Primary Oath Binding State Chairman Holds

Roach S. Stewart of Lancaster, chairman of the South Carolina Democratic executive committee, responding to an inquiry by telephone from The State, as to his interpretation of the obligation assumed by a voter in taking the oath prescribed by Rule 32, telegraphed last night a statement which follows:
 The State, Columbia, S. C.:
 I have your three questions.
 First, if a man votes in the primary is he morally bound to vote in the general election?
 Second, can a man vote in the primary knowing at the time that he will not vote in the general election?
 Third, construe Rule 32.

In order to properly answer your questions it is necessary to state that the matter of changing Rule 32 by striking out the word "national" was submitted to the last Democratic convention and after long and serious debate the convention refused to change the wording of the rule. Hence, to my mind a person who votes in the Democratic primary morally binds himself to vote for the nominees of the Democratic party, state and national, in the general election.
 While there is no way to tell the intention of the voter at the time he participates in the primary, and there is no provision in law or the Democratic rules to prevent such voter from participating in the primary, regardless of his intention, if he takes the required oath, nevertheless, in my opinion it is morally wrong for a person to vote in the primary with the fixed intention of not participating in the general election on account of antagonism to the national Democratic nominees.

The answer to these two questions constitutes my construction of Rule 32, which provides that all Democrats who vote in the primary bind themselves to vote for the nominees of the party, state and national, in the general election.
 The word "support" used in the primary oath is active in its nature and failure on the part of a person who votes in the primary to vote for the national Democratic nominees, because he does not like the personality and individual views of the presidential candidate, is morally a failure to support them as is required in the oath?

How may a voter in the Democratic primary fall or refuse to "support" the national Democratic nominees? First, by voting for the Republican nominees; second, by refusing to vote for the Democratic nominees; third, by influencing others to vote for the Republican nominees, or not to vote for the Democratic nominees.

The above represents my opinion under the teachings of my own intelligence and conscience. Others may conscientiously disagree with me.
ROACH S. STEWART, Chairman.
 Lancaster, July 20.

Poisoned Food Affects Many
 One day last week the Ford plant at Somerville, two Charleston and several Boston restaurants were prostrated by poisoned food, supposed to have accidentally been contained in milk and ice cream. Lunch boxes were sold at 25 cents each, and after the purchasers had partaken of them, many became very ill and there was a rush on the hospitals. It is estimated that about 500 were stricken, but fortunately there were no fatalities. The Ford plant had to shut down temporarily on account of the large number of workers who were suddenly made ill. A chain lunch store supplied the lunches, and the outbreak was most severe at the Ford plant.

Sub-District Sunday School Institute.
 The sub-District Sunday School Institute, embracing the Heath Springs, Hanging Rock, Kershaw, Damascus and Shiloh Sunday Schools, will meet at Shiloh church Sunday, July 29th, that being a fifth Sunday. The full program for the meeting, announcing the subjects and the speakers, will be published in the Era next Wednesday.—The Kershaw Era.

New Principal for Kershaw Grammar Schools.
 The Board of Trustees for the Kershaw Public Schools announce the selection of Guy L. Varn, of Islandton, S. C., to be principal of the Kershaw Grammar School for the coming year. This completes the list of teachers the names of all the others for the Kershaw schools having been published in the Era last week.—The Kershaw Era.

Chain Gang Has Moved.
 The chain gang, which has been working in DeKalb Township for some months past, has moved to West Waterree, and is now located about two miles below Blaney.

Greenville Man Answers Evans As to Rule 32

Greenville, S. C. July 19.—(AP)—Rule 32 of the Democratic party in South Carolina binding state Democrats to support all the nominees of the party, both state and national, is fully authorized by legislative statutes and will be enforced rigidly in the coming primaries in this county, James H. Price, county Democratic chairman declared yesterday. Mr. Price, a prominent Greenville attorney, issued a formal statement reply, he said, to a letter received recently from Former Governor John Gary Evans, of Spartanburg, to the effect that Rule 32 could not be enforced under existing statute.
 Quoting fully from existing law on the question, Mr. Price asserted that the political parties were given the right to make such rule governing the primaries as they saw fit and that he intended to set it that Rule 32 was enforced in Greenville county.
 "No man or woman who refuses to subscribe to Rule 32," he said, "will be allowed to cast a ballot in the primary, and I have so instructed election managers."

Columbia Attorney and Law Teacher Succumbs to Injuries
 Columbia, July 19.—W. T. Aycock, Columbia attorney and professor of law at the University of South Carolina, died today at a Columbia hospital from injuries he received Tuesday in a railway crossing accident at Stateburg in Sumter county.
 Mr. Aycock and J. R. Stewart, of Gainesville, Fla., were injured when Mr. Aycock's automobile collided with a Southern railway train. Mr. Stewart died shortly after he was brought to a Columbia hospital and Mr. Aycock lingered until today. He died shortly after 4 p. m.
 Mr. Aycock is survived by his widow, three children, two brothers, and a sister.

E. Ransom Horton.
 The Era last week made brief mention of E. Ransom Horton, who died quite suddenly while seated at the dinner table a short time after returning to his home from paying calls to some of his neighbors during the forenoon of last Wednesday, July 11th.

Mr. Horton, who would have reached his seventy-first birthday had he lived just one day longer, was the last surviving child of the late Columbus and Lavina Horton. He was born and reared and spent his entire life in the immediate vicinity in which he died, and was an honest upright and highly respected citizen. He had an extensive acquaintance with the people of Lancaster and Kershaw counties and possessed a host of friends, who are grieved at his death.
 Mr. Horton was a consistent member of Center Grove Baptist church. His remains were laid to rest on last Thursday afternoon in the cemetery at Hanging Rock Methodist Church, in which many of his relatives sleep. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. L. Norman, of Camden, Rev. J. M. Neal, of Kershaw, and Rev. R. B. Herbert, of Heath Springs.
 Mr. Horton is survived by his widow and the following children; Mrs. R. C. Bennett, Mrs. Sam Truesdale, Miss Callie Horton, and Marvin and Jeff Horton, of Kershaw; Mrs. W. R. Thomas, of Polkton, N. C.; Dan Horton, of Darlington; and Furman Horton, of Anderson; all of whom were present at the funeral of their father. Others who attended the funeral from out of town were: Mr. W. R. Thomas and the children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, and Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Edwards, of Polkton; Mr. and Mrs. Zel Alverson, of Spartanburg; and T. M. Catoe, of Charlotte. The Kershaw Era.

Preaching at Swift Creek
 There will be preaching services every first and fourth Sundays in each month at the Swift Creek Baptist church, near Boykin's mill on the Sumter highway. Rev. T. P. Christmas, pastor. Everybody invited to all services.

FARM GOSSIP
 Once again, the hgame route is the straightest road to farm prosperity.
 Southern farmers may not eat too much but they spend too much money for food.
 Happily dairy farmers are learning the real pasture is a cow cafeteria and not merely a "daily dozen" exercise lot for Bossy.
 Frank Farmer says: "Having made up my mind to produce the best, I am now making my mind to exhibit at the fairs next fall."

CAROLINA EDITORS WILL SAIL TODAY

Members of Press Association Embark at Charleston on Voyage to New York

Thirty members of the South Carolina press association arrived in Charleston last night, and fifty-two more will arrive this morning to embark for New York for the annual meeting of the association. B. H. Peace, president of the association and publisher of the Greenville News and the Greenville Piedmont, was among those who arrived last night.

This morning the party of eighty-two editors and their guests will be entertained at a breakfast in The News and Courier and Evening Post building, to be followed by an inspection of the newspaper plant. They will embark at 10 o'clock aboard the Clyde liner Cherokee, and tonight will meet aboard ship in the first business session at which time President Peace will deliver his annual address.

Tomorrow morning, the association will consider the libel law in this state, and R. Charlton Wright, publisher of the Columbia Record will speak on "Freedom of the Press of the Libel Law in South Carolina". In the afternoon, there will be another business session, followed by election of officers.

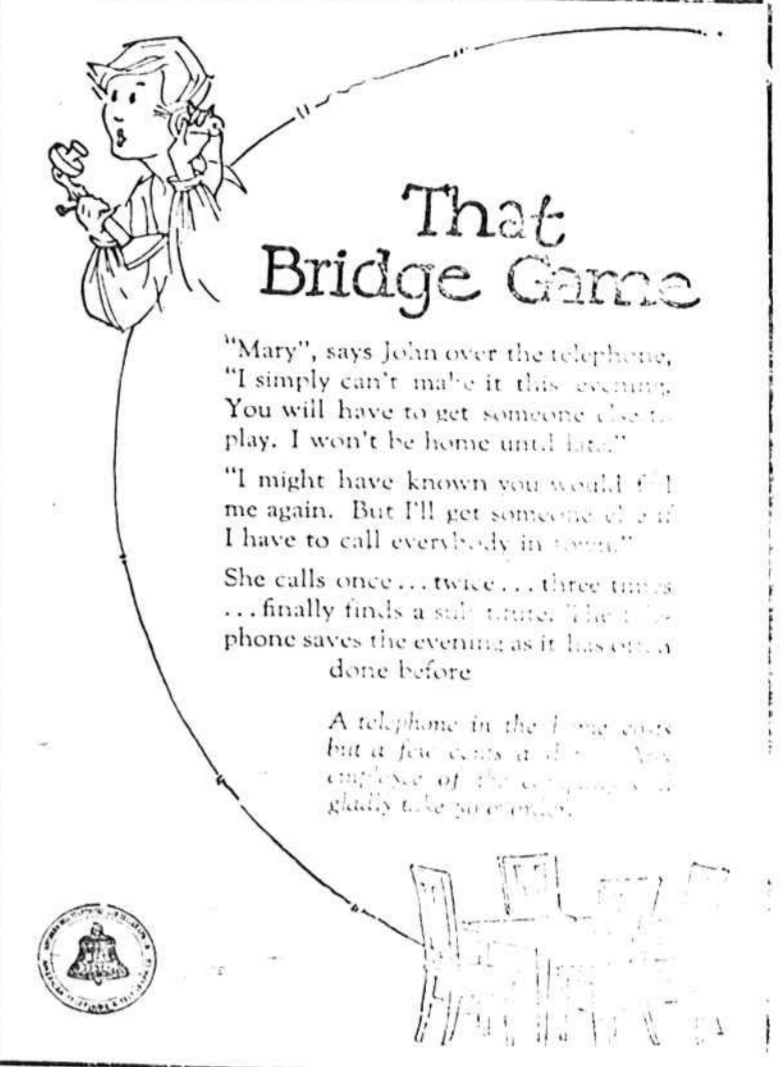

On arrival in New York Thursday morning, the press men will be met by the mayor's reception committee, and will proceed to the Lincoln hotel, association headquarters. They will be entertained at lunch by the American Press association, when Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, will speak.

After lunch, the newspapermen will go to the city hall, where the bland Mayor Jimmy Walker will welcome them to New York. President Peace will respond to his welcome. A harbor trip aboard a municipal steamer is the next step on the program.

A sightseeing trip as guests of the Mergenthaler Linotype company Friday will be followed by a trip to Coney Island, and the same night the association will be guests at Roxy's theatre, entertained by Mr. Roxy himself. They will then be taken to the radio station, where they will broadcast.

The night will be ended with a tour of the Herald Tribune newspaper plant, followed by a buffet supper. The newspaper men will embark Saturday at noon for Charleston, arriving here again Monday morning.—The News and Courier.

Boys and Girls Encampment.
 The boys and girls short course encampment is being held at Holland's pond north of Camden, July 25th, 26th and 27th. We trust that they will have a pleasant and profitable time. We return thanks for an invitation to visit them while in camp, and we hope to be able to do

That Bridge Game

"Mary", says John over the telephone, "I simply can't make it this evening. You will have to get someone else to play. I won't be home until late."

"I might have known you would fail me again. But I'll get someone else if I have to call everybody in town."

She calls once... twice... three times... finally finds a substitute. The telephone saves the evening as it has often done before.

A telephone in the home saves but a few cents a day. Any couple of the company will gladly take your order.

SAFETY

BRAKES ON THE ROAD

You realize what brake safety means when speeding over a road you come to an unusually sharp turn and instantly realize that you must slow up quickly to avoid an accident. This is an experience that motorists meet up with every day. It emphasizes the absolute necessity of brake dependability. Let us look after your brakes and keep them in order.
