RAILWAYS FREE
FROM EXECUTIONS

No Settlement for Damages Will be Paid Through Lawyers But Direct to Person Maimed

According to a circular sent out by C. H. Markham, regional director of the Southern, a local counsel for the railway company, it is apparent that Uncle Sam does not seem disposed to furnish a meal ticket for the struggling young lawyer, or, in fact, to any well established member of the profession. In settling any claims for damages received by employees or others payment will be made direct to the attorneys. And no executions may be levied against property of the railways belonging to the government during the period of the war.

The circular, addressed to all railroads and terminal companies under government control, in the southern division, is as follows:

"The federal control act contemplates that suits for personal injuries may be brought as heretofore, but provides that executions may not be levied on the property of the carrier while in the possession of the government. This means that while a judgment may be recovered, it devolves upon him the responsibility of considering the merits of the claims and the persons to whom payment is made. It is the desire of the director general that justice shall be done to all employees who are injured in the discharge of their duties. This does not mean that verdicts based upon prejudice or passion shall be paid by the government; to attorneys and solicitors who have no claim upon the government. The right is reserved to consider the merits in determining what provision shall be made.

"It will be the policy of the government to discourage litigation, and to deal directly with injured persons to the end that the injured person may be given a chance to receive the benefit of any amount which the government pays, without the expense of litigation, and without being compelled to turn over one-third or one-half to an attorney. You may, therefore, rest assured that such claims will be considered on their merits.

"As to fee contracts. You are authorized to exercise a wise discretion, and are not required to make payment as provided therein, but only on such terms as will enable the person injured to receive just treatment. If the contract is unjust, you may pay the attorney such reasonable sum as will pay him for the services actually rendered."

BRITISH SALVAGE SHIPS
Reclaim 407 Vessels Sunk by German U-Boats

London, June 17.—From January, 1915, to the end of May, 1918, 407 ships sunk by the Germans in British waters have been salvaged, according to details of the admiralty salvage department, made public in the press today.

Up to December, 1917, 260 ships were recovered. In the present year to the end of May, 147 have been salvaged, the increase being due to improved methods and not to the greater activity of U-boats.

GERMAN PATROLS SMASHED
American Machine Gun Fire Too Much for Huns

With the American forces on the Marne, June 18.—Several German patrols which attempted last night to proach the American lines in the Marne sector were smashed by the accuracy of the American machine gun fire. One German patrol was almost wiped out.

Two German prisoners, who after escaping from a detention camp one hundred miles to the rear of the American front six days ago, wandered through woods and bushes and swam rivers in the night time, were captured last night in the American lines. The prisoners said they had traveled with comparative ease until they approached American territory where it became so hot that they could not cross to the German lines.

GET INFORMATION ABOUT RUSSIA
The American and French Ambassadors Are to Visit Moscow to Gather Data on Which the Cause of the Allies in Russia Can Be Determined

Washington, June 17.—A combination of developments all favoring intervention in Russia by the entente allies may force an immediate modification of the policy of non-interference recently suggested by President Wilson. A decision by which the United States will either agree to contribute troops to the proposed expedition, or restate opposition to the movement is expected shortly.

It is now admitted that the purpose of the visit of Ambassador Francis to Moscow is to get first-hand information by which President Wilson can be guided in determining a new course. The announcement that M. Lourens, the French ambassador, is also en route to Moscow, is believed to indicate that the American and French diplomatic representatives are working to the same purpose.

All information received at the State Department is to the effect that conditions within Russia are steadily growing worse. The latest reports show that the population of the Ukraine is threatening a wide revolt. Diplomats who are following Russian affairs closely assert the bolshevik authorities are rapidly losing influence. The visits of Nikolai Lenine to Berlin is believed to be for the purpose of appealing for German aid. Conditions which permit of such familiar intercourse between the bolshevik leader and the Berlin authorities cannot in any event be to the advantage of the allies, it is held.

In the White House, it is said, President Wilson is resolute in his purpose not to be stampeded into a reversal of policy. He has hesitated so far to make any move, due to the lack of trustworthy information from Russia. His greatest concern at the present time is to learn what extent the appeal filed in the State Department a few days ago by Ambassador Boris Bakmeteff for the central committee of the Constitutional party in Russia for intervention is representative of the nation.

It is expected that many of the questions involved in intervention will come before the cabinet tomorrow. In addition, a number of conferences will be held by the president during the next few days with diplomatic representatives who have been instructed by their governments to urge participation by the United States in an interallied expedition.

The French ambassador, M. Jules Jusserand, presented General Bethelot, an important representative of the French military service, in the white House today. General Bethelot came to the United States ostensibly to inspect French officers and soldiers engaged in training United States troops. The real purpose of the visit, however, is known to be in the interest of intervention in Russia.

REPORT FROM PERSHING
Tells of Repulse of Huns by Americans

Washington, June 7.—Repulse of local enemy attacks in the Woevre and in the Chateau Thierry region was reported in Gen. Pershing's communique for last night.

The communique follows:

Section A: This morning in the Woevre the enemy executed a local attack against the left of our positions. During the attack there was brisk artillery fighting. The assailants not only failed to penetrate our lines, but were thrown back, with severe losses, and left on our hands several prisoners, one of whom was an officer.

"In the region of Chateau Thierry two local attacks made by the enemy during the night on the line Boueche-Bois-de-Belleau were easily broken up. Artillery on both sides continue very active in the region and in Picardy.

"Section B: There is nothing to report in this section."

SIXTEEN STEEL VESSELS
Delivered to Shipping Board in Two Weeks

Washington, June 17.—Deliveries of steel ships to the shipping board in the first two weeks of June numbered sixteen, with a total deadweight tonnage of 89,162. Five of the sixteen were vessels built on contract for the shipping board and were one-third of the total contract steel vessels built to date. Eleven requisitioned vessels had a tonnage of 55,662, and the five contract vessels 33,500.

Atlantic coast ship yards turned out three of the steel ships, totalling 17,100 tons; Great Lakes yards eight of 26,362 tons, and Pacific coast yards five, of 45,700 tons.

Officials of the shipping board disclosed today that the ten fastest built steel ships of the war program have been constructed in an average time of 99 9-10 days, or slightly more than three months, compared with twelve months before the war.
