For Indigestion, Sick Headache, Biliousness

The more one knows about the laws of health, the more attention he or she pays to the keeping of the stomach and bowels in good working condition. Only the very ignorant scoff at the dangers that result from sluggish bowels and a clogged up condition which retains poisonous waste matter in the system. Billousness, sick headache, sour stomach, gas, bloating, constipation, dyspepsia—all these distressing consequences of indigestion are avoided if the bowels are kept open and regular.

Mr. E. J. Hudson, merchant, Cross Keys, Ga., says. "For a thorough cleansing movement of the bowels, without the slightest inconvenience or sickening. I believe Foley Cathartic Tablets the best on earth. It's a perfect cathartic, with no bad effects."

CAT FEEDS STARVING DOG

Strange Pair Live Eight Days on Dried Elk Meat Which Pussy Furnished Companion.

Deputy Game Warden Brown is looking for the hunter who killed an elk in the foothills of the Olympics and left the greater portion of it dried in a small cabin, says the Scattle Post-Intelligencer.

Brown's discovery of the elk meat deals with the wanderings of an Airedale dog.

Brown borrowed the dog from a friend when he started into the hills on a general hunt for lawbreakers, and when well up in the mountains he lost the dog. He failed to locate the animal, and later came to town, thinking it had returned to its home. When he arrived he found that the dog had not appeared, so he started out again to try to locate the animal.

Brown luckily stumbled upon a small cabin well up in the mountains, and here found the dog. Brown investigated the shack and found it well supplied with elk meat, but on the rafters was a small domestic cat that had become wild. The dog had come scross the cat, which had sought refuse in the rafters of the cabin. When hungry the cai ate the dried elk meat and dropped pieces to the dog below, both living for more than eight days in this manner.

HAVE LAUGH ON SNOBERLY

His Fellow Members of the Club Like ly to Indulge in Their Merriment for Some Time.

Young Snoberly is very anxious to create the impression that he is "a don" at French. A few evenings ago, at the club, he took a French comic paper, and for half an hour he pretended to be absorbed in its contents. ber of the Wagner program had just | Every once in a while he would smile feebly, as if he had been carried away by the jokes, and say, audibly, "Bon,

There were several gentlemen at the adjoining table who had been noticing Snoberly's antics. At last one of them said: "See that Snoberly over there pretending to read that French paper? I am certain that he does not understand French. He is just doing that to impress the people with his knowledge as a linguist."

"I suppose he must understand French," replied one of the party. "I'll bet a bottle of wine that he doesn't, and I'll prove it." "I'll take the bet." The gentleman who had made the bet walked quietly over to Snoberly, and said, "Monsieur, quelle heure est-il?"

("What o'clock is it, sir?") Young Snoberly smiled a Parisian smile, and gracefully handed over the paper!-London Tit-Bits.

Leap-Year Advice.

Here is the sage counsel which Miss Lucille Pugh, feminist, suffragist and lawyer-and also quite pretty-is quoted as offering to all bachelor girls, absolutely without fee, for their leap year guidance, says the New York Evening Sun.

"Propose to the man of your choice, but look up his rating first." Short and to the point. By the recourse to Bradstreet's it is argued that women may avoid unhappiness frequently resulting from penniless marriages. Good!-as far as it goes. But what eminent counselor of the other sex will not stand forth to aid his trembling brethren? might well advise:

"Accept the woman who proposes to you if you like her, but first look up her rating in the domestic arts." One prerequisite is as fair as the other. For the woman: Do not marry for money, but love where money is; for the man: Do not marry to provide yourself with a -cook, but while marrying you might as well marry someone who can make out of the place you live in a home. Something more than a liberal income is required to produce "comfortable circumstances" for two.

Talk Costs $54, Tip $10.

Spending money is a part of the life of Barney Oldfield, motor speed king. The great racing driver does not hesitate to satiate his desires, whatever they may be. He has been three days and has been away from just a week. Sitting in his room at the hotel the great racing driver got into conversation with his wife by long-distance telephone. He talked to her e even minutes and paid $54.96 for the privilege of the conversation.

The odd cent is war tax. Oldfield is liberal with tips, too.
