Telephone Talk

T. M. YOUNGBLOOD
Your Telephone Manager

MANY OF YOU probably remember watching some of the Bell Telephone Hour shows on TV last fall and spring. So, I thought you'd like to know this series of musicals was recently given the George Foster Peabody Award for the best "Television Musical Entertainment" in 1959. The Peabody Awards are given annually to recognize distinguished community service in television and radio by the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism of the University of Georgia and a national Advisory Board headed by Bennett Cerf. You'll be interested to know, too, that the Bell Telephone Hour will be back on the air the latter part of this month with a wonderful new fall series. So watch your newspaper for program information.

FALL SOUNDS at your house? More footsteps, more chatter, more coming and going? I guess fall brings a new spurt of energy in everybody's family. With all this increased activity-at home, plus meetings of all sorts, pity poor Mom! Now wouldn't an extension phone be a whale of a help at this point? One in the kitchen right where Mom works, or one in the bedroom so she can prop her feet up (once in a while) and relax while chatting. Extension phones aren't expensive, and they come in such lovely colors, too. Why not call our business office for more information about extensions in your home.

SECURITY AND SAFETY. I heard recently about a telephone operator who received a signal on her board at 2:30 a.m. Answering, she heard crying and groans. Quickly, she found out whose line it was, called the police who went immediately to the home and found a lady who had become ill and fallen to the floor. She had knocked over a small table and her telephone was found lying nearby. Prompt action on the operator's part quickly sent an ambulance to rush the lady to a hospital for treatment. Around the clock, your telephone serves you and your family—with peace of mind and often in unexpected emergencies.
