You Can Beat High Meat Bill

BY HELEN C. CAMP
Extension Home Economist

You've probably heard that meat buying takes a large chunk out of the family food dollar. And you've heard correctly. But there are a number of ways to beat the meat bill. You can really save money by becoming acquainted with the economical cuts of meat as well as by knowing some general tricks of meat buying and preparation.

Watch for weekly specials featured in newspaper ads. You'll save when you buy at the right time. Many times you can get the more expensive cuts for a lower price and in so doing you can add variety to your meals. If freezer space permits, this is a good time to buy larger amounts.

The seasonal demand can also have a direct effect on the price you pay. If ample supplies are available, you pay less than you would when the product is scarce. This brings up another price-influencing factor - popularity. When there is a strong demand for a particular cut of meat, the price will usually increase accordingly.

It goes almost without saying that you should take time to read labels on packages. There is no need to guess on kind, weight, or price per pound. The extra moment spent checking this information may save you a second trip or needless worry because you didn't buy enough or get the right kind of meat in the first place.

How much to buy: Price per serving will be directly affected by the amount of bone and waste in each cut of meat. It's much easier, for example, to determine how much ground beef you'll need to serve a family of six than it is to select the right size bone-in roast. Here are suggested amounts to be allowed per serving in buying meats: 1/4 pound for boneless meats, 1/3 to 1/2 pound for small-bone meats, and 3/4 to one pound for large-bone meats.

Tenderness of a cut is an important factor having a direct bearing on the price of meat. The more tender cuts, such as porterhouse steaks, T-bone steaks, loin chops, and standing rib of beef, cost more. Since they make up such a small percentage of the total cuts available there is an increased demand for them.

Now here is where you can really cut down on the meat bill, while not stinting on nutrition. The larger percentage of cuts available are less tender but they do cost less per pound of lean meat. These cuts do have the same protein value as the higher-priced meats. They can be made tender by proper cooking - usually with moist heat. If a tenderizer is used, a cut such as chuck steak may even be broiled.

Economy Cuts: Economical cuts of beef include round steak, which can be divided into top round, bottom round, eye of round, and tip; rump roast, sirloin of tip steak, flank steak, and heel of round. Blade chuck, arm chuck, pot roast and steak, plate, brisket, and stew meats are less expensive cuts, but have bone and connective tissue to consider.

Nothing surpasses ground beef, however, for top honors in stretching the dollar and providing variety in the menu. It can be served many ways as in meatballs, meat loaf, chili, and pizza, to mention a few.

Miss Jones, Bride-elect Complimented

Miss Betty Jones, whose marriage to Gehrig William Green will be an event of December 12, was complimented by Mrs. Robert Truluck with a miscellaneous shower on Nov. 13.

The living room of the Truluck home was decorated with a lovely arrangement of dark rose-tinted roses and magnolia.

In the dining room a white lace cloth covered the table, which was centered with a very effective arrangement of pink roses and tapers. Guests served themselves party dainties of sandwiches, cake squares, nuts and candies.

Mrs. J. C. Thomas and Mrs. J. H. Darr assisted in serving and entertaining.

After a shower of gifts from friends, the bride-elect received dinner plates in her chosen pattern of china and a corsage from the hostess in remembrance of the occasion.

On Saturday evening, Nov. 15, Miss Jones was again honored with a miscellaneous shower at the Clinton Community Building. Complimenting her were bridesmaids, Mrs. Steve Tucker, Mrs. Lana Jones, and Miss Loraine Dunaway.

The party refreshments of punch, decorated cake squares, nuts and mints were served buffet style from the table which was covered with a green linen cloth. An arrangement of yellow mums graced the center of the table.

Bridal games were played and later the 30 guests gathered around as the many useful and lovely gifts were opened.

Miss Cromer Will Marry Mr. Stephens

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dwight Douglas of Georgetown, announce the engagement of her niece, Miss Julie Frances Cromer, to Mr. Robert Allen Stephens, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Stephens of Lake View.

Miss Cromer is the daughter of Mr. Elmer Cromer of Newberry and the late Mrs. Frances Ray Cromer.

Miss Cromer is presently employed with the State Department of Agriculture in Columbia.

Mr. Stephens is owner and operator of Stephens Body Shop in Dillon.

The wedding is planned to take place on January 10 in the Duncan Memorial United Methodist Church in Georgetown.

B&PW Has Interesting Programs

The October and November meetings of the Clinton Business and Professional Women's Club were held at the Wrangler with Mrs. M. C. Poole presiding at both.

In October Mrs. W. W. Harris was in charge of the program. She introduced Dr. Marshall W. Brown, who showed slides taken in Greece, the Greek islands, and Istanbul and gave a very interesting narration of the slides.

In November, Mrs. Grady Chandler, legislative chairman, gave the program on how people could support legislation and improve their own communities.

Home Fires Expensive

NEW YORK—While spectacular fires in business or industrial areas cause headlines, fires in residences account for more than 25 per cent of the nation's total fire damage, says the Insurance Information Institute. Of 960,900 building fires reported in 1967, more than two-thirds—665,100—were in residences.

Miss Lucy Dean Weds Roger Lynn Banks

Miss Talitha Marlene (Lucy) Dean became the bride of Mr. Roger Lynn Banks on Friday, Nov. 14 at the Lydia Baptist Church. Rev. J. B. Abercrombie performed the seven o'clock ceremony. A reception was given at the Lydia Recreation Center.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Nellie Dean of Peachtree St., Clinton and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marlon F. Banks of 411 Pickens St., Joanna.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Fred Jolly of Clinton, the bride chose for her wedding, a floor length gown of sheer white lace over peau de sole, which was fashioned in a simple sheath of A-line design. Her matching pill box headpiece held a chapel length veil of buxant illusion. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of shasta daisies and ivy entwined, centered with an orchid.

The maid of honor, Miss Rita Tucker of Joanna wore a floor length gown of blue brocade taffeta, with matching shoes. Her headpiece of matching blue brocade held an illusion veil. Bridesmaids, Miss Judy Davenport of Joanna and Miss Gloria Coleman of Clinton wore similar A-line design blue brocade gowns and headpieces. All the attendants carried bouquets of mixed flowers.

Mr. Banks was the best man for his son. Ushers were Tommy Banks, brother of the groom, of Joanna and David Brown of Clinton. Ringbearer was Randy Templeton, cousin of the bride.

Little Sherry Hawkins of Prosperity was the flower girl. She wore blue satin dress of Empire design with a dark blue streamer at the waist.

Mrs. J. B. Abercrombie, organist and Mr. W. W. Willingham of Cross Hill, presented the wedding music.

For her wedding trip to the mountains the bride wore a green suit with brown accessories.

The couple is making their home with the groom's parents, at 411 Pickens St., Joanna. The groom attends Greenville Tec and the bride is a student at Clinton High School.

BIRTHS

HAUPFEAR

Sgt. and Mrs. Roy G. Hauptfear, II announce the birth of a son, James Oliver, II on November 13, at Wright-Patterson AFB, Dayton, Ohio.

Mrs. Hauptfear is the former Peggy Sue Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hayes of Joanna. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James O. Hauptfear of Rt. 2, Clinton.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Banks and family of Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Banks of Saluda, and Mrs. Otis Hyler of Saluda.

Greenwood Holiday House Set Dec. 4-5

Greenwood's 1969 Holiday House and Christmas Bazaar, sponsored by the Greenwood Woman's Club, will be open to the public Thursday and Friday, Dec. 4 and 5, during the hours of 11 a.m. until 5 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. A donation of $1.50 to the Woman's Club will permit admission to both during these hours.

The white brick contemporary home of Mr. and Mrs. Coy J. Gray, 112 Pinehurst Drive, is being presented as Holiday House this year, featuring an aesthetic mingling of the old with the new. The theme, "An Ode to the Orient", pays tribute both to the house, which is decorated with an Oriental influence, and to the season. The "Christmas" decorations being used throughout the house and yards reflect both traditional and Oriental motifs, designed to blend with the home's gold, white and black color scheme and accents of Chinese red and Mandarin orange.

The Christmas Bazaar will be held in the Woman's Club House on Calhoun Road (parallel and adjacent to Highway 72, west) and will feature hand-made articles - such as Christmas decorations and tree ornaments; baked goods and other food items (jams, jellies, pickles, etc.); baby garments, doll clothes, and other needlework; candies, candlesticks, and other miscellaneous items (or "White Elephants") desirable for giving and keeping. The Club House itself will be decorated throughout with Christmas arrangements, which will make a visit there worthwhile, in addition to the opportunity to see and purchase the handiwork displayed.

A light inexpensive lunch may be purchased at the Club House Bazaar both days.

Overbaked cookies - Avoid burned or overbaked cookies by cooling the cookie sheet between bakings, or by alternating two sheets. If you put cookie dough on a warm cookie sheet, the dough will start to melt and spread before the cookies are placed in the oven.
