Entertains Cubs On Birthday

In celebration of his tenth birthday Wednesday afternoon, May 4, Brent Holcombe entertained members of his cub Scout den No. 3. Brent is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Holcombe.

The group was invited to the home for refreshments of cake, ice cream, and cold drinks before going to a local movie. Extending from a May pole in an arrangement of spring flowers were ribbons to each guest place on the refreshment table.

Friends Invited

Birthday Celebration

Carter Gault, of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin G. Gault, Jr., celebrated his seventh birthday on Monday.

Fourteen little boys were invited for the afternoon during which they enjoyed outdoor games and riding burros. Late in the afternoon a picnic supper was served. The birthday cake was decorated in red and white with a cowboy motif.

Here for the occasion were Carter's grandmother, Mrs. O. L. Carter and his great grandmother, Mrs. Naomi Hunsinger, both of Greenville.

Luncheon Is Given Tuesday At Hotel

Mrs. John W. Harris entertained a number of friends on Tuesday at noon with a luncheon at the Mary Musgrave Hotel.

Covers were laid for the guests at tables in U shape and decorated to carry out a May Day motif. Roses in varied shades with May Pole effect adorned each table with pink roses and lavender iris being used on the connecting table. At intervals were colonial bouquets of roses.

A three course luncheon was served.

Methodist Women Hear Mrs. Clark At Joint Meeting

At a joint supper meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild of Broad Street Methodist Church Monday evening members heard a talk by Mrs. Niles C. Clark of Waterloo.

The group gathered in Hodges hall for supper with Mrs. Forrest Adair, W.S.C.S. president extending the welcome.

Later they adjourned to the sanctuary for the program. The Guild was in charge of the devotional with Mrs. L. H. Davidson giving the Scripture reading and prayer. Miss Theda Sublett, soloist, was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Don Creighton.

Mrs. Clark, long prominent in the work of Methodist women, told something of the structure of the Methodist church, the function of the Methodist organizations stressing the mission work.

Recital, Spring Bazaar Close Years Programs For Music Club

The Clinton Music Club closed its current year last Wednesday May 4 with a spring bazaar and student recital at the Douglas House on the Presbyterian College Campus.

Mrs. E. A. Farnell, bazaar chairman, pronounced the sale of "white elephants" and baked goods a success and proceeds will be turned over to a scholarship fund for young musicians.

The bazaar was held in conjunction with the club's annual recital by pupils of the city's piano and voice teachers.

Teachers assisting in arranging the program and pupils taking part were:

Mrs. Bob Black—Billy Shields, piano solo, "Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt.

Mrs. Ralph Bozard—Judy Wabors and Nancy Arrington, Piano Duet: "The Banjo Picker" by N. Louise Wright.

Mrs. E. C. Bunker—Phil Rogers, "Old Challeet," Nanette Young, Piano Solo: "Pheasant Cantata," by Bach, and "Cocorache."

Mrs. J. P. Johnston—Gus Folk, Voice Solo: "On The Road to Mandalay" by Oley Speaks.

Mrs. Eva Land—Brenda Fallaw Piano Solo: "Wins" by Schumann ("Whims").

Miss Luva McDonald—Donna Wickham, Piano Solo: "Woodland Echo" by Wyman.

Mrs. Harry McSwen—Mary Ann Orr and Karen Cox, Piano Duet: "Arabian Dance."

Mrs. James Pitts—Diane Ledford, Piano Solo: "March of The Little Tin Soldiers" Pierre.

Mrs. James Von Hollen—Leigh Ann Farnell, Piano Solo: "Valse Arabesque" by Theo. Lack.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Paul Muller, Mrs. Edgar Blakley, and Mrs. Robert Strook.

Junior-Senior Event For CHS Class Has Novel Program

In a setting patterned after the famous Fontainebleau Hotel in Miami members of the graduating class at Clinton High School were entertained at the annual Junior-Senior banquet in the school gymnasium on Friday evening.

Souvenir program booklets "The Fountain Blue" were at each place, with candles, top hats, canes and nosegays of roses also adorning the tables. In the center of the room was a fountain with room edged pool, in which roses and azaleas floated. To further carry out the night club theme overhead were blue streamers and silver stars.

The invocation was given by G. N. Foy, assistant superintendent of the school district, Barry Whitman, junior class president welcomed the guest and Jim Dobbins, president of the senior class responded.

Entertainment included a comedian act by Lonnie Farnell, a solo by Miss Eugenia Byars, accompanied by Miss Veda Jester; a polka by Freddie Fowler and Toni Lott.

A satire of the program "It Could Be You" was staged with baby pictures of the seniors and faculty being used with amusing events from their childhood.

As cabaret girls, Misses Linda Narron, Alice Grant and Judy Bedenbaugh, sophomore class officers, gave souvenir boxes of candies.

Later in the evening dancing was enjoyed to music by the Debonairs. Special guests included the faculty members, trustees, school administrators, and the presidents of the other classes.

Junior class sponsors assisting with arrangements were Mrs. Harry Bouknight and Mrs. Earl Workman.

Mrs. George Taylor To Return to College

Mrs. George W. Taylor will return as a member of the Presbyterian College staff next September after spending several years as a missionary to Brazil, President Marshall W. Brown announced today. He said Mrs. Taylor, who served in the PC business office from 1943 until 1956, will become hostess of the Douglas House student center.

MRS. GEORGE W. TAYLOR

She is to succeed Mrs. E. H. Hall, who has retired after 17 years of gracious service in this capacity. Mrs. Hall joined the college staff in 1943.

Mrs. Taylor came back to this country last summer from three years' work with the Bible School at Garanhuns, Pernambuco, in Brazil. Since that time she has been serving the Presbyterian Board of World Missions as a lecturer before various church groups.

Here recent work marked Mrs. Taylor's second tour of duty in Brazil. She first went to the mission field with her husband, the late Dr. George W. Taylor, in 1919. After his death in 1943, she returned to this country and joined the staff of the PC business office. Here she spent the next 13 years, most of them as college bursar, and saw all four of her children and two sons-in-law attend Presbyterian College.

Then in 1956, the missions board prevailed upon Mrs. Taylor to go back to Brazil to help meet the critical emergency there. She spent the three years as dietitian and business manager of the Bible school.

Mrs. Taylor has been closely tied to Presbyterian College through the years, through her own work and her family. Her husband attended PC as did these children: Dr. Aiken Taylor of Asheville, N. C., now editor of the Southern Presbyterian Journal; Mrs. Frances Roberts of Orangeburg; Mrs. Betty Copley of Aiken; and Mrs. Julia Cushman of Knoxville, Tenn.
