

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Lella N. Johnson spent the week-end in Asheville, N. C., with her brother, J. L. Norman.
 Mr. and Mrs. John William King and small daughter are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. King, in Summerville, Ga.
 Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, of Atlanta, Ga., has returned home after a week's stay with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jacobs. They were week-end visitors in Charleston.
 Friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. Wat Henderson and two children will be interested to know they are making their home in S. Charleston, W. Va., where the former is employed with Snodgrass Funeral Home.
 Mrs. M. A. Macdonald, Misses Barbara Workman and Ann Macdonald, Mrs. Ace Workman, Bob Hellams and L. H. Lee spent the week-end in Montreat, N. C.
 Mrs. C. W. Stone and Mrs. George Ellis attended the funeral of H. H. Anderson in Dillon recently.
 Harry Whitaker has resumed his studies at Clemson college, following a recent trip to Maryland. Mr. Whitaker spent the week-end with Reese Young.

 Mr. and Mrs. L. Russell Gray, accompanied by relatives from Laurens, Mrs. Nene D. Workman, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McMillan, Mrs. J. C. Pace and Mrs. G. W. Hollingsworth, attended the May Day exercises at Queens college, Charlotte, Tuesday, in which the former's daughter, Miss Virginia Gray, was May queen.

The Blue Stocking For Fifth Time Gains AA Rating

All-American. One of the three top papers among small colleges in the United States.
 That's how The Blue Stocking, Presbyterian college student publication, was rated by critics of the Associated Collegiate Press, generally conceded to be the best judge of college journalism in America today, in the ACP's fortieth critical service, recently completed.
 Honor ratings for colleges and universities are divided into five classes: fourth class — no honors; third class—fair; second class—good; first class—excellent; and All-American—superior.

 In capping the honor, it marked the fifth time The Blue Stocking has been so named.
 The criticism was divided into four different departments: news values and sources; news writing and editing; headlines, typography and make-up; and department pages and special features.
 Out of a possible 23 "excellent" ratings in regard to the different aspects of publication, the paper garnered 19, having four fall into the next best class, "very good," and amassed a total of 955 points, 55 over the amount necessary to gain the AA rating.
 The Blue Stocking was entered into the regular critical service, with the rating to be published.
 Staff at the time of judging was Harry Dent, editor; Doug Kiker, managing editor; Neely McCarter, Bill Heathcock, and Bob Hughes, columnists; and Bob Hunt, Charlie Robinson, Harry Foster, Glen Hiers, Earle May, and Albert Watson, reporters.

BIRTHDAYS

Mrs. F. M. Stutts observed birthday May 2.
 Gerald Woodruff, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Woodruff, celebrated a birthday April 29.
 I. V. Sauls will observe his 38th birthday May 12.
 Tommy Jeanes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jeanes, celebrated his third birthday April 29.
 Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Mac Hatton celebrated a wedding anniversary April 27.
 Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie O. Hiers observed their wedding anniversary April 27.
 B. F. Wingard observed his birthday May 2.
 STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, COUNTY OF LAURENS.
 Please take notice that the undersigned intends to apply to the Secretary of State of South Carolina for a charter for Bycolife Products, Inc., with a capital stock of $25,000.00, with its principal place of business at Clinton, South Carolina.
 B. L. Wood, Jr.,
 B. F. Copeland.

Congratulations

TO
MISS EVELYN HAZLE
Queen Azalea XI

DELL CREWS FLORENCE (TRIPP) JEANS
 EARL DONNAN WALKER DONNAN

...and...
 (MRS.) ALLIENE THOMAS
 who has recently joined our staff

Dell's Beauty Shoppe

Phone 20
 Member of S. C. Registered Cosmetologists Association

Chaney's Dress Shoppe ...

CELEBRATION!

Honoring MISS EVELYN HAZLE, Queen Azalea XI

We feel that we would not be doing justice to you, our friends and customers, here in Clinton without letting you in on the greatest thing that has happened to us in the history of our stores. Probably you heard Chief Ballard and Sgt. Patterson go through town last Monday evening with sirens blowing. They were escorting the Azalea Queen, Miss Evelyn Hazle, to the city limits of Laurens. And Murphy Timmerman, in a convertible, drove behind them, with the queen and the alternate from Laurens, Miss Emily Brownlee—and yours truly had to get in the picture also. In the second convertible 'Slick' Pitts followed with Rev. and Mrs. Hazle. Last of all, Mr. Chaney, who had to travel to keep up.

Probably most of you are wondering why I was so interested in this queen. All of you know I also have a store in Laurens, and this little 'Cinderella queen' of 5 ft. 2 in. is an extra salesgirl there, and has been for over a year. Mr. Chaney and I are both very fond of Evelyn, and although I was with her at the festival for the whole time, and it has been said that I was her adviser, I did not have to give her any advice. She won it on her own merit with her wonderful personality, her poise, and her sweet smile, as you can see from the picture below. All I could do was furnish her the clothes that she had to have. We were not asked to do this, we did it because we wanted to, and we are very happy over the fact that we helped in a small way to bring the Eleventh Azalea Queen back to Laurens County.

Below we are giving you a list of the clothes she wore during the festival from our stores. Also specials in our ad elsewhere in this paper for this week, honoring our little queen, so you, our customers, can help also.

Thanks. —MRS. ETHEL CHANEY.

EVENING DRESSES WORN BY THE QUEEN

For the parade on Tuesday she wore a white silk marquisette dress over a body of white satin. The bodice was made empire fashion, sweetheart neckline, small cap sleeves, with wide girdle of blue satin all around the waist, forming a large bustle in back, and cascading to bottom of the hemline. This was an original by Harry Kieser, and purchased by us especially for this event.

For evening, dancing, etc., a little Cinderella dress of pink taffeta, fitted basque waist with off the shoulder neckline, and small cap sleeves. Down the back was velvet ribbon lacing, forming a bow, a waist line, and very full skirt with hoop at bottom. This also had mittens of pink taffeta. Dress was styled by Emma Domb in their party line.

Blush light pink dress of taffeta with tight fitted basque waist, a high neckline with nylon yoke inset, small cap sleeves, and very full skirt with bustle. A Fred Perlberg original.

The dress worn for the crowning of the queen and the coronation ball was the little dream dress she wore in the contest in Laurens, and the one she wanted to wear this time. It was orchid taffeta, bare shoulder, very tight waist and full tiered skirt. The front of the dress was trimmed with tiny covered buttons to waist, the back with bows of self material from top of waist to bottom of skirt. This Buttons and Bows dress was designed by Emma Domb and purchased from our store by the queen's sister, Miss Dorothy Hazle, and given to the queen.

THREE NATIONAL QUEENS—Queens of three of the major celebrations in this country pose after the coronation of Miss Evelyn Hazle (center), of Laurens, as Queen Azalea XI. At left is Miss Betty Anderson, queen of the Memphis Cotton Carnival, and at right Miss Lucy Ann Forgy, queen of the Tampa Gasparilla Festival. Each displays her festival's royal robe, crown and sceptre. Miss Anderson presented the new Azalea queen a scroll from the King of Cotton officially inviting her to the Memphis celebration. (Photo courtesy Charleston News & Courier).

SUITS AND DRESSES WORN BY THE QUEEN

White Juillard wool gabardine suit, plainly tailored. Styled by Hillmor. With this she used white blouse and black accessories.

Baby blue gabardine suit of Botany wool in Dressmaker style. By Nardis of Dallas.

Black two-piece Story Book faille dress, by Jonathan Logan.

Iridescent taffeta dress, grey to rose, two piece, very tight waist, basque effect, small collar with bow of self material at neck, small crystal buttons to the bottom of the little coat, and this over a skirt plain in front and forming a bustle at back of dress. This was another Doris Varum creation styled by Jonathan Logan.

A Stonecutter two-piece cord suit, double breast effect, 3/4-length sleeves, the skirt plain gored. This is a Bobby Brooks.

All the queen's clothes were from Chaney's Dress Shoppe. Most were given to her by us, with the exception of one suit, which was purchased from our store by her before the contest.

Hats by Rhodes.

Gloves by Max Mayer.

Beauty work done by Walker Donnann, courtesy of Dell's Beauty Shoppe.

Shoes worn—Panaljos from Milton's.