HIGH GRADE OIL STRUCK ON NORTH DAKOTA PRAIRIES

Company Chartered to Drill Big Well—Wm. M. Bowen, a Stockholder, Has Detailed Information.

Oil of the highest quality has been struck in small quantities out on the prairies of North Dakota and a company formed and chartered under the strict blue sky of the state to engage in a general oil business in leasing, drilling and other operations in that line. The Des Laes Western Oil Company, which has its charter, has sunk test wells, employed best of geologists to examine and determine the reliability of the field for oil in commercial quantities and, is now about to sink a big well on the properties. It has about 30,000 acres under lease, several thousand dollars worth of casing on the ground, and 84-foot derrick constructed, and buildings for boarding men and other purposes built. The members of the company are sanguine that they will open one of the largest and most profitable oil fields in the country.

Wm. M. Bowen, a stockholder, has samples of the oil found, reports of geologists, names of prominent men endorsing the proposition and other stockholders who have purchased stock in the belief that the operations will be successful. He can impart any information to those who care to learn something of the proposition.

DAYTON HAWKINS, 19, COMMITS SUICIDE

Anderson, Nov. 20.—Dayton Hawkins, 19, employed as doffer in the Gluck mills, committed suicide this afternoon, firing a pistol bullet through his head. The bullet entered just in the rear of the right ear and came out on the left side above the ear. Death was instantaneous. Hawkins worked in the mill until a few minutes before he fired the shot. He was in his room alone at his boarding house. His mother and brother, who also live at the boarding house, are at a loss in understanding what caused him to commit the act.
