with lavender and draped with egg shells. The head of the engine bore a placard of a large cock, another was perched in all his glory on top of the hood, while a miniature one stood on the corner of the wind shield. The wind shield was covered with an attractive club pennant. Suspended from the rear was a white back ground on which was a whole family from the poultry yard. Then placed on the top in the rear was a coop of the finest barred rocks chickens. The children in this car each wore a cap represented a cocks head.

The Bear Creek Demonstration Club was tastefully decorated in lavender and gold. A huge butterfly from a staff in the rear held the ribbon suspended from the front of the car. This car was filled with its own club members. Never could a parade of decorate floats be complete without the black and gold. And these colors were beautifully displayed in the car representing the Harvin Demonstration Club. This car was strikingly draped, each drapery outlined with the fringe. And here comes Summertown in all her glory in Mr. Gentry's handsome car, tho this was well covered with the attractive colors green and white, twining about and over the car was a graceful rose vine filled with pink roses, about the edge of the fenders and around the top was a pretty green fringe which gave to the occupants of this car a cool refreshing look as they rolled by the smelting onlookers. In the rear of the car was the extra tire in its accustomed place, wrapped with white, and arranged about its circumference was the four H's in green, while in the center, was the fifth H which now stands for our Home Work. An attractive band of green was arranged just above the fringe around the top, on which "Summertown Home Demonstration Club" was placed in attractive white letters. This car was filled with members of the Summertown Club.

Right here our pen should stop for there are no fitting words to describe the car which represented the DuRant Club. This car was covered all over with light yellow cloth and twining over it was southern smilax, which represented grape vines and clusters of rich purple and white grapes were hanging bountifully on the vine. In the rear of the car was a pretty placard in yellow, bearing the name of the club in purple. On the rear seat was a pedestal of cans and placed on this pedestal was a fairy, the Queen of the Home, holding the ribbons suspended from a huge yellow butterfly which had seemingly alighted on the very front of the engine, sipping the sweet juices from the luscious bunched of purple grapes. Piled at the base of this pedestal of cans was a generous heap of fruits and vegetables. No, we have not described these floats. We have only tried to give some of the most attractive features. An artist could best have done justice to this arrangement and perfection of these floats, following these were seventeen other cars in which members of the different clubs rode.

When the parade was over all were asked to assemble in the court house, and the following program was rendered: The song of the Home Demonstration Club was sung to the tune of Home, Sweet Home. This was followed by the Club Prayer. Mr. C. A. McFaddin presented Miss Edith Parrott, State agent of the Home Demonstration Club. Miss Parrott told us how glad she was to be in Manning again, and we would have been glad to tell her how glad we were to see her back again. She congratulates Clarendon county on the progress it has made in the club work and for the interest shown here today by this enthusiastic audience. She said that this county was famous throughout the State. Think of being a member of this great family of 4,000 women and 4,000 girls, all engaged in this same kind of work. This summer at Winthrop the girls completing the short course will be given diplomas. She spoke of Mr. McFaddin's work throughout the State, and how thoroughly interested he has always been in the women and girls' work.

Miss Amanda Edwards, the agent from Williamsburg county, was next introduced. She told of the work being done in her county, and portrayed the beauty of this demonstration work. Miss Mary Lemmon, the agent from Sumter county, told us of the plans for home demonstration meetings soon to be held in Sumter, when these 100 girls to whom this short course will be given, will be entertained by the people of Sumter.

The Canning Club song was very beautifully sung by the audience. Every one present was given a copy of these songs as they entered the auditorium. Miss Richardson, our county agent, was then asked to make a report on her work. She first expressed her gratitude for all that had been done co-operative with her in this work. She gave us a true definition of a friend. "Friends are those between whom exist a mutual bond of affection, trust and active good wishes" for as such she spoke to this audience of enthusiastic workers.

She now has working with her 163 girls, and 175 women,

Now Well! Theodorfs Black-Draught is the best all-round medicine lever used. I suffered terribly with liver troubles, and could get no relief. The doctors said I had consumption. while last year she could report 80 girls and 81 women. Now, doesn't this show the beauty of service? Yes, we are all happy in doing something worth while. Miss Richardson closed with the following "to the Greek lesson of reasonableness, and the Hebrew lesson of righteousness it remains for this age to add the great lesson of service." Mr. Cleveland, head of the Poultry Division was introduced. He expressed his admiration for the work being done in Clarendon county and told of the course being planned for the girls at Winthrop this summer. He also talked of a similar course for the boys at Clemson. He also advised the boys and girls to stay on the farm. "Make your life count for something, boys and girls." He stressed the combination of hog and poultry farming, if properly managed. After this came the Bread Club Song to the rousing tune of Dixie. This happy meeting now adjourned for dinner. This was eaten on the court house square. The Civic League and Priscilla Club of Manning served ice tea while they enjoyed their lunch. After dinner Misses Lemmon and Edwards conducted a Canning Club Demonstration on the grounds. This was enjoyed by quite a number of interested women and girls. While this was being done outside Mr. Clark and Mr. McFaddin were holding a meeting of the Boys' Corn Club on the inside. These divisions of the government service cooperate beautifully in this county. Let us wake up to the full realization of such helpful suggestions these workers are giving our boys and girls, and men and women. Yes, we are each to be benefited. It is here for us if we will but accept it. MRS. J. V. EDWARDS.
