Assistant Agent Speaks At Mountville Grange

Mountville Grange held its regular monthly meeting on the evening of March 17. Roscoe O. Bundrick, Master, presiding. The first part of the meeting was devoted to Grange ritual, report of committees and general business.
Under the leadership of Mrs. L. R. Adams, lecturer, and W. H. Finley, the program of the evening emphasized agriculture - freedom from want.

The principal address was delivered by the assistant county agent, Henry L. Eason, who spoke on the subject of Beef Cattle. Mr. Eason covered this topic thoroughly, pointing out that since beef cattle producers operate on a small margin of profit and can do little to control the price they receive for their product, it becomes even more important that by the exercise of good management they produce animals efficiently and economically. The decalog of good management was given and explained.
At the conclusion of the program a social hour was held with refreshments being served by the hostesses for the evening, Mrs. L. P. Burns, Mrs. Roy Miller and Mrs. P. H. Miller.

Know the PC Faculty

ROBERT A. MCINTYRE

Robert Allen McIntyre, Jr., approaches his work as associate professor of biology at Presbyterian College with a careful diligence that makes him an unusually effective teacher.

He came to PC in 1955 from the University of Maryland, where he was continuing work toward his doctorate. During his five years here, his students have come to value the thoroughness of his teaching and to appreciate his interest in their progress.

President Marshall W. Brown adds this appraisal of his work: "McIntyre has the scientist's interest in accuracy of detail and is meticulous in the preparation of all lectures and in the proper preparation of every laboratory experiment."

McIntyre served as assistant professor of biology at Coker College for three years, immediately after earning his master's from the University of North Carolina in 1948. He had received his BS degree from Wake Forest in 1946. He left Coker in 1951 to resume graduate study, for one year at Johns Hopkins University and then two years at Duke, before attending the University of Maryland.

He is a native of Lumberton, N. C., and single.
