My baby conferences this month have been a real source of pleasure to me. Three were held in communities where no work pertaining to Public Health had ever been attempted. The results far exceeded my fondest expectations. In two of the communities the amount of illiteracy is appalling (scarcely a handful of the parents can sign their own name) and yet when I went to help them and told them the need for a conference they were more than glad to help me with one. In these two communities there was no chairman and after locating some one who seemed public spirited I called for a meeting of a committee—and I was not disappointed. The conferences in both places were all that I could ask and parents and visitors were delighted with the conferences.

In the third place mentioned, I held a conference (the first of its kind in that locality) and everybody responded with splendid co-operation and we had a large family of babies. The mothers and fathers seemed so glad to have the opportunity to learn how to care for their little ones. The co-operation of physicians and committees has made me feel that I am truly blest in having such fine people to work with.

The fourth conference was held in Gables—we had an excellent day and my committee and physician worked untiringly in their efforts to make it a grand success; and it surely was. In this locality, my committee did all the home visiting and preparing the building for the meeting, while I was working up a conference in another locality. This was a great help to me. We have quite a bit of typhoid just now and we are urging all to take the vaccine. While I am attending, there are a number of cases where a private nurse is on the case.

My T. B. Patients are all doing nicely with one exception. This is a colored woman and was in the last stage when I commenced calling on her. The family is taking every precaution possible. Both of my babies with enteritis are doing nicely and will pull through unless something unexpected happens. Our plans for the T. and A. Clinic are progressing. The date has not been set as yet, but I am glad we are going to have one, it is needed so badly.

Respectfully,
Miss Ruth Moore,
Public Health Nurse, Clarendon County.

SHERIFF CHASES ESCAPED CONVICT

Appell Davis, who was convicted of murder in Sumter county about ten years ago and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary, escaped from the penitentiary about three years ago. He went to his father's home, Thomas Davis, at Davis Station Saturday morning and Monday Messrs. Peavy and Gamble went out to arrest him. As they drove up in the front yard he went out the back way. He was chased through the fields and woods and several shots were fired at him, and the sheriff, Mr. Gamble, says he is sure that some of the shots hit him. He was followed for about two miles and finally all trace of him was lost in the woods.

MANNING MAY HAVE A GRAIN ELEVATOR

A movement is on foot to secure a grain elevator for Manning. Many people do not know what a grain elevator is; it performs the same service for a community that a cotton gin does, that is it puts the raw product in marketable condition. The manager of a grain elevator buys in the shuck from the farmer and by putting it through the various sucking and cleaning machines he has a finished product that can be sold any time. Here are a few of the main arguments pertaining to a grain elevator:

The cost of an elevator is small from $6,000.00 upwards according to capacity. The operating capital required is also small, because the product being standard and the price subject to exchange quotations, it is the best basis for Bank loans. The Elevator provides a cash market for corn, and all other Grains, thus stimulating their production. It handles them in the most economical way, thus enabling the operator to pay a good price, and still have a satisfactory profit after selling. By cleaning and grading its products it imparts to them a value they would not otherwise possess. By assuring the farmer a market for any surplus, he may have left it encourages him to raise corn for feed to livestock and thereby increases the quantity and value of the latter. It can utilize the husks and sweepings from the building for cattle and hog feed.

It becomes a basis for various "Side Lines" such as milling of corn and feed, feeding of cattle, handling of fertilizer, and etc., which help the farmer and the community and provides an extra profit for the elevator. It opens a market for oats, wheat and rye which are winter grains and can be harvested in time to be followed by summer crops, thus keeping the land at work all the year round, and improving its quality by a rotation of crops.

It brings business to the Banks and the railroads and cash to the community. It preserves corn from rats, weevil and moisture. It can handle peanuts, peas and beans in the most economical way.

No elevator "Properly Constructed" located, managed, has failed to return a substantial profit to its owners. Elevator owners say that, even if they received no dividends, they would be satisfied with their investment on account of the indirect benefit they receive through the improvement in the business conditions in the community.

TONSIL CLINIC DETAILS BEING ARRANGED

Dr. J. A. Hayne was in Manning Monday in conference with the Physicians of Clarendon County in regard to the Tonsil and Adenoid Clinic which will be held in Manning beginning July 26th. A majority of the Physicians of the County were present and they unanimously expressed their approval of the Clinic and of the plans proposed for carrying it out, and offered their fullest co-operation. Clarendon County is to be congratulated on having such a public spirited body of doctors. They agreed to have one of their number always present during the day at the school building, to act as house physician, without charge. One or more physicians will take charge of the patients during the night, remaining in the building; but if some of the parents wish to make their own arrangements with their family physician they can do so. Dr. Hayne was enthusiastic over the proposition and stated that for tonsil and adenoid operations the patient would receive better care and attention at the Clinic here than at most of the hospitals in the state, and that it would be as safe and well equipped as a hospital for this work. While here he inspected the school building and gave specific instructions about its preparation and equipment. The committees appointed had a meeting Monday night and all have gone earnestly to work so that everything will be carried out properly, and all arrangements made.

The local committee feared that in order to have six nurses they would have to employ three, but Dr. Hayne said that if there were under his control three additional nurses that could be spared for this work that he would furnish them also, without cost.

The people of Clarendon County are to be congratulated on having this work done at home by first class specialists under conditions as good or better than could be obtained in a hospital at a cost of about TWENTY DOLLARS; when to carry a child to a hospital would entail a cost of from sixty dollars to over one hundred dollars.

Application blanks are being sent out and a number have expressed their intention to have the work done. Patients are being registered in the order in which their applications are received, and those having children needing attention should see to the matter at once.

MUST HAVE WARRANT TO BECOME EMPLOYEE

Lynchburg, Va., July 12.—A government revenue agent or prohibition agent not armed with a warrant for search or seizure is not an employee of the government at the time, was the ruling in district court here today of Federal Judge Henry C. McDowell.

The case under argument was that against J. M. Page and Grattan Massie of Nelson county, indicted on a charge of shooting at a squad of federal officers. Counsel for the defense entered demurrer on the ground that at the time of the raid the officers had no warrants, and, therefore, were not in government employ. TRUSTEE CONVENTION HAD SUCCESSFUL MEETING

The trustee convention held here yesterday was a success in every respect. However there were several Boards not even represented, and who will lack the spirit and enthusiasm caught by those who did attend, and who will find it much more difficult to perform the various duties prescribed than had they been present to absorb it first handed.

The Compulsory School Attendance Law was read as a whole, after which the provisions of the law were discussed more in particular, especially those parts having to do with the duties devolving upon the various trustee Boards. The best spirit that appeared was that there was no inclination shown to evade the law or to attempt to get out of doing what the law requires.

The following are some of the items of business acted and declared upon. The County Superintendent of Education was authorized on his suggestion to have printed cards or posters to be posted throughout the County giving notice to parents to make proper census report to the trustees on July 31st as the law requires. These cards to be sent to each Board to be posted by them in all conspicuous places.

The trustees went on record as opposing the law under its present form, and will ask our delegation next year to make the effort to simplify and improve the law.

The two methods of operation now provided for briefly stated is to provide for a general attendance officer to look after the entire County, or by the trustees under the provisions of the act to arrange for their own local management. It was decided that the trustees of the school districts provide for their own attendance officers, either by doing the work or employing some one in the district to look after it. In connection with this matter it was shown that the County Superintendent would be compelled to have help during the four Compulsory months, and it was recommended that the county delegation and county Board provide clerical help during that period.

The trustees decided to meet again in the fall on the date some teachers meeting falls thus having a joint meeting.

The County Superintendent explained the requirements to be met in order to get the equalizing aid offered by the state. He also called to the attention of the trustees the report of the grand jury relative to the abuse of school property by miscreants. It was decided to require a larger daily session than prevails in many schools, especially these that close at 2 o'clock or earlier. No session to be continued later than 3 or 4 o'clock. In other words an ideal session that shall have not less than five or six hours actually devoted to class room work exclusive of recesses.

INTERESTING MEETING OF MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The July meeting of the Paxville Methodist Woman's Missionary Society was held at the hospitable home of Mrs. W. R. Keels, on Wednesday afternoon, July 6th. There was a large crowd in attendance. In the absence of the president, Miss Jesse Curtis, Mrs. J. W. Mims, Jr., presided. After the devotional and business, Mrs. W. R. Keels gave a very interesting account of the district meeting which was held at Elliott. Among many other things, she told of three girls, who at that meeting offered themselves for service on the mission field.

The topic for the afternoon was, "Three Great Missionary Leaders in China—Mary Lambeth, Laura Haygood, and Helen Richardson." Those missionaries and their work were discussed respectively by Misses Ethel Corbett, Daisy Corbett, and Iva Goddings. Miss Lucile Goddings gave message from the McTyre girls.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the program was a contest, "An Evening with Our Missionaries in China," in which we became acquainted with and very much interested in our missionaries there. The prize was won by Miss Ethel Corbett. At the conclusion of the program a musical hour was enjoyed during which our hostess served delicious ice cream and cake.

NO JURY YET

Chicago, July 12.—The first venire of 100 men was exhausted today with only four jurors selected in the trial of the indicted White Sox players and a new venire was ordered into court tomorrow when efforts to complete the jury will be resumed. The slowness with which the jurors are being accepted led Judge Hugo Friend to warn both state and defense that unless more speed was shown he would order night sessions of court.
