FOREIGNERS—GOOD AND BAD.

In this country we have millions of foreigners—English, French, German, Austrian, Italian, Belgian, Swedish, Norwegian, Greek, Turkish, Japanese, Chinese, and of every other nationality. The great majority of these foreigners are conscientious and law abiding citizens.

They work.

There is also in this country another class of foreigners. They constitute the minority. They are not law abiding, and they are not citizens.

THEY AGITATE.

And because of the wild eyed bolshevistic vaporings of these anarchistic wind jammers and destroyers our country of late has been in a constant state of turmoil.

This continual unrest and uncertainty are curtailing production, undermining efficiency and alienating the loyalty of many good men.

It must cease.

Labor and capita! must get together on a sane and reasonable working basis, where the division of profits will be fair to both sides.

But this will never be accomplished by allowing a braying minority to usurp the authority which belongs to a sane majority.

Men of intelligence and integrity do not care to take orders from illiterate and irresponsible foreigners whose only claims to leadership are a misguided conscience and a pair of leather lungs.

Brains, not noise, must prevail if we are to live in peace and plenty in this country.

"GET A JOB; GO TO WORK."

Wholesome advice to the negroes of the South, especially those who have seen service in the army, and the more especially those who have returned from France, is contained in a letter to the Savannah Morning News from one of their own race, a former soldier and one who himself saw service in France.

Summed up in a word, the advice of this negro, who when he received his discharge from the service returned to the town from which he entered the army and to the job he gave up to fight for America, is simply "Get a Job; Go to Work." As a matter of fact, these are his words.

Sam Overstreet is his name. Sergeant Overstreet he was in the army. On his discharge appears the word "excellent." He made a good soldier, which he attributes to the fact of his obedience to his superior officers and his respect for them. As chauffeur for a staff officer he drove a car 30,000 miles on the Western front.

Sam has written his letter in the third person and it is given prominence on the editorial page of the Savannah paper. He says he has studied the present situation here and elsewhere "and that the biggest portion of this race trouble is caused by a misunderstanding between the races." He urges "each and every negro to the idea that he can live in peace and harmony, and this is no time for foolishness, but to get a job and go to work." "Those that have jobs," says Sam, "should hold them, and those that haven't got them should get them, the sooner the better."

"There never was a day or time," continues, "when the white people were any more willing to help the negro in any way they know, but don't look for them to carry you around in a silver waiter because you went to France. Our own color won't do that. But know, but don't look for them to carry you around in a silver waiter will get all the help you want. The white people are proud of the negro and the record he made and are willing to help him, but he must know his place and stay there. Social things will take care of themselves."

Applying this principle to himself, it has worked, this negro adds. The man for whom he worked before he entered the service not only gave him a job when he returned home, but gave him a better job than he had before.

If the negroes of the South would harken to the practical advice of this member of their own race, one who lives and has his being in the South and who knows actual conditions as they exist down here, instead of following of after strange gods, absorbing the poisonous teaching of malcontents who preach to them from beyond the Mason and Dixon's line, racial trouble would be confined to that section of the country and the white man and the negro would live together in peace and prosperity in the South.

In his admonition, "Get a Job; Go to Work," there is likewise some mighty good advice for the whites as well as the negroes.

IMMIGRANTS ARE HELD UP

New York Oct. 21.—A copy of Ponce De Leon's grant of Florida by the King of Spain was shown to immigration officials today by four Colombian women, but it failed to qualify them for admission to the United States from France in lieu of the papers prescribed by immigration department regulations.

Evidence of possible ownership of an entire Commonwealth of the United States, acquired by inheritance from the seeker of the Fountain of Youth, was no sufficient identification for the immigration inspectors. The officials ruled that the women and thirty-one other passengers must stay aboard the steamship La Houraine because they had not filled out "Form 228."

An appeal has been made to the State Department to permit the embargoed passengers to land. The Colombians include Senora Teresa De Tanco, wife of the former Colombian minister to Peru and sister of the minister to England.

FRENCHMEN TO FACE TRIAL

Paris, Oct. 21.—Joseph Caillaux, the French politician accused of giving intelligence to the enemy, will appear before the French Senate, constituted as a high court, on Thursday for trial, but it is possible that the actual trial may be deferred until after the elections owing to the desires of many Senators.

Prosecutor Lescouve will request an immediate trial, merely asking the time necessary to summon witnesses from America by cable, in which case November 17 might be decided upon as the date on which the debate would begin.

FORTY BODIES RECOVERED

Penzance, England, Oct. 21.—Forty bodies have already been recovered from the Levant mine at St. Just, Cornwall, as the result of a disaster caused by the collapse of the main winding engine while 150 men were being lowered into the mine. It is probable that other persons were killed. Dozens of the miners were injured.

It was the greatest disaster in the history of mining in Cornwall. Nearly all of the entire underground force of the mine were in the elevator at the time of the accident.
