HOUSE AND HOME

Ever tried corn kernels in green peppers as stuffing? Mix the corn with cream, bits of bacon and seasoning to taste. Sprinkle the top with buttery bread crumbs and bake until the peppers are tender.

Do something different with the ground meat by shaping individual loaves out of it. Serve with fried onions and scalloped tomatoes.

Onions and carrots are among our more plentiful vegetables during cool weather. Cook them together for something different and tasty, then glaze with one-fourth cup butter mixed with the same amount of honey. Turn over and over in a skillet over a low fire until shiny.
