

The New Goods Are Here in Profusion!

YOU can select your Fall and Winter Wearing Apparel here without any trouble. We have bought with an aim to give the people just what they want and we ask you to look over the new things in

Ladies' Dresses, Coats, Coat Suits and Shoes

They're beauties, and we are selling them fast--and getting in new shipments all the time.

NEW ARRIVALS IN

- | | |
|----------------|-----------------|
| MEN'S HATS | DRESS TRIMMINGS |
| MEN'S SHOES | YARD GOODS |
| MEN'S NECKWEAR | NOVELTIES |

Manning Dry Goods Co

H. D. DuBROW, Manager.

MISS FANNIE WEAVER

invites your inspection of her large line of

Exclusive Millinery

FOR FALL AND WINTER

Wednesday and Thursday

September 19 and 20

The latest in Pattern Hats, Trimed and Untrimed Shapes will be on display—as well as a complete line of Trimmings, Ribbons and Flowers.

Miss Fannie Weaver

Rear of Manning Dry Goods Co.

PLANS REDUCTION OF PRICE OF BREAD

Bakers' War Emergency Council in Conference With Food Administration Officials.

CAN'T TOUCH RETAIL PRICE

Hoover Can Oly Accomplish Results in This Line With Cooperation.

Washington, Sept. 10.—With the price of wheat stabilized and a scale of profits adopted by flour manufacturers, the food administration turned its attention today to plans for reducing the cost of bread.

A dozen leading bakers, comprising the war emergency council of their national organization, meeting with food administration officials, were given an outline of what it is hoped to accomplish through elimination of wasteful practices in the baking industry and by cooperation of the bakers themselves.

Food Administrator Hoover believes bread prices can be brought down fully 20 per cent when the new wheat crop begins to move freely through the flour mills. The food administration hopes to establish a standardized loaf of sixteen ounces to sell at six cents and another fourteen ounces to retail at five. This would represent a considerable reduction in prices. The baker's chief objection to a standardized loaf has been that fluctuation in the cost of materials has made it impossible to maintain a standard loaf at a standard price.

The food administration has no power over retail prices and all it can accomplish must be done through cooperation and voluntary acquiescence in its suggestions.

Peer Got the Wrong Ghost.

The latest spiritualist story that is intriguing society concerns a well-known peer who lately married a widow and had taken up the spook business with great enthusiasm—only to let it drop suddenly. The cause, according to the gossips, is that having arranged a big society seance, to which all his friends were invited, he called up the spirit of Lord Kitchener, who, however, refused to appear. The only spirit who did put in an appearance was the former husband of the new peeress, who soundly rated his wife upon the subject of marrying again and on her choice of a husband.

Four American Generations.

One of the most interesting society photographs which have appeared recently depicts four female generations of the family of pretty Viscountess Campden, whose husband is heir to the historic earldom of Gainsborough, and who herself was formerly Alice Eyre, of New York. The Viscountess, who was married in November, 1915, presented her husband with a daughter in March last, and upon this young lady the charming and impressive name of Naureen Theresa Josephine Noel has been bestowed. Noel is the family name of the Gainsborough earls, and the head of the family, besides bearing the first title, is Baron Barham, Baron Noel, and a baronet.

The American Viscountess is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eyre, whose London home is No. 1, in ultra-smart Belgrave square. The four generations in the photograph already referred to, are Mrs. Edward Eyre, her mother, Mrs. Ainsworth, who is seated and is holding her great-granddaughter, (the Hon. Naureen Noel,) and Viscountess Campden herself, standing on the right side of the picture.

Viscount Campden, the proud father in this case, is a captain in the British army and is now at the front. Both his family and the Eyres are Catholics and the nuptials of the Viscount and Viscountess Campden were celebrated at the ultra-fashionable

HE SELLS COLD PRODUCT BUT HAS VERY WARM HEART

Little Talk With Girard (Ala.) Ice Dealer.

"Yes I have a warm heart for one thing," said Mr. L. L. Horn, the ice dealer at Girard, Ala. "I have a warm heart for the blessed thing that gave me my first relief after I had suffered for years and almost died with acute indigestion."

"I got so bad I had to give up my work and I nearly died, and guess I would have, except for getting the right remedy at the last moment."

"I do not think anything else could have helped me like Sulferro-Sol did. I got relief almost at once. I have only taken two bottles and feel that I am fully healed. I haven't had any more trouble with my stomach."

"I certainly can recommend Sulferro-Sol for indigestion or any severe stomach trouble. It did a wonderful thing for me and healed my trouble after I had suffered for years with indigestion of the worst kind, and Sulferro-Sol built me up and made me strong, too."

All Druggists know of the remarkable healing powers of Sulferro-Sol. They hear stories like this most every day. Ask your Druggist.

Sulferro-Sol can be found at any Drug Store. If your Druggist does not have Sulferro-Sol he will order it for you. The Murray Drug Co., Columbia, State Distributors.—Adv.

Brompton Oratory. Cardinal Bourne, archbishop of Westminster, was one of the officiating clergy.

The Gainsborough earldom, which the Viscount, who is thirty-two, will inherit if he is spared, is one of the classic ones of the British peerage. The present Earl, third of his title, is now sixty-six, and has three sons and two daughters. He has two residences, Exham hall, Oakham and Campden house, Gloucestershire. Viscount Campden, the future master of these, entered the diplomatic service in 1908, and was a member of the British embassy at Washington for a time. When the war broke out, he was attached to the British legation at Stockholm.

Roast for "King" Manuel.

The youthful former King of Portugal, for some years resident in this country, and the husband of a German-born princess, is just a bit too decorative and diligent in the pursuit of enjoyment and not quite useful enough to suit some people. The "Gaby" legends also still lingers in many minds, but never until a few days ago has one seen anything derogatory to this "roi in exile" in the British press. The influential and widely read London "Chronicle," however, has this to say editorially regarding Manuel and the manner in which he is almost invariably designated in the columns of the other British newspapers. The comment is surprisingly tart, as you will see:

"The movements of this young man," says The "Chronicle," are announced in the society columns of the press in this style: '(King Manuel has left for Eastbourne: King Manuel leaves London this afternoon for Liverpool.' In the first place, he is not "Kink Mauel," but is ex-King Manuel, and it is not very complimentary to our gallant republican ally, Portugal, to describe its ex-King as if he were still a ruling monarch. We have got into the habit of speaking of "the exTsar" and we should apply a similar phrase to the deposed King of Portugal, who, unlike the ex-Emperor, ran away from his throne and his country. Ex-King Manuel would prove himself more of a man and a patriot if he were to take some part in the war, fighting, for instance, with the Belgian army. (He is fit and twenty-eight). He was wounded last year—playing tennis at Eastborne!"

So Thankful.

"While my daughter was playing the piano last night a strange man pulled the doorbell and wanted to give her a half dollar."

"Must have been a great lover of music."

"No; he said it was a thank offering because he didn't live next door to us."—Boston Transcript.

SEGREGATION AT CAMP JACKSON

Thousands of Negro Recruits to Be Trained—Will Occupy Section to Themselves.

Columbia, Sept. 8.—That the races at Camp Jackson will be segregated if negro troops are to be trained here as seems now to be the determination of the War Department, was made known through an announcement today.

Washington dispatches some time ago stated that at least one separate regiment of negroes would be organized at each of the cantonments. The 40 per cent increment to be brought here on September 19, will bring thousands of negroes and in the total quota there will be a great deal more than enough for one regiment—in fact it seems now that there will be as many if not more negroes brought here from the three states under the draft than whites. In that case, the negroes at Camp Jackson will be organized into separate battalions and will be completely segregated from the white troops. They will have a section of the camp to themselves under the present plans.

PICNIC HAMS

23 1-2c. Lb.

These Hams are sugar cured; small sizes; little fat; fresh and delicious eating.

Cream of Wheat Flour

$1.75 per 24 lb. Bag.

As a high-grade pastry and light-bread Flour this delicious North Carolina product is offered as the equal of any flour at the price and in many instances superior to much higher priced flours.

Albermarle Flour

$1.90 per 24 lb. Bag.

This Flour is simply the last word in quality. Put it to the test. Try it at our risk. If it doesn't make the finest bread and rolls you ever had in your life, take what you used for nothing and send back the balance. If you know any better guarantee we could offer just name it.

Heinz Pickling Vinegar

39c Gallon.

Customers to furnish containers.

Standard Laundry Soap

5c Bar.

Same size and quality as other soaps selling for more money.

Manning Grocery Co.

The Beauty Secret.

Ladies desire that irresistible charm—a good complexion. Of course they do not wish others to know a beautifier has been used so they buy a bottle of

Magnolia Balm

LIQUID FACE POWDER

and use according to simple directions. Improvement is noticed at once. Soothing, cooling and refreshing. Hialeah, Fla.

5c. at Druggists or by mail direct. Pink, White, Rose-Red. Sample (either color) for 2c. Stamp. Lyon Mfg. Co., 40 South Fifth St., Brooklyn, N.Y.