

Lions Club To Present Visual Survey Instrument To Local School System

At its meeting Friday evening at the college dining hall the Lions club will present a complete visual-survey service to the local school system to be used in determining the condition of pupils' eyes.

The service consists of a visual survey telebinocular instrument, carrying case, and all cards and charts necessary to give school children thorough check on their vision.

The instrument and equipment can be carried from school to school and will therefore reach every child and give an opportunity to have their eyes screened for possible defects. One teacher in each school will be instructed in the operation of the instrument.

The instrument and service is similar to the ones being used by large industries to screen the eyes of employees. The charts and tests are specially adapted for school-age children.

The instrument and service, at a cost of several hundred dollars, is being made available to the local schools through the Lions club eye clinic. The clinic, under a special committee of the club, has been in operation for a number of years, and is concerned chiefly with fitting glasses on underprivileged children, contacted principally through teachers in the various schools of the community. Local optometrists have worked with the club in this project since its beginning.

Two Excellent Musical Programs At Bell Street Soon

Bell Street school will sponsor two outstanding entertainment performances to which the public is invited and for which combination tickets will be sold.

The first attraction will be given in the school auditorium at 7:30 on the evening of February 23. Coleman Brothers Millionaires, an excellent singing group, will present a program. These musicians have been heard on NBC and CBS, and now they are on their first nationwide personal appearance tour.

Renewal Driver's License Issued Immediately At Local Patrol Office

Immediate "over-the-counter" issuance of your new 1949-1953 driver's license will be made if you present your current South Carolina driver's license and fee of fifty cents at the local Highway Patrol Office in Greenville, announce officials of the State Highway Department.

Persons desiring the metal driver's license, available this year for the first time since the war, may also secure this type license direct and without delay at the Highway Patrol Office upon payment of an additional ten cents. Metal license may not, however, under the law, be issued to anyone who has ever had his license suspended, revoked, or cancelled.

This new system to speed up license renewals with convenient public service throughout the State is offered at Highway Patrol Offices in Greenville, Charleston, Spartanburg, Sumter, Orangeburg, Anderson, Florence and Conway as well as at the Motor Vehicle Division of the Highway Department at Columbia.

Although applications for renewals will be accepted with mailing in of the renewal license stub and fee to the Highway Department in Columbia, it is urged that drivers present their applications through district patrol offices and itinerant licensing offices, because of the necessary delay involved in attempting to issue over 600,000 licenses by mail service through the central Columbia office.

In Clinton licenses may be renewed at Baldwin Motor company on Fridays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.
