DRAFT BOARDS NOT BOUND BY NEW LIST

More Liberal Scheme Than Priority Classification Planned

GEN. CROWDER'S PROPOSAL

Registrant Exempted Only When Engaged in Occupation Boards Class as Essential

Washington, Sept. 9.—The new priorities classification of industry announced yesterday by the war industries board will not bind district draft boards in determining deferred classifications on occupational grounds of forty-five years who are to register Thursday. The boards may determine that other industries are necessary but in granting deferred classifications they must satisfy themselves that the industry is necessary and further that the individual registrant is essential to the industry.

The facts were disclosed by Provost General Crowder's plans for applying a more liberal occupational scheme in classifying the new registrants, which was made public today together with the complete text of the amended draft regulations and a supplement to the questionnaire explaining to registrants the sections in which facts relating to their classification should be noted. The regulations provide that advisory committee of three to each district board, one to be named by the department of agriculture and the third by the board itself, may introduce at hearings on deferred classifications the war industries board priorities list, but adds:

Not Binding

Such lists shall not be regarded as binding upon the district boards in its conclusions as to whether or not any particular industry, occupation, including agriculture is a necessary industry, occupation or employment within the meaning of the law and regulations, nor shall such lists prevent the district board from holding as necessary any industry occupation or employment including agriculture not contained therein. Such preference lists and other facts and information in the prosecution of such advisers will supplement the information in prosecution of the district boards and will also be used to assist the district boards in dealing with specific cases.

Completely Engaged

Detailing the method boards are to follow the regulations say a registrant shall be considered entitled to exemption only when "completely engaged" in an occupation the boards class as essential; when "the available supply of persons competent in the capacity is such that the registrant cannot be replaced without direct substantial material loss and detriment to the effective operation of the enterprise."

Further restricting the granting of deferred classification on industrial grounds the regulations notify boards that they should consider among other things the length of time a registrant has been in employment and become convinced before granting his claim that he "is not now so engaged for the primary purpose of avoiding military service."

Classifying Workmen

In general the regulations fix the place of a necessary workman in a necessary occupation in class 2; the place of an expert or assistant manager or divisional head in class 3, and the place of a sole manager or director in class 4.

The advisory committee to the draft boards are empowered to claim deferred classification for registrants who are entitled to it, but who for patriotic reasons may object to making the claim for themselves. Provost Marshal General Crowder has insisted that registrants entitled to such classifications should make the claim when filling out their questionnaire as a patriotic duty to prevent unnecessary work by the draft boards.

MOTHER KILLS DAUGHTER

Mrs. Neinstedt, Then Chloroforms Other Children

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Claire Madecie Neinstedt, of Brooklyn, said to be the daughter of Lieut. William Manning, U. S. N., early today shot and killed her eight-year-old daughter, Wilma, and chloroformed her two other children, Bernard, twelve, and Claire, ten, at a leading downtown hotel.

An elevator boy, answering a signal from the eleventh floor of the hotel, opened the door of the car to discover Mrs. Neinstedt, revolver in hand, standing in the hall, crying, "I've killed her," according to the police. The woman fell in a faint in the elevator.

At the hospital to which she was taken, together with the two drugged children, Mrs. Neinstedt is reported tonight to be in a dazed condition, professing to remember nothing of what transpired in the hotel room. Mrs. Neinstedt was granted a divorce in Detroit in May, 1917, from Bernard B. Neinstedt.
