CHRISTMAS DAY

By Edgar Guest

Love's the landlord of the heart
And he welcomes every guest,
Setting all the rooms apart
For the ones he deemeth best.
Cometh some the night to stay
And their names are Dance and Song,
Wealth and Pride and Pleasure gay
And they make a merry throng.
To an inn with lights aflame
And with Mary at his side
Once the troubled Joseph came,
But admittance was denied.
And the landlord in the gloom
Of the stable sheltered them,
Just because he had no room
For the Babe of Bethlehem.

Landlord Love, 'tis Christmas Day
And the winds of winter chill!
Shall we let Him in or say
That our hearts are crowded still?

MRS. PLAXICO HOSTESS TO BIBLE CLASS

The Young Ladies' Bible class of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church met on last Thursday evening with Mrs. R. L. Plaxico.

An informative program on "The Geography of Palestine" was led by Mrs. C. B. Betts. Several members joined in the discussion of the subject.

During the social hour the hostess served dainty sandwiches, coffee and tea. Miss Ruth Todd, bride-elect, was presented with a gift of china by the members.

MISS JANET LEAKE HONORED IN COLUMBIA

Miss Elizabeth Withers entertained at her home in Columbia Thursday evening at a most delightful "drop in" complimenting Miss Janet Leake of this city, who is to be married at her home at noon Thursday to James King of Washington. Lovely Christmas decorations, including a beautifully ornamented tree, adorned the house, and delicious punch and fruit cake were served. The hostess presented the bride-elect with an exquisite gift. About twenty-five college friends of the honor guest were present. Miss Leake is quite popular in Columbia where she attended the University of South Carolina and is a member of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

DAVIS-GLASGOW WEDDING

A marriage of interest to friends here was that of Miss Louise Davis and E. C. Glasgow of High Point, N. C., which took place Sunday at Bush River church immediately following the evening service. The church had been decorated for the annual Christmas cantata and provided a lovely setting for the wedding. The bride and groom entered together to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. C. M. Smith. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. C. Vaughan.

The bride was lovely in a suit of green with brown accessories, and wore a shoulder corsage of talisman roses and gardenias.

Mrs. Glasgow is the accomplished daughter of Mrs. T. P. Davis and the late Mr. Davis of the Hopewell community. She is a graduate of Clinton high school and Winthrop college and for the past several years has been teaching at High Point.

The groom is a native of Castalia, N. C., a graduate of High Point college and is teaching in the schools of High Point, where the young couple will make their home after a short wedding trip.

DUKES-ADAIR MARRIAGE

Of cordial interest to their many friends is the marriage of Miss Virginia Dukes and William Grady Adair which was solemnized on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in Sedalia in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends. The impressive ring ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, the Rev. J. R. Moore.

The bride, a petite blond, was becomingly attired in a brown ensemble with metal trimmings and brown accessories. She wore a corsage of talisman roses.

Mrs. Adair is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dukes, of Sedalia. She has made her home here for several years, having recently accepted a position with Galloway's Beauty shop.

Mr. Adair is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Adair of this city. He is a graduate of Clinton high school and attended Presbyterian college. He now holds a position with Baldwin's Grocery.

The young couple have an apartment at the home of the groom's parents.

The New But-Old, Old Story, "Santa Claus"

THROUGHOUT the land, many, many lands, children's eyes are bright and the morning seems so far away, when Santa Claus will have visited their homes to leave the gifts their young hearts desire. It's daddy here, who tells them the old, old story before they go to Sand-man-land, and it's none other than Fredrick Jagel, Metropolitan Opera tenor with his sons, Paul and John, 4 and 6.

BRUCE BARTON SAYS...

Mrs. President, Unlikely...

A woman who had obtained a job as co-pilot on an air-mail line resigned because she could not enter the pilot's union and so was not permitted to fly passengers in bad weather. This caused Amelia Earhart to suggest the raising of a fund "to break down the barriers against women in aviation."

Miss Earhart has done much herself to break down such barriers, but it will take a long time to destroy the prejudice inherited through many generations in which men have managed transportation. No women drove chariots through the streets of Rome or commanded galleons on the Mediterranean. No Indian squaw captained a canoe; no dark-eyed maiden earned a living as a gondolier, and even in modern taxicabs not more than one driver in a thousand is a woman.

These are sad historical facts, and I do not blame the self-reliant maidens of the present for being rebellious toward them. But there is an even sadder fact, which is this—the real despots who keep women out of the top positions are not the men but the women themselves.

A leading feminist refused to have a woman doctor when her children were born. "I like women," she said, "and I battle for them. But when I am sick I don't want one fussing around me." Another woman, successful in business, refused an interview to a woman bond salesman. "I work hard for my money," she exclaimed. "Do you think I want to let a woman invest it?"

An organization which proposes to elect a woman president of the United States asks me to write in favor of their movement, but I answer that it will do no good. "The men will not put up much of a fight, I say, "but you never will be successful. No woman will be president because the women will vote against her."

For some millions of years wives have turned to husbands in emergencies and cried: "What shall I do?" Some day doubtless this habit will pass away—in just about as many million years as it has taken the habit to be formed.

Faith Is Greater Than Hope...

Billy Sunday is dead—but he had something worth more than money or fame or the splendor of kings. If you are a very sophisticated person you may have thought him an emotional clown, but no one who knew him ever could doubt that he believed what he preached. He was as sure of the existence of God and of Heaven as he was of his own presence on earth. Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, Moses and St. Peter were as real to him in their angelic robes as were the people who appeared physically before his eyes. He was sure also of his own salvation; he knew he would go to Heaven.

Compared with the brain of Robert G. Ingersoll, the brain of "Billy" may have been an inferior instrument of thought, but what would Ingersoll have given for "Billy's" unquestioning faith! Ingersoll achieved fame as the great agnostic because his intellectual honesty would not permit him to affirm what he could not prove. But yearningly, almost pathetically, he hoped; and once, at his brother's grave, he gave this tragic utterance to that hope:

"Life is a narrow vale between the cold and barren peaks of two eternities. We strive in vain to look beyond the heights. We cry aloud, and the only answer is the echo of our wailing cry. From the voiceless lips of the unreplying dead there comes no word, but in the night of death hope sees a star, and listening love can hear the rustle of a wing."

Ingersoll wanted to believe; "Billy" Sunday believed. Which was the more fortunate? If it were possible to implant in every heart the certainty that "Billy" possessed, it would be the greatest blessing that could be conferred upon mankind.

Christmas In The Land Of Christ Is Without Snow

Little Christian children who live in Jerusalem or who are traveling there with their parents will not have a snowy Christmas. Snow almost never falls in Palestine, for the temperature is seldom below 38 degrees. When it does snow, the flakes melt as soon as they touch the ground.

Most of the people in the country where the infant Jesus was born do not celebrate Christmas, however! For only a few of them are Christians; most are Moslems or Jews. There are some Christmas trees in Christian homes, and gifts are exchanged among those who observe Christ's birthday. But there are no street decorations and no late shopping problems. The post offices have no big signs urging "Mail your packages early!"

Yet there is probably no place in the world more appropriate to visit at Christmas. The Holy sepulchre is in the old part of the city, and at Bethlehem, six miles south, is a great church that has replaced the humble inn where Christ was born. Inside is a large flat stone on which the infant Jesus is supposed to have been laid, reminding us how Christianity grew from one humble life.—Frances Grinstead.
