

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Question — What causes my iron to stick to the clothing as I press it?

Answer — Either too much starch, clothes not properly rinsed, or dirt on the bottom of your iron can cause this. If it's the bottom of your iron that's at fault, rub it with a damp cloth when cool. Polish with a dry cloth. For stubborn cases, use silver polish, or run the iron over a little table salt spread on waxed paper. In the case of rayons and other synthetic fabrics, too hot an iron will cause sticking.

Miss Stump Gets Winthrop Degree

Mary Bartram Stump was graduated Sunday, May 14, from Winthrop College, Rock Hill, with a BS degree in home economics.

A 1963 graduate of Clinton High School, she is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Stump.

Brown Completes Anderson Course

Thomas J. (Tommy) Brown of Clinton was one of 225 Anderson College graduates to receive their diploma at graduation exercises held on Sunday, May 14. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brown.

Reddeck Gets Trophy

Navy ROTC Midshipman J. M. Reddeck of Clinton, a student at the University of South Carolina, receives the Sertoma Trophy from E. M. Singletary, a Columbia attorney, during the annual Governor's Review of Navy and Air Force ROTC units at the university. He is the son of Mrs. L. S. Reddeck and the late Mr. Reddeck.

4-H'er of the Week

By HELEN CAMP
Asst. County Home Agent

This is 12-year-old Martha Gabbert's third year in the Mountville-Cross Hill Junior 4-H Club. She is presently the secretary of this club. In the past years she has held the offices of president and program chairman.

Martha's projects are clothing, foods and nutrition, and health. She has received blue ribbons in local achievement for the past three years in foods and nutrition. She also received a blue ribbon in clothing this year.

Martha's hobbies are swimming, sewing, reading, and cooking. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gabbert of Route 1, Mountville. She is a sixth grade student at the Mountville Elementary school.

4-H LIVESTOCK MEETING
Another school year is rapidly drawing to a close and along with it, another 4-H year.

On last Saturday, the Laurens County 4-H Livestock Club ended their year with their annual picnic held at Thornwell in Clinton. A picnic lunch of hamburgers with all the trimmings was served to the group of 4-H members, leaders and parents.

A recreational program consisting of horseshoe pitching, fishing, tug-of-war, and other games were enjoyed by all. Four-Hers have fun as well as educational programs at their meetings.

A feature of the program was the presentation of trophies to members of the livestock judging team that recently took top honors at the Block and Bridle Club sponsored livestock judging contest held at Clemson University. Receiving the trophies were Don Osborne who was high individual scorer in the contest; Allen Finley who was third high individual, and Gerald Mitchell, eighth high individual. The trophies were presented by H. L. Eason, assistant county agent, and coach of the team. A beautiful plaque was presented to the county extension office for having the top team in the contest. The team will compete in the state livestock judging contest to be held during the state 4-H club week at Clemson University in July. The winner of this contest will receive an expense-paid trip to Chicago to represent South Carolina in the national judging contest.

Among adults present were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wickham, leaders of the livestock club; Miss Marie Hegler, home demonstration agent; Miss Helen Camp, assistant home agent; R. J. Bennett, former associate county agent, and Mrs. Bennett, a leader and H. L. Eason, assistant county agent, and Mrs. Eason.

The members will soon begin to train their animals for showing at area fairs that begin the last of August. I would like to wish them all the best of luck.

DEAR SALLY

By SALLY SHAW

By SALLY SHAW

DEAR SALLY — I had a blind date recently with a young widow, who has a child of 3. The date was arranged through a mutual friend. As I was taking her home she blandly informed me that I had a $3 fee to pay her baby baby sitter. I was taken aback by this, because I don't think such expenses are the responsibility of a man who takes the mother of a child out. I told her my feelings in the matter, but she proved very stubborn . . . and so finally, rather than haggle any more over the subject, I paid her baby-sitting fee. What do you think about this? STUCK.

DEAR STUCK — I agree, the fee was NOT your responsibility . . . but your haggling over the matter of three dollars wasn't exactly in good taste either. In your book, his young lady is probably written down as somewhat presumptuous — but in HER book it's quite likely you are written down as a penny-linger.

DEAR SALLY — I'm a girl soon to be married, but exceedingly unhappy over the fact that my mother and my fiance's mother recently became involved in a silly little argument and are now no longer speaking to each other. This is really an embarrassing state of affairs. I love both of these ladies, and they both love me, but they're certainly casting a shadow over the happiness I should be feeling at this time. What can I do about this? TORN BETWEEN.

DEAR TORN BETWEEN — Try to reason with your mother about this, and if she really loves you as you say, she'll listen. Tell her what you've told me, how unhappy she and your fiance's mother are making you, and ask if she won't please make some move toward a reconciliation. And maybe your fiance can work on his mother in the same manner. Good luck to you!

DEAR SALLY — I'm a girl of 22 who was a high school "dropout" six years ago and regretting it more and more today. I feel terribly uncomfortable with other people who have better educations than I have because I can't carry on a decent conversation and use the right words, and furthermore it's hard for me to get a good job without a high school diploma. I've been thinking about finishing my high school education in night school, but I'm afraid it would be embarrassing because of my age. What do you think? LATE WAKER-UPPER.

IF YOU DON'T READ THE CHRONICLE YOU DON'T GET THE NEWS

DEAR LATE WAKER-UPPER — No age is too old to learn. There are many, many persons, many years older than you are who are attending schools all over the country today. And an eagerness to learn is ADMIRABLE, never embarrassing. Go to it, and best wishes to you!

Congratulations

Yippee...
Hooray...
Three Cheers... for the graduates.

Burriss-Harrison Co.
FURNITURE

SUCCESS

Reach out- There are more rewarding experiences ahead for lasting attitudes.

nineteen sixty-seven

Lowman Lumber Co.

1967

What a perfect occasion to say "Good for You", and "hope you'll be happy whatever you do".

BEST WISHES

Maxwell Brothers, Furniture

EVERY SUCCESS!

...is yours...

Build on the bedrock of high principle - not idle dreams.

Ruby's Beauty Shoppe

Congratulations GRADS

1967

Good wishes that are full of respect. You've earned them.

Lou's Shoppe

LOOK AHEAD

CLASS OF 1967...
Jump the fences and reach the horizon's edge. Good Luck.

H. D. Payne & Co.

MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED!

1967

Look into the future and meet every challenge. We're counting on you.

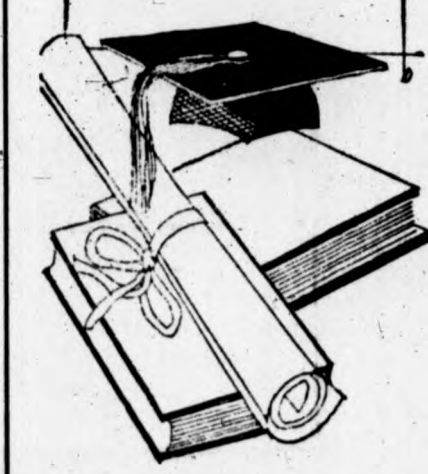

McGee's Drugs

Lt. Fowler In Pacific
With U. S. Combat Forces, Vietnam — First Lieutenant Julian L. Fowler, son of J. W. Fowler, of 408 Caldwell St., Clinton, S. C., on duty at Pleiku AB, Vietnam. Lt. Fowler, an armament officer, is a member of the Pacific Air Force which provide offensive-defensive airpower for the U. S. and its allies in the Pacific, Far East and Southeast Asia. Before his arrival in Southeast Asia, he was assigned to the 3424th Instructor Squadron at Lowry AFB, Colo. The lieutenant attended Clinton High School and received his BSEE degree from the University of Colorado. He is a member of Eta Kappa Nu, Tau Beta Pi and Sigma Tau. Lt. Fowler was commissioned in 1964 upon completion of Officer Training School, Lackland AFB, Texas. His wife Nancy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Finis M. Allison of 1021 E. 76th St., Kansas City, Mo.

Well Done!

Your record is firmly established. Congratulations to the graduates.

Gulf Oil Corporation

CONGRATULATIONS

CLASS OF '67

"There was a child, went forth every day and who now goes, and will always go forth everyday."
Walt Whitman

Gray Funeral Home

GRADUATION TIME 1967

Time for Congratulations!
Time to look ahead!
Time to say "Well Done".

Tommy's Quality Shoes

LOOK TO THE FUTURE

Measure up!
Heading for new honors is a journey not a destination.

Clinton - Newberry Natural Gas Authority