METHODIST MINISTERS RECEIVE APPOINTMENTS

Conference Adjourns at Bishopville After Very Successful Meeting—Appointments.

Bishopville, Nov. 25.—The 135th session of the South Carolina conference closed tonight after a very busy and valuable day of preaching and special song services in the city churches by visiting ministers.

The services at the Methodist church, the home of the conference at this session, were especially enjoyable to everybody and most gratifying to all the people of every faith in the city, in that it was the dedication services for their magnificent new building. The sermon was delivered by Bishop James Atkins, after which the brief but impressive services, setting aside the building for the services of God, were held.

At the services tonight, after the reading and adopting of resolutions of thanks to the people of Bishopville for the magnificent entertainment and thanking the bishop for many courtesies extended the ministers, the rendering of a special and magnificent song program by a specially trained choir, and a short fatherly talk by the bishop, the appointments for another conference year were read by Bishop Atkins.

Sanitary Dry Cleaning.

Quality is the First consideration With Us.

You've had your clothes come home smelling of gasoline, and you didn't like it. We didn't do that work. We don't do that kind. Your clothes leave our house perfectly cleaned, with no odor about them, and sanitary in every respect.

Then, too, our prices are very reasonable. Don't discard that old soiled suit until we have looked it over. A few cents may make it worth a few dollars.
