To My Friends and The Public :-I am a candidate for the Demo cratic nomination of Mayor of Camden in the March primary election.

My at present only opponent. seeks reelection as a vindication of his past administration and in order to push to completion certain enter prises in the line of public improvements for which the city, through its conneil has contracted.

I ask for the nomination because I believe that I can supervise the placing of these improvements equally as well as our present May or and that my election will give greater satisfaction to the people at large than will his.

I cannot promise you that the city under the coming council will be run on a 31 mill extra tax levy, for it can't be done unless important city work is neglected or large sums of money borrowed annually to meet drains of the city will recleve conas may suggest themselves to council as true economy will be made Theffire department will be brought to an efficient condition, and last but not least, I will maintain order, Respectfully.

Mr Drakeford was in bad health and, for about a week, had been con fined to his home. It is supposed that it was in a spell of melancholy caused by sickness and anffering, that he became unbalanced, and committed the rash deed. His funeral was conducted at the Camdeo Baptist Church, of which he was a member, on Wednesday morning, by the pastor, Rev. A. T. Jamison, and his remains were enterred in the afternoon of the same day, in the famly burying ground, 13 miles North of Camden, by the side of his wife, who predeceased him about fifteen Vears.

John R. Prakeford was the second on of the late Richard C. Drakeford, and was born near Flat Rock, in this county, on the 19th day of September, 1856. He came of good stock, his ancestors baying fought for American Independence in the war of the Revolution, and having for generations maintained the highest integrity. Losing his father in 1870, e was thrown upon his own re sources while yet a boy, and well did he meet the responsibilities that were devolved upon him. His devotion to his mother, who died last summer, was most beautiful, and was the subject of frequent comment. Shortly after becoming of age, he married Miss Sallie Shaylor, the only child of Thomas Shaylor, who vave his life to the "Lost Canse. She died May 16, 1883, and Mr Drakeford never remarried, but devoted himself to the core of his moth er and his little daughter. The Dentistry of the horse is a science in itself. Horses Teeth are the cause of disagreeable pabits. Horses having diseased teeth are hard to keep in condition, and if poor it is impossible to fatten. There are few horses young or old, without more or less sharp-edged of rough projections upon their molars. The sharp edges lacetate the month, causing torsupe to the horse, and he tries in various ways to rid himself of the trouble. Some start suddenly or stop short, toes the horse, are the
