

SOUTHERN POWER COMPANY TO BUILD LINES INTO CLINTON

CONTRACT SIGNED BY CITY; WORK TO START AT ONCE

Conference Here Friday Results In Signing of Contract by City and Manufacturing Industries—Hope to Have Work Completed By Next November.

A contract has been signed by the city with the Southern Power Company to extend its lines into Clinton in the near future. This action followed a conference held in the city last Friday afternoon between John W. Fox, engineer of the power department, and the city council. It is proposed to furnish power to the city as well as its manufacturing industries, and the lines will be built from Newberry by Goldville and into Clinton. It is their intention to circle around the city, the lines probably to be built direct from Goldville to Lydia Cotton Mills, thence to a point near the Clinton Cotton Mills where they will tap with the city. The cost of erecting the line, making the connections, etc., with the city, are all to be met by the Southern Power Company, and according to estimates from their engineering department, it will cost approximately $225,000 to build the extension into Clinton.

Mr. Fox arrived in the city early Friday morning and went into conference with the heads of the Clinton Cotton Mills, Lydia Cotton Mills, and Banna Manufacturing Company of Goldville. The contract and arrangements were agreed upon by all parties as satisfactory and along with the city, these industries, the large consumers of the community, will be served by the Southern Power Company.

In the afternoon Mr. Fox held a conference with the city council at which time the contract was discussed and thoroughly explained. Members of council expressed themselves as highly pleased with the "fair and equitable contract secured and the pleasant relations with Mr. Fox. The following contract rate, based upon monthly consumption, was entered into with the Southern Power Company for a period of five years:

K. W. Hrs. Per Month	Per K. W. Hr.
First 50,000	1.54 cents
Next 50,000	1.485 cents
Next 50,000	1.43 cents
Next 50,000	1.375 cents
Next 100,000	1.32 cents

Following the conference, Engineer Fox expressed himself as pleased with the cordial reception he had received both from the city and the directing heads of the mills. He stated that the Southern Power Company had for a long time desired to extend its lines into Clinton and that present enlargement of their properties in the Carolinas makes it now possible. He stated that orders would be placed immediately for material and that in all probability the work of construction would be completed and the serving of this section begun by his company not later than the first of next November.

COMMERCIAL CLUB FILES PROTEST AGAINST SALES TAX

An emergency meeting of the board of directors of the Commercial Club was called Tuesday afternoon in the secretary's office to take action in regard to the proposed law for the imposition of a sales tax. Opposition to the sales tax since it was advocated, has been growing throughout the State by leaps and bounds among the merchants who feel that it would work a great injustice through the fact that the tax pyramids, and that its imposition would drive a great deal of business out of the State, giving to competing States a tremendous advantage. The opinion was expressed that the strongest sort of an appeal against the passage of the bill should be made.

A meeting was held in Columbia yesterday for the purpose of hearing protests against the proposed tax

Little Accomplished By Legislature

So Far As Fiscal Matters Are Concerned, It Would Seem, It Has Just Met.

Columbia, March 3.—The fact that no quorum of the Senate was present tonight means that the reporting of the appropriation bill will be delayed. It was almost ready to be reported out tonight. The fact that there will be a State wide conference here Wednesday to discuss the proposed sales tax may mean that the appropriation bill may not come before the Senate for discussion until after that date.

In fact, so far as fiscal legislation is concerned, it appears that the General Assembly has just met. The House finance bill carrying appropriations of a million and a half in excess of last year means that the House or the Senate must dig up the wherewith, or the General Assembly must back track on expenditures. It would be unpardonable to make appropriations in excess of the revenue. This State and Massachusetts have the best credit, it is said, of all the states in the Union, and it would not do now to imperil that credit. Claude N. Sapp, chairman of the ways and means committee, comes out in a statement in which he wants to know if it is not to be a sales tax what will it be?

"The money must come from somewhere. If a better plan is possible we must know it," he said.

Mr. Sapp says in the statement that Governor McLeod's opposition to raising the State levy heads the Legislature off in that direction. The increased appropriations include $400,000 for Confederate pensions and $1,200,000 for public schools. He does not see how these items can be omitted from the bill.

"Electrical Show" Pleases Audience

Glenn Morris Stages Scientific Demonstration As Lyceum Attraction.

A large audience greeted Glenn Morris Tuesday evening when he presented an electrical and scientific demonstration in the orphanage chapel as one of the numbers on this season's lyceum course. His lecture-demonstration dealt entirely with electricity, explaining its inconceivable possibilities in simple and non-technical language. Mr. Morris has a remarkable collection of electrical apparatus with which he produces a succession of astounding effects that amaze and thrill his audience. He was assisted in the entertainment by several local boys and these young "amateurs" kept everybody in a laughing mood as they clearly demonstrated their fright and uneasiness as to what would happen next.

The Swat Season Is Here Again

Johnson's Ball Players Begin Loosening and Oiling Up for Approaching Season.

(By H. J. Hindman) All seasons have their own individual signs, so it has been decreed since the beginning of time. And now, the season of the swat does not come unheralded. Spring fever, March winds, and summer suns have announced the opening of festivities on Johnson field down at P. C.

Last Monday Coach Walter Johnson took his squad en masse for a general loosening and oiling up. Among Boss Johnson's best that can be called ball players of an advanced stage are three catchers, four pitchers, six outfielders and five outfielders.

Captain Roy Moore will direct the team from behind the plate. Moore is one of the best amateur catchers in the State. Last year he hit above the three century mark, and this year he seems to follow the pill on its course from pitcher to plate with more precision than ever. The pitching staff claims Lewis, a seasoned veteran of three years, and Hannah a portside of two seasons. These lads will have quite a burden to shoulder unless some phenomenon bobs up from somewhere.

Miller will act his usual role about first base. Holladay at second and J. Moore at short seems to be the best keystone combination that the Presbyterian Coach can formulate. Warner handles the hot ones in nice style at third. Hunter, Norton, Rickner, Garvin, and Clinton will furnish the outposts.

The team last year rivaled the one time White Sox "Hitless Wonders." Coach Johnson is not given to procrastinating and he wants to know the "wait and see" mood. He thinks though that his team will develop materially in the use of the stick. If so, they will furnish spirited opposition to South Carolina's best college clubs, for the Blue Stocking defense looks good. But—"wait and see," says Sir Walter.

Laurens, March 4.—The Laurens Business League at its regular monthly meeting and banquet held tonight with more than 100 members and a number of guests in attendance went on record in no uncertain terms against the sales tax bill that has been introduced in the state Legislature.

The resolution adopted providing for the appointment of a committee of five from the body to meet tomorrow in Columbia with like representatives to make protest to the passage of the proposed measure. The occupational tax proposal was also denounced. Included in the

WARNING SOUNDED SOUTHERN FARMERS

Cotton States Representatives Urge Against Big Cotton Acreage Coming Year.

Washington, Mar. 1.—A warning to Southern farmers that "creation of an enormous cotton acreage this spring would establish a foundation for further deflation of cotton values" was issued today following a meeting of Senators and Congressmen from cotton growing States. Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, presided.

"As representatives of the cotton States," the statement said, "we feel impelled to issue this note of warning to the cotton growing industry and in behalf of the welfare of the growers, upon whose success and prosperity depends the progress and full development of one-third of the American nation."

Announcing that definite action already has been inaugurated to investigate the cotton report issued February 1, the conference declared the value of cotton had "suffered a severe and drastic relapse" as a result of that estimate and assured cotton farmers of their united aid in the enactment of "sound federal legislation to alleviate existing conditions."

"In the face of constantly diminishing supplies," the statement continued, "of increased exports and heavy domestic consumption a buyers' panic has been created in the cotton goods trade as a result of recent declines in the price of the raw product. The present price of spot cotton in the local markets of the South is below the estimated average cost of production. Foreign and domestic mills consuming American cotton have by agreement or industrial action begun widespread curtailment by operating their spindles on half-time or four days a week. The demand for cotton staple fabrics by retail merchants is being limited to immediate need according to reports of the jobbing and wholesale trade.

"In addition to the above, representations are being spread broadcast through the press and other sources of publicity that the cotton acreage for 1924 will be largely increased over the acreage planted in 1923, not only the United States but in many foreign countries. An increased cotton acreage under the existing drastic decline in the price of raw cotton and pessimistic dry goods trade is a matter which should command the serious attention of cotton growers in the Southern States before it is too late to correct an economic error.

"As representatives of the cotton State in Congress, we feel impelled to issue this note of warning to the cotton growing industry and in behalf of the welfare of the growers, upon whose success and prosperity depend the progress and financial development of one-third of the nation. We view with deepest concern the continued depression in market values of staple farm products, the increasing burdens of debt on American farmers and the wide-spread exodus of farm labor from the field to industrial centers. The fullest support of Southern Senators and Congressmen is urged.
