

Retired Teachers Honored Monday

A number of retired teachers of School District 56 and G. N. Foy, assistant superintendent of the district, who is retiring this year, were honored at a dinner Monday evening in the Clinton High School cafeteria when the board of trustees acted as hosts. Included were, front row: Miss Irene Workman, Mrs. John W. Little, Miss Louise Kern, Mrs. J. P. Prather (former lunch room supervisor); back row: Miss Clyde Smith of Seneca, Mrs. J. H. Donnan, Mr. Foy, Miss Lillie Yarborough, Miss Sara Wharton of Waterloo.—Photo by Dan Yarborough.

Dinner Honors G. N. Foy And Retired Teachers

Words are inadequate to express the appreciation and to measure the influence and far-reaching effects of the devoted and efficient service of this group for the school system and students of the area," said W. R. Anderson, superintendent of School District 56, in addressing G. N. Foy, retiring assistant superintendent, and a number of retired teachers who were honored at a dinner on Tuesday evening in the Clinton High School cafeteria.

Mr. Foy is retiring after 29 years of school work in the state. He became principal of the Joanna school in 1929, a position he held until the schools were reorganized in 1952 and he was named assistant superintendent of District 56.

The invocation was given by Col. John B. Cooley of Mountville, a former trustee and the welcome was given by Tom Plaxico, chairman of the board of trustees.

The following retired teachers who were present for the occasion were introduced: Miss Lilly Yarborough, Miss Clyde Smith of Seneca, Miss Irene Workman, Miss Louise Kern, Mrs. Sarah Wharton of Waterloo, Mrs. J. H. Donnan, and Mrs. John W. Little. Also Mrs. J. P. Prather, who retired last year as lunchroom supervisor.

Teachers who have retired in recent years but who were not present for the occasion include: Miss Sara Gary, Mrs. R. W. Wade, Mrs. Mary Boyd Watts and Miss Mary Brabham.

Trustees, principals, the new Classroom Teacher president, Mrs.

B. F. Wingard, and the retiring president, Mrs. Julian Coleman, were introduced along with other special guests. Mrs. Coleman presented Mr. Foy with a gift on behalf of the Classroom Teachers.

James T. Addison, trustee, and H. L. Eichelberger, former trustee, paid tribute to Mr. Foy and the retiring teachers.

Mr. Foy spoke briefly, expressing his appreciation for the fine cooperation and associations enjoyed during his work in the school district and for the honor paid him upon his retirement.

In announcing changes in the district Mr. Anderson stated R. P. Waider, principal at the high school, would assume part of the duties of Mr. Foy, with R. E. Martin as assistant. Mr. Martin has served as principal at Junior High for a number of years.

Ralph E. Bozard, now principal at Providence, will move to Junior High, while Clyde L. Nelson, Jr., member of the High School faculty, will assume the Providence principalship. William Coates of the Junior High faculty will replace Ralph L. King as principal at Cross Hill. Mr. King is moving to Greenville.

Clinton Student Is Phi Beta Kappa

Robert Neely, rising senior at the University of South Carolina, Columbia, has been named for membership in the University chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic society.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Carlisle Neely of Clinton.

COUNTY CANDIDATES

Laurens County's water supply is greatly increased. He said that lack of water was one reason some industries had by-passed Laurens County. He also said he was in favor of increasing teachers' pay. He said he would do everything he could to see the schools remain segregated. He said he would push for improved rural roads in the county.

W. C. Dobbins, of Joanna, presently serving his second term in the House, is also making the race for the Senate. In his talk, he cited the fact that he is the only one of the three senatorial candidates who is a lifetime resident of the county. He also said he would continue to work diligently for continuation of school segregation.

Dobbins also told of his service as a member of the House Ways and Means Committee and the Gressette (Segregation) Committee.

House Candidates
Marshall W. Abercrombie, Laurens attorney, said one of his goals in the House would be to work for the repeal of uninsured drivers insurance law which has recently been passed by the General Assembly.

John C. Buchanan, of Joanna, who practices law in Laurens, said he favored the creation of a county purchasing department, a county nursing home, and state prison reform.

Hubert W. Graydon, grocery store operator in Laurens, said he was strongly opposed to centralized government both at the federal level and the state level.

Dr. C. J. Hart, Laurens chiropractor, said he would work to secure new industry for the county and for expansion of existing industrial plants.

William H. McIninch, insurance man and grocery operator, stated he would never be in favor of removing any elective office and making such an office an appointive one.

T. David Sloan, seeking reelection to his third term in the House, said he would continue to work for new industry for the county. He favored, he said, continued segregation of the schools and better pay for teachers.

Albert M. Stribling, general store operator near here, said he was opposed to the ever-increasing tax burden and pledged that he would do what he could to halt the trend.

J. Dunklin Sullivan, textile worker, said he was born and reared on a farm and that he knows the needs of farmers. He said he would also work for better rural roads.

David Taylor, hosiery mill worker, said that he would deal fairly with all persons if elected to the House. He also favored higher pay for teachers.

Sheriff Candidates

Guy N. Fowler said he was old enough for the job and young enough to do it properly. If elected, he said, changes would be made in both methods of operation and personnel.

"Elect me your sheriff and let me bring you a new organization," he said. He would make efforts to stop crime before it is committed and work to make the county a safe place for children to grow up.

Fred H. Hayes told of his 18 years in public business, is familiar with the duties of the office, and will give full time to the job. He will employ honest, sober men to help enforce the laws, he said.

R. Eugene Johnson stated that if elected he will enforce the laws fearlessly and impartially and will set an example for the youth of the county. He is in favor of giving first offenders probation. He said he will employ deputies of high moral character and will give prompt and efficient service to the growing county. Valuable experience, he said, has been gained in his 13 years as a Magistrate in Hunter Township.

Delmar N. Riddle said he had gained knowledge of the duties of the office of sheriff by observation of his father, who served as deputy under a former sheriff. He is obligated to no one, he said, will answer all calls promptly, and will make any changes in the office that he sees fit.

Caldwell W. Wier, present sheriff, stated that he has served for many years as chief law enforcement officer of the county, and that the experience thus gained is needed now more than ever before. He said he has continued to keep abreast of the times in methods and techniques, and has put forth every effort to keep the peace and prevent law violations. He has conducted the office, he said, with no more firmness than was necessary, stating that he has compassion for his fellow men.

His deputies, he said, are sober and hard-working and the county can be proud of the work they are doing. It is vital that law officers be well-trained.

Coroner Candidates

Carl Campbell brought a laugh when he said he will be the dead man's friend—will see that he gets a square deal. Law enforcement often starts in the coroner's office, he said.

T. D. Pigg, Sr.—is familiar with duties of the office and capable of exercising judgment in seeing that the law is carried out.

M. N. Pressley—Six years of service as Magistrate will be of help in carrying out duties, and will be available on a moment's notice. Will see that justice is done and will view each case with a sympathetic heart.

Al Rawl—Has been in business in Laurens for many years, has served on inquest juries and has learned much about the office.

A. P. Walker—The office of coroner needs someone with a level head and common sense, he said, to carry on the work properly.

County Commissioner

Ansel Godfrey—Will give a fair and square deal for everybody in the county, he said.

Joe Holliday—Will give impartial service and will cooperate with other Commissioner and Supervisor. Favors spending county money in the county, and is interested in the welfare of prisoners—will give them enough to eat and wear and demand a reasonable amount of work.

Paul S. O'Dell, offering for reelection, said he has cooperated with the other Commissioner and Supervisor and was present at every regular and called meeting. Every dollar has been put in the best interest of the county. Has gained experience and is better prepared to serve efficiently.

George M. Penland, also offering for reelection, said he has tried to serve efficiently, humbly and impartially in promoting growth of the county. Has had business experience, sees need of the county, and will make every effort to improve roads. Expenditures in the office have been spent wisely, and experience gained will make him a better servant, he said.

Candidates for Solicitor
Hugh A. Beasley and William T. Jones, both of Greenwood, candidates for Solicitor (prosecuting attorney) of the Eighth Judicial Circuit, appeared after the county candidates had spoken.

Mr. Beasley said he is offering experience and ability to run the job satisfactorily—the way you want it run. He said he will prepare cases carefully, and any drunken driving cases will be not pressed by the grand jury—not by the Solicitor. He will confer with lawyers ahead of time to arrange the docket and will not have jurors sitting around while seeking guilty pleas, he said. If elected, he will not please everyone, but will please law-abiding citizens of the district, he stated. As Solicitor, he said he would not see how big a percentage of convictions he can run up, and will not accept lesser pleas in order to clear the docket.

Solicitor Jones, offering for reelection, thanked the voters for their support eight years ago and also four years ago when he ran unopposed. There is little that any candidate can say that can change a record, in or out of office. "I have made a record," he said, "and the office of Solicitor has afforded me the greatest opportunity for service. He has tried to work with law officers, jurors, and every person coming into the courts, he said, and extended every courtesy and consideration. He has a record, he said, that is upon the books of the county. He has endeavored to prosecute, not persecute, he stated, and has extended the warm hand of sympathy; he will never use the power of the office to drive a man down.

Dunlap Unopposed
Walter E. Dunlap, unopposed for Clerk of Court, appeared briefly and thanked the voters for their support, promising continued efficient and courteous service.

Shotgun Blast Injuries Laurens Negro Sunday

Laurens—Luther Evans, 26-year-old Laurens Negro, was shot early Sunday morning as he attempted to intervene while his two brothers struggled over possession of a shotgun, officers said.

Laurens Assistant Police Chief James Barrett said Monday that a statement given to officers by the victim was to the effect that the shooting was accidental.

Get Theology Degrees From Southeastern

Lee Roy Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hallie Campbell of Clinton, and Frank Carroll Taylor, son of Mrs. Robert R. Taylor, Rt. 1, Laurens, were awarded bachelor of divinity degrees at recent commencement exercises at the Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary at Wake Forest, N. C.

PRESS ON FOR PRESSLEY For Coroner

ELECT FRED HAYES

For SHERIFF

A man who is capable, dependable and willing to serve you fairly, honestly and impartially.

Laurens County needs Fred Hayes for sheriff because he is young enough to perform the duties required in this department.

He knows the responsibilities of being married and has a family which will help him when family problems arrive and with cases involving juvenile delinquents.

He has had daily contact in public business for eighteen years and also eight years in textile work.

A man with these qualifications will be of great value to the people of this county.

College Arranges Reunion Program

Presbyterian College will stage a full program of activities for its first springtime Alumni Reunion on June 4, according to preparations being completed this week.

Here are the highlights:

U. S. Senator Strom Thurmond will address the featured Alumni Banquet at 6:30 p. m. An Alumni Institute on missiles and outer-space is scheduled for that afternoon. And PC PREP for children, ages 8 to 18, will offer entertainment for alumni sons and daughters.

Special class reunions set for this time are: 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905, 1910, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1935, 1940, 1941, 1942, 1943 and 1958. These classes will sit together in groups at the banquet.

The Alumni Banquet also will serve as a means of welcoming the 1960 graduating class into the Presbyterian College Alumni Association. Seniors will attend as special guests.

The Alumni Institute will open at 3 p. m. with a lecture by Dr. Neill G. Whitelaw, chairman of the PC physics department. A second period, supplementing his talk, will be devoted to the showing of an Army color film on missile development.

PC PREP also is scheduled to open at 3 p. m., so that alumni children may move out to their own supervised program. The college's indoor swimming pool and other recreational facilities will be utilized, and a picnic is planned to extend through the banquet.

Among the other events scheduled are the spring meeting of the alumni board of directors, set for that morning, and the general meeting of the PC Alumni Association at 5 p. m.

This new Alumni Reunion program is designed to tie in with the graduation exercises, which will follow on June 5-6.

Advertising is the way to stimulate the public, and if the stimulus is sufficient, the result will be good business.
