GRAND JURY STARTS BASE BALL PROBE

To Investigate Alleged Gambling by Players

OFFICIALS SUBPOENAED

"Rube" Benton Only Player Summoned
Before Quiz Board in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Grand jury investigation of alleged gambling by baseball players in last year's world's series and in the game between the Chicago and Philadelphia National League clubs August 31, will start Wednesday, with a score of baseball officials, players and writers subpoenaed to testify.

Subpoenas were issued tonight for the following persons to appear before the grand jury.

Byron Baneroff Johnson, president of the American League; John Heydler, president of the National League; William ("Kid") Gleason, manager of the Chicago American League club; Charles A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago American League club; William L. Veeck, president of the Chicago National League club; Jacob ("Rube") Benton, pitcher for the New York Giants; Bert E. Collyer and Frank O. Cline, both of Chicago and well-known sport writers; Harvey Woodruff sports editor of the Chicago Tribune; Sam Hall, sports editor of the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

May Call Hall Chase

Subpoenas for additional players probably will be issued before the investigation begins, said R. A. Replogle, who is working as prosecutor, under direct orders from Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald, of the Criminal Court. He declared that Hal Chase, Lee Magee and Heinie Zimmerman all former major league players, probably would be called.

When asked why Benton was the only player called thus far, Mr. Replogle said he "believed Benton had information the grand jury needed" and that Benton would be asked "to tell what a certain player asked him to do."

The grand jury will not be given and quantity of evidence concerning baseball pools, he said, but every attempt will be made to "get into the real gambling—the throwing of games by star players."

It became known tonight that the committee of baseball writers appointed to investigate charges that the Chicago-Philadelphia National League game referred to by the grand jury had been "fixed" for Philadelphia to win had done little thus far, Sam Hall, sports editor of the Herald and Examiner, refused to take part in the investigation, saying he could not spare the time.

Heydler Ordered Out

Telegrams were sent tonight to President Heydler and Benton ordering them to come before the jury Wednesday.

Shortly before the news of the investigation by the grand jury became public here Johnson made a statement in which he said the American League will ask Congress to enact a law at its next session making betting on a baseball game a penitentiary offense.

President Johnson said the league would ask that this law be made as severe as possible and worded so as to eliminate all baseball pools. Only in this way, he said, could gambling be definitely eliminated from baseball.

"The federal government should interest itself in this matter," said President Johnson. "The public believes in the integrity of baseball and it should be protected by federal laws."

POINTERS ON HARVESTING SWEET POTATOES

Clemson College, September 21.—In order that sweet potatoes may be harvested to best advantage the following pointers are suggested by Geo. P. Hoffman, Extension Service horticulturist.

1. Harvest when mature and before frost injury.

2. Remove vines, by any means that will not injure potatoes, and only so much as can be dug each day.

3. In case of frost, cut the vines at the main stem before thawing or freezing again, and let the potatoes stand until weather permits digging.

4. Harvest with the standard two-horse potato plow or the ordinary turn plow.

5. Plow deep to reduce the percentage of cut and bruised potatoes.

6. Remove the harvest of each day from the field and place in storage.
