Married this afternoon at the home of the bride in Charleston, Mr. Frank P. Burgess and Miss Francis Moore. The bride was for several sessions a teacher in the Manning graded school, and the groom has represented Sprunt & Co., as cotton buyers in this town for a great many years, and is one of Manning's most popular young men.

In our write-up of Gable in last week's paper we said the Cristal store was an adjunct of this big concern, when as a matter of fact, the McFaddin Millsap Co., operate the store in connection with the mill, and control the store privilege on the Gable property. The Cristal store is in the road and is independent from the mill.

Mr. Julius Clark of Jordan was licensed last week as a Methodist minister, and preached his first sermon on last Sunday at Wilson. We are told that this young man delivered a very able and eloquent sermon, which we are not surprised at for Mr. Clark is one of Manning's most noble and intelligent young men, and we congratulate him in selecting this good work as his life-time profession.

Yesterday morning a government officer came to Manning and arrested Clifford, William and Carl Floyd, charging them with using the mails to defraud. At the same time stated that two more brothers, Ben and John, who live in Columbia were also under arrest, charged with the same offense. The three from Manning were taken to Sumter to appear before the United States Commissioner, and there were met by John and Ben. We learn their bonds were placed at $500.00 each. The charge is a serious one, and if they are guilty, no doubt, they will have to spend quite awhile in the Federal prison. We sympathize with these young men in their trouble, but this may be a lesson to them and others, that they should live an honest life and not try to get something for nothing.

CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUB

THE PEOPLES BANK BEGINS POPULAR SAVINGS IDEA

Surprising Growth of Idea First Considered a Novelty.

The Peoples Bank of Manning of this town continues its right to a place among the progressive banks of the country. The popularity and success of Christmas Clubs has been phenomenal. This Club gives everybody a chance to save regularly, for the bank is willing to accept small amounts. Even boys and girls are invited to become members, for it is a well-known fact that the saving habit needs to be fostered in this country. Once the youthful mind realizes how really easy it is to save and how pleasant it is to have money inbank, the saving habit will become life-long.

A large number of people, whether their incomes are large or small, find it difficult to "get ahead" financially. They postpone the time when they will start saving to provide for the rainy day because they never seem to have enough spare money to start a bank account. The Christmas Club is a great benefit to the people in this way, for they don't need any more capital to get started than the first small payment, and, after all, the start is the important thing.

Although the first Club payment is due December 26th, members may join before that time by paying in advance. The Club runs fifty weeks, so that each member will receive check in time for Christmas shopping. When payments are made regularly the bank allows interest on the account, which is always an encouragement to save.

A number of plans are offered and members may select one or more of them. In the uniform classes one may pay 25c., 50., or $1.00 weekly, the totals amounting respectively to $12.50, $25.00 and $50.00.

Ordinary books are not needed in carrying the Christmas Club accounts. The Peoples Bank is using a patented card system, in which the record of payment is made by punching cards. This not only gives the depositor a receipt, but also shows exactly how much has been paid in to date, and does away with any possibility of error.

The demand for the Christmas Saving Club has grown so remarkably that it may now be looked upon as a regular banking department.

"The BELOVED VAGABOND"

in six reels featuring the celebrated emotional actor, EDWIN ARDEN

Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 30th

STORY OF THE PLAY:

Being the tale of one Paragot, deprived in his youth of his faith in Man; of his search for it throughout the land; of his sad return, and of something he found in a cottage.

When Gaston De Nerac was awarded the highest honor the French Academy can bestow on an architect, he returned to England, there to arrange the details of his marriage to his cousin, Joanna Rushworth.

To save Joanna's father from financial ruin, Gaston borrows a sum of money from another of Joanna's admirers, the stipulation being that he shall not communicate in any way with Joanna for two years. The scheming lender leads Joanna to believe that her love has been bartered for dollars.

She marries him, and Gaston, believing the one perfect creature in the world to have been fickle, gives up everything he holds dearest—art, friends, and future—and, assuming the name of Paragot, goes forth into the world a cynic to bury with the past all his hopes for the future.

Follows a period of abstinence and recklessness, until he meets Augustus Smith a lad of fifteen, to whom he takes a liking because, forsooth, the boy reads "Paradise Lost," and together the start on a vagabond wandering in which many strange things come to pass.

He meets Joanna once more.

But years have separated these two and they find, after their formal engagement, that it's no go. Paragot goes forth broken hearted, only to realize, when he gets home, a certain something that startled him—for he finds in a cottage that which he lost in a mansion.
