Peace Is Theme Of Dr. McGeachy

The Chiton city schools closed yes- Georgia Minister Addresses Student Body. Preparedness Encourages War, He Says.

> Dr. D. P. McGeachy, pastor of the First Presbyteman church of Decatur. Ga., spoke at a special chap I service at Presbyterian college last Thur day

> The angelog, who is called by some pacif at, made an addression, poure. Some weeks ago Hon. John Mc-Swain, representative of the Fourth South Carolina district, spoke on the need of a strong policy of national defense. Dr. McGeachy spoke of the other side of the question.

In his preliminary remarks Dr. Mc-Geachy said, "As I know many of you will not agree with me on some things various types by the American Red I am going to say, I will make one statement which I know you all will like. That statement is: I think P. C. is a great school, and it also has a great president." At this he was applauded vociferously by his audience.

Beginning his speech, he said he wished it made plan that, although he is against war, he is not a pacifist in the strict sense. He said that he disagreed mainly with the doctrine of preparedness as advanced by some

According to Dr. McGeachy, preparedness only encourages war. He pointed out Germany as a good example of the fallacy of the position takvents war. Germany was the best prepared nation in the world; yet she was defeated in the Great War. If we build up a large army and navy it will only encourage us to wage war when opportunity arrives. When a country builds up a great war machine it invariably gives in to the urge to try it out and, sooner or later, that nation will be given a favorable opportunity. If we have another war it will

Not only does preparedness encourage war; it is costly to the people. Great Britain spends annually 68 per cent of her total budget in paying for past wars and preparing for the next increase in our military budget the tax burden will be unbearable.

All this leads up to the question of compulsory military training in colleges. Dr. McGeachy does not believe that students in a Christian college given by the U. S. Government, no should be forced to take military money was provided to pay for the training. He cited the statement of necessary work entailed. The Red Robert E. Lee, the famous Confederate commander. General Lee was once asked why he did not institute military training at the college, now Washington and Lee university, of which he was president shortly after the Civil war. The great man answered, "I do not believe military training is best in preparing a young man for

Dr. McGeachy said that the muchlauded training in obedience which military training affords is really in the winter of 1932-33. These will be blind obedience. The officers give orfrom the millions of yards of cotton ders and the men have no choice but to obey. They get no chance to learn how to think for themselves. Consequently, instead of making an individual out of a man, it really makes him loose his individuality.

> Besides, forcing students in our Christian schools to take the military course tends to make war seem glorious to them. They see the pleasant side only and not the horrors of it. Marching to the music of the band, nd with colors flying, war seems a ine, pleasant thing. But, when they get out in the mud, disease and filth of the trenches, they find out too late hat they were far wrong. In closing his speech, Dr. McGeachy ividly portrayed war in all its horor. He said he fervently hoped our ountry would never again become involved in an armed conflict. He characterized war as a silly and out-oflate way of settling disputes. In conclusion he said, "Only when nations tre completely disarmed will we have real peace."
