NEW STAFF FOR COLLEGE PAPER

Directing Heads For The Blue Stocking Named For Year. W. J. Macfarlan Editor-in-Chief.

At a meeting of the Presbyterian College student body held during the past week, the retiring staff of The Blue Stocking made recommendations for the directing heads for the ensuing year. W. J. Macfarlan, of Darlington, was named as editor-in-chief; Thomas Grafton, of Shanghai, China, as managing editor, and R. V. Sapp, of Rock Hill, as business manager.

Those to be associated with these three in the publication of the "weekly" have been named, and the first issue appearing under their management last Saturday afternoon was highly creditable in every respect.

The new editor-in-chief has been connected with The Blue Stocking for the past three years, first as proof-reader and later as head of the circulation department. In both of these capacities he performed his duties efficiently and his selection by the student body came in recognition of his excellent work in the past.

The managing editor, T. H. Grafton, has been promoted from athletic editor and in remuneration of his services he was named as Macfarlan's running-mate in the editorial department.

R. V. Sapp, as business manager, is a bundle of energy and has contributed largely to the business end of the paper in the past. In recognition of his labors, he was promoted by his fellow students.

The complete staff for the new year is as follows:

Editorial staff: W. J. Macfarlan, editor-in-chief; T. H. Grafton, managing editor; J. B. Cousar and J. W. Chidsey, associate editors; H. R. Dickson and Neil Stevens, athletic editors; G. L. Cunningham, local editor; I. M. Bagnal, exchange editor; T. F. Wallace, social editor; A. R. Moore, joke editor; Eddie McCaskill, alumni editor.

Business staff: R. V. Sapp, business manager; J. J. Cornwall and G. W. Gilmer, advertising managers; Nall Bright and J. S. McFall, circulation managers; H. T. Swedenburg and T. LaMotte, proofreaders; J. P. Phillips, assistant circulation manager.

HOW RICH IS AMERICA? 100 LITTLE PIGS. ALSO VASSAR GIRLS. WORK AND LIVE.

How much do you think the United States is worth, all together, in thousands of millions of dollars?

According to the Census Bureau, all the property in the United States three years ago, amounted to about $320,803,862,000. That means 320 times one thousand million dollars, with 803 millions to spare.

It's a great deal of money, but you may be sure that it's much less than the United States is worth. Properly developed, the State of Texas will be worth more than the total "wealth of the United States" as now estimated.

Nobody has the faintest idea what the real wealth of this country amounts to. In ten years the total wealth according to the figures above, has increased more than seventy-two per cent. Give this nation fifty million more inhabitants, intelligent, willing to work, and they would raise the value of the nation's property five hundred per cent in half a generation.

A boy sends this information to the United States Agricultural Department. Five years ago, when he was in the public school, he bought a pure-bred pig, female, eight weeks old. Since then his pig has added 100 small pigs to the earth's porcine population. The little boy writes: "She paid for my clothes, three years in high school and gave me some spending money also. I am now in my second year in college and she is still doing the same."

This boy has joined the "better sires—better stock" campaign, and will work hard to improve the pig breed.

If it were possible to improve human breed as easily as we improve cattle or swine, civilization would progress rapidly. Unfortunately, eugenicists make little progress. But something might be done.

That proud mother of 100 little pigs in five years never smoked cigarettes or drank cocktails. And the father or fathers did not set before their sons the example of bootleg law breaking and contempt for the constitution.

Dear young ladies of Vassar College, with beautiful, tall foreheads, nimble feet, and nimble minds, tell what they think of tobacco. 433 say they like cigarettes, 524 never smoke. No matter what you may think of women smoking, how would you answer this question?

Which will be married first, the 433 girls that smoke cigarettes, or the 524 that don't smoke cigarettes? And which will make the best mothers?

Men have spent most of their time on earth fighting and murdering each other. But the real job of the human race is to fight against and conquer Nature.

Every canal dug, desert irrigated, swamp drained, is a victory in the really important war.

Canada is growing rapidly. Up there they welcome good immigrants. Here we discourage immigration.

What is more important even than immigration is human happiness and independence. Canadians attend to that. In Canada 92 per cent of farmers own their own farms. In the United States, only 62 per cent own their land, the others are tenants paying rent.

The nation in which those that cultivate the land own the land on which they live grow in strength. The power of France is due largely to the fact that Frenchmen own their land. That small country has more than six million land owners, a great improvement on the days of monarchy, when a handful of nobles, ecclesiastics and royal princes were the land owners.

Lorenz Koenig, aged seventy-two, devotes his working hours to stacking shingles in a lumber yard at Omaha. He inherits $115,000, but goes on packing shingles. "If I quit, I'd die," he says, and he'll give the money to his children. Perhaps the habit of hard work hasn't got as firm a hold on them as it has on him.

Our life depends on the glands. Our happiness depends on habit. We are more like machines wound up and set running than creatures of free will.

COLLINS STILL ALIVE IN CAVE

"Breathing" Sounds Heard Through Test. Hopes High That He Will Be Reached In Few Hours.

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 11.—Rescuers early today believed they were only a few feet from a sand strata or tunnel into which they can dig their way to Floyd Collins, the imprisoned cave man, in a short time. A small cleft around the 40-foot mark was too narrow to pursue and digging straight through the bottom of the rescue shaft is the program.

Several hours digging will be required to reach the soft strata previously indicated between 40 and 45 feet below the surface by the diamond drill and along which the rescuers will work their way into Collins' cave.

Small Fumes
Cave City, Ky., Feb. 10.—Strong fumes of banana oil tonight came through the bottom of the rescue shaft boring downward to Floyd Collins' prison and officials in charge of the work had high hopes of finding a tunnel or crevice through which they might reach the imprisoned man by dawn tomorrow.

The shaft tonight at 8 o'clock was something over 40 feet, according to unofficial estimates. The banana oil was sprayed down the original Sand cave tunnel Saturday night, and the geologists and mining experts searched caves in the vicinity for scent laden air but without avail. There has been a noticeable down draft in the tunnel despite the rock slide which prevented rescuers from further attempts of rescue in that manner since early Thursday.

Further tests with the amplification devices attached to the electric light wire leading down to Collins, late today gave what the physicians here asserted was absolutely proof that Collins still is alive.

A series of raspy noises, interrupted the regular faint rattle in the head phones indicating, the physicians declared, that Collins was coughing or moving about.
