Bombardment Begins

By JAMES MARLOWE Who did it? He did it! That just about sums up what you're going to have to listen to in the Presidential campaign from now on.

The Democrats—with President Truman doing the talking and the Republicans—with Harold E. Stassen talking—began their campaign this week. They cut loose with four main themes: atomic, labor, prosperity and housing.

As the campaign goes on, a few more may be added but those four will run through the campaign. The high cost of living? Who did it?

The Republicans. Mr. Truman said. The Democrats and world conditions generally, said Mr. Stassen. The Taft-Hartley labor law? The Republicans controlled Congress as far as passed in 1947, but a majority of Democrats joined with a majority of Republicans in passing it.

But is it a good law, or bad? Terrible, Mr. Truman said. He denounced it as the fact that the Republicans controlled Congress as the law was passed.

He told labor the Taft-Hartley law is only a "travesty." Worse will come if the Republicans win, he said.

It's a good law, said Mr. Stassen, and he hammered away at the fact that a majority of Mr. Truman's own Democrats helped pass it.

He promised labor the Republicans, if they win, will be real friends of labor. "Prosperity? We have it now, but will it last?"

We'll have an "era of fear" if the Republicans win, said Mr. Truman. He took a dim view of continued prosperity if there is a Republican victory.

Will they prosper if the Republicans win, said Mr. Stassen, and he indicated that Mr. Truman is just going any-way and is trying to scare people.

Housing? Why don't we have more housing? He said the Republicans, said Mr. Truman.

Both Democrats and Republicans are to blame, said Mr. Stassen. We certainly "must do something," he said.

All you, the voter, have to do is sit back, listen, and try to figure out who's right: Democrats or Republicans—some job.

Things like high living costs, prosperity and labor laws are so complicated that even experts have trouble figuring what's what.

Maybe if voters already have their minds made up anyhow on the issues they'll vote for the party they want.

They include the people who vote against a candidate because they do not like his eyeslashes or his mustache.

But the rest of the voters will just have to listen; their minds are still open—and try to reach honest answers by themselves.

They have a tough job.
