GRAIN ELEVATOR PLANS EXPLAINED

What a grain elevator is, how it operates, how it solves the problems that confront a community where the boll weevil arrived, were the subjects discussed at a meeting held Monday at the Court House. Mr. W. W. Brandon of Marianna, Fla., and Mr. E. T. H. Shaffer of Walterboro, were present to address the meeting largely made up of Manning business men. Mr. Brandon, an elderly man of wide experience in the grain business and a builder of twenty-two elevators in the South, gave an interesting account of the way the elevator had helped in Marianna and other places.

"In 1916," he said, "the cotton crop around Marianna was a total failure. Not one bale was ginned. Things were in desperate condition. That year we decided to put up an elevator and in 1917 we shipped out 64 carloads of corn. Several of these went to Chicago and were the first corn that had ever been shipped to the North from the South. The grain elevator offers a cash market at home for corn, peanuts, velvet beans, oats and other grains. It is the surest way known of combating the depression that falls on a community when the cotton crop fails."

Mr. Shaffer explained in detail the operation of the grain elevator. Corn is brought to the plant in the truck. The wagon is automatically unloaded and in all the process of churning, shelling, cleaning, storing and loading the corn in the cars human hands do not touch the product. This is the only way grain can be handled in large quantities economically.

Mr. Shaffer gave the costs of operation and possible profits from a grain elevator. The business men were unanimous in declaring that such a plant is badly needed in Manning. The cost of an elevator ranges from $6000.00 upwards. A large part of the capital required can be borrowed but so far no one has come forward to undertake the venture.

Any one desiring more definite information regarding the elevator—what it can do, what it can pay, should communicate with A. L. Luce at the Clarendon Motor Co.

TWENTY MILLIONS NEAR STARVATION

Berlin, July 17.—Twenty million persons are on the verge of starvation in drought stricken sections of Russia, subsisting mainly on moss, grass and bark of trees, according to the Vossische Zeitung which quotes information from "reliable Russian sources."

Refugees are reported to be pouring into Moscow and Petrograd by the thousands and to be fleeing hopelessly in every direction. The parched earth, it is reported, is opening great crevasses and wells and rivers are drying up.

Cattle in the stricken districts have been slaughtered to provide food, but it is believed impossible to borers present, they should be removed by taking a knifeblade and cutting out, or boring out with a wire.

Pulling the Mound Down

The mounds should be torn down from the 1st. to 15th. of October, and the trees examined for the borer. The presence of the borer will be noted by the exudation of gum, and may be easily removed with a knife, or wire.

After the trees have been worked, a second coat of trunk wash, made as directed, should be applied and then wood ashes are available, two to three quarts may be applied around the base of the tree.

It is very important that this mound be pulled down at the proper time; otherwise, it will be detrimental to the growth of the trees, as it furnishes an excellent place for the borer to work.

RESCUE PASSENGERS FROM STRANDED SHIP

Ogdenburg, N. Y. July 17.—A small boat connected with land by a heavy cable hauled 329 tourists passengers through raging waters of the St. Lawrence to safety today as they were being led from the steamer, Rapids King, the Canadian Steamship line which went on the rocks Saturday in Long Sault rapids.

The cable was attached to the tiny craft because it was feared that if the boat were turned loose, or even had a large boat been used, the churning waters would have swept it away.

After the passengers were landed makeshift repairs were made upon the vessel, which had broken her rudder chain before being dashed against the rocks.

METHODS OF COMBATING THE PEACH TREE BORERS

The peach tree borer, which is a small white larva, causes much damage to the orchards in South Carolina. It bores into the body of the tree just below the surface of the ground, in many instances the trees are completely girdled, which weakened condition offers ideal conditions for the destructive work of the short hole borer. A simple and practical method of control for the peach tree borer is by "mounding" or throwing up dirt around the trunks of the trees to a height of ten to twelve inches—(10 to 12 inches.)

Time—The trees should be "mounded" from the first to the fifteenth of July.

Preparatory to mounding, a coat of trunk wash should be applied by washing the trunk of the tree from the branches downward. This keeps the tree in a healthy condition and repels insects and diseases.

Standard Trunk Wash

Lump Lime 20 lbs.
Soap (Whale oil, homemade, or ordinary Laundry 3 lbs.
Sulphur 4 lbs.
Water 20 gals.

Making The Wash

Shave the soap finely and dissolve in three gallons of hot water. Make a thin paste of sulphur and add to the soap solution, and while the lime is slaking (in half barrel) the solution of soap and sulphur is poured over it, and the whole quantity is diluted to make twenty-five gallons, which is a sufficient quantity to wash 200 to 300 trees, 6 to 8 years old.

This wash is very inexpensive, and may be easily applied by the use of a paint brush.

Method of Mounding

Pull or throw the earth up around the base of the tree to a height of ten to twelve inches, which when settled will be about eight inches high. This may be done either by the use of a shovel or ordinary hoe.

The trees should be examined before "mounding" and if there are any
