 "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

A SURE-FIRE REMEDY FOR ENLIVENMENT

Mrs. Helen W. Carr, who is connected with the Veterans Administration, Lubbock, Texas, has a story to tell every mother should read, and most particularly those mothers who unwittingly are nurturing fear in their children, or whose children, for some reason are afraid of the dark.

When Helen was seven and her little sister Boots was five, their brother and a cousin took up a scheme to frighten them, Boo-Boo, they were full of pranks, madcap ideas, and, also, to bootle, they gave no thought to possible consequences.

One evening in the absence of their parents, those boys dressed in their father's clothes, donned masks and went up to the bedroom of the two little girls. They knocked on the door and in loud and disguised voices announced that they had come to take Boots away. And the little girls screamed in terror and Boots got under the bed.

As that, the boys desisted, but the harm had been done. The next morning little Boots ran a temperature. She got over the illness, not the fright. She was afraid after that to get up in the night, and every unknown sound called her sister. Sometimes Helen herself was so terrified she couldn't move.

This fear pursued those girls for years, but Boots until she had children of her own when she had to learn to reassure them that there is nothing to fear, about unknown noises. She had to assume courage, and finally her courage developed.

Helen herself earlier had conquered her fears in her own efforts to reassure her little sister that there was nothing to fear, through learning to speak in public. In addition to her fear of the dark, she had been afraid of people, which she thinks was largely due to having been taught as a child that she should be seen and not heard. In other words, she conquered her fear by doing the thing she feared to do. And this is a sure-fire remedy for fear.

Experts Predict Big Wheat Crop

Output of Illinois Bushels Again Would Permit Large Exports.

WASHINGTON.—Department of agriculture experts declare that another bumper wheat crop which again would permit large export of bushels to foreign countries. Despite the adverse weather conditions of the past few weeks, wheat winter wheat crop, the experts said that if farmers planted as many acres of wheat as in 1947 and the yields were average, a total crop of 2.5 billion bushels would be possible. The crop of the six largest in history and again would permit large exports, the experts said.

December winter wheat report, first on the new crop, set winter wheat seedings at 56,648,000 acres, a new record. The department estimated that 830 million bushels of wheat would be produced by the winter wheat crop.

The final crop report showed that the 1947 crop of 2.3 billion bushels below November estimates. Because of the decline the department estimated the 1947-48 supply at 1,440,000,000 bushels. It said that 1948 bushels were consumed in the United States, including 250 million for feed, the experts pointed out, there were 600 million bushels left over for export and carryover.

The United States could export 450 million bushels and still leave the stockpile of 150 million bushels next July. Exports of 450 million bushels, the experts would be "by far the largest ever shipped by one nation," the report said, and more than half of the 855 million bushels exported is earned world trade in 1947-48.

The report said that rising prices for wheat would be "by far the highest in the United States ever recorded." Farmer get a regular higher price than ever before, but they also were paying more for the things they buy. The index of prices paid by farmers, including interest and taxes in December, was a record 245, four points above November 1947, 24.9 percent above the price index of those the farmers sold advance to 201 in December 14 points more a month earlier. It also above the October record, 27 above the average price of wheat, oats, corn and soybeans in the past two years. Dairy products prices were second only in those of December 1947. Eggs were higher than in any December since 1937, met at annual prices broke through to a new all-time high. In contrast farm prices declined and were 29 percent lower than a year ago.

Tobacco Heists, 87, Dies

Figured in Old Romance

BALTIMORE.—Miss Emma Margrave, tobacco fortune heiress whose life was a romance with an English heir got caught in an international heist back in London, she learned here she was an international heist.

Miss Margrave was a sister of the late Theodore Margrave, one-time ambassador to England mentioned in Miss Margrave's being divorced issues but she returned here by the release from a Baltimore court testimony was that her brother, Theodore, broke up the romance with Frederick Fischer, who had escorted Miss Margrave to Europe, on an automobile tour of Europe.

Her legacy at that time was calculated a record of $3,500,000. She stood on the stand she had promised to give her $250,000 to her mother and had paid Miss Munder $250,000 not to marry the girl. Miss Munder and Fischer subsequently were married.

Distance of 10,581 Miles

WASHINGTON.—The navy claimed a record of 10,581 statute miles for regularly scheduled long-range radio telephone transmissions from its mobile unit on board the battleship USS Oregon, and headquarters ship of the current Navy Antarctic Expedition.

The Battleship is maintaining a daily schedule of photograph and weathercraft transmissions direct to Washington from its base of operations in the Davis sea off the western edge of the Shackleton ice shelf. It will schedule to depart on December 15, marks the navy's first attempt to send weather charts from Antarctica.

Jurisdiction Problem Solved

'Border-Line' Marriage

BELLE FOURCHE, S. D.—It was a "border-line" marriage, but circumstances dictated it. Mrs. Eva R. Wheeler and Kevin B. Wheeler, her husband, who was an Alaskan, who had engaged the Rev. Harry Ralph of the Fourche to perform the ceremony.

But Mr. Salven consented to that, since his ministerial authority didn't extend into Wyoming.

So the pastor, who performed the wedding was held on the Wyoming-South Dakota border.

Weevil Infestation Takes Big Jump; Migration Underway

Both weevils began migrating in Laurens county last week as they were found on the migration screen spread on the farm of E. R. T. Todd in the Narum community. In cooperation with Clemson college extension service, says C. B. Cannon county agent.

Weevil infestation on the ten farms showed an average infestation last week of 44.1 percent with infestation ranging from 11 percent to 60 percent. This compares with the week before infestation an average of 17.2 percent with infestation ranging from six percent to 21 percent. Farmers should continue to dust as long as necessary to protect the young bolts of cotton. Mr. Cannon said. Many farmers may lose one third of a cotton crop by weevil damaging young bolts.

L. M. Spahr, Jr., extension agent cotton insects and diseases, recommended the protection by use of dust of young bolts until they are too large for weevils to puncture or feed.
