

Rest Home For Alcoholics To Open In Laurens

Says The Laurens Advertiser: The Bob Moorman Rest Home, Inc., an institution for the treatment of alcoholics, is to be established here in the immediate future. It was announced here this week by Robert Moorman, of Columbia, director and resident psychologist, who has come here to supervise the renovation of the old Danzig residence on South Harper street for the purpose. This will be an alcoholic rest home for the rehabilitation and recovery of alcoholics. Mr. Moorman said, "Our objective is not simply to put a patient under but, through understanding treatment and therapy, to enable the patient to retain sobriety and, at the same time, enjoy life fully and a new and satisfactory adjustment with life."

The first home in no wise claims to have a cure, for there comes nothing as the patient is generally accepted sense of the word. But we do offer an opportunity for the patient to enjoy an arresting of the disease of alcoholism, to try to meet who himself or herself has a sincere desire to find an answer to his alcoholic problem.
Mr. Moorman is a former attorney and member of the city council in Columbia. For the past six years he has been a practicing professional and alcoholic lawyer therapist, with offices in Philadelphia and Washington, working for the recovery of alcoholics and with other types of neurasthenia.

Beware Coughs From Common Colds That Hang On

Consumption arises promptly because it gets right to the seat of the trouble is help loosen and expel green laden phlegm and add further to the cough and heat raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Constitution to see if you can have your money back. The way it quickly silences the cough.
