

TWO SIGNALS.

There are two serious signals of kidney illness. The first signal comes from the back with aching, aches and pains. The second signal comes in the kidney secretions, the urine is thin and pale or too highly colored and showing "brick-dust-like" deposit. Urination is infrequent, too frequent or excessive. You should heed these danger signals before chronic complications set in—Diabetes, Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Take Doan's Kidney Pills in time and the cure is simple.

J. P. Walworth, of the firm of Bónes & Walworth, painters and contractors, Pulaski, Va., says: "Four or five times a year for the past few years I have suffered with severe attacks of pain in my back, caused from kidney trouble. During these spells I was in such misery from the constant pain and aching that it was almost impossible for me to stoop or straighten, and it really seemed as if the whole small of my back had given away. At times I also had difficulty with the kidney secretions, which were discolored, irregular and scalding, and I was also greatly distressed with headaches and dizziness. I used a number of recommended remedies, but I never found anything so successful as Doan's Kidney Pills. When I heard of them I had an attack and procured a box of them. In a few days the pain and lameness disappeared, the trouble with the kidney secretions was corrected and my system was improved generally. I have every confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills."

A FINE THING of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Walworth will be mailed to any part of the United States on application. Address: Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

Benedict Arnold in 1776.

The prestige of Arnold at the beginning of the revolution is thus reflected by Prof. Justin H. Smith's description in the January Century of the heroic "battle with the wilderness" in the march to Quebec, under Arnold's command:

"The name of the leader, too, excited enthusiasm. Dorothy Dudley and the rest of the ladies in Cambridge loved to gossip about a man whom they described as 'daringly and desperately brave, sanguinely hopeful, of restless activity, intelligent and enterprising, gay and gallant; and the soldier-lads told one another admiringly how he marched through the wilderness at old Ticonderoga shoulder to shoulder with Ethan Allen! how he threatened to break into the magazine at New Haven unless the selectmen would hand over the keys within five minutes, when his company heard the news of Lexington and wanted to get out from Cambridge; and even how he used to astonish the other boys, years before, by seizing the great water-wheel and going around with it through water and through sky."

The much vaunted gallantry of the Gaul, says an English paper, does not extend to his financial dealings with the dames de la poste, as the women-clerks of the post-office are called. They receive only $200 to begin with, and out of this have to dress decently, if not smartly, and to support themselves. They petition for an additional $40, which will not give them the pay of an average English clerk of either sex. The dames de la poste consider they are badly treated by the nation in the matter of salary. Their case is championed by the novelist, Marcel Prevost. M. Prevost holds that a democracy with immense funds at its command should not be niggardly with women employed in one of the most important branches of the public service.

BILL ARP.

A good lady, a neighbor and friend, bought one of my books and expressed her pleasure at its persuasiveness, but found one fault that did not harmonize with her Hebrew feelings, for she is a Jewess. In two places she found a sportive anecdote that reflected upon some of her people, but they were too good to be suppressed, and would have been told on Gentiles as well. My respect for the Jews has been too often expressed in my letters to be questioned. It is not mere respect, but it is wonder and admiration. I rejoice with them that the ages of persecution have passed, and that they can now worship God according to their conscience and the faith of their fathers. Their ancestors appeared at the very dawn of creation. They have been broken up and scattered all time and again, but have preserved their blood, their literature and customs and religion and have outlived every nation that oppressed them. They have had no king nor ruler nor political head, and have been scattered among all climes and peoples, but have never lost their nationality nor mixed their blood with any other people. They have, for centuries, struggled against the Egyptians, Syrians and Romans, and survived them all. They were in later centuries persecuted by the Catholics of Spain, the Protestants of Norway, while their persecutors sang the songs of the Psalms and taught the wisdom of their prophets. We rejoice that their deliverance from persecution came along with that of our own when we proclaimed religious liberty and civil equality to all who made America their home. I have long admired that people, who have excelled in domestic virtue, in obedience to law, whose children honor and obey their parents. Rarely among them are found convicts or criminals or drunkards or, divorced men or women. Their names are never mentioned in the dockets of the courts, and yet they are patriots when patriots are wanted. Kosciuszko had no braver troops than the Polish Jews who followed his banner, and if I had to name the most faithful soldier I ever saw in our civil war, I would name one of our town of Rome, a Jew who followed me to Rome, a Jew who followed me to Rome, or avoided a battle or bolstered on a march. We have not forgotten how he came to time after a long day's march from Chatham to Kaplan, where he was with the colonel, "Mr. Jonas, where is your company?" The first soldier came to the same and said, "I belong to your company." That Jonas was an uncle to Israel Jonas, who all Atlanta knows, and who is now prominent in New York commercial circles.

"With great reverence do I recall our own great Benjamin, our secretary of war, and with great reverence do I recall for counsel more than upon any member of his cabinet. He was a very great man, or he could not have gone to England and worked his way unaided, to the very top of the English bar, and with his right hand appointed queen's counsel over the most famous members of the profession. I have not forgotten the perfect loveliness of the Jewish Rebecca in Scott's story of Ivanhoe. You may find broken vows and separations and elements in fact and in fiction that are not among the Jews, and they are in every town and city and are more of an example than a menace to our people and our institutions. Their names are found responding to every charity, and I noticed that the university fund was materially aided by the Jews of the city, and I could not help wondering how many of our Christian people would have given to aid some great Jewish school or charity.

I would like to write more about these Hebrews, for, as St. Paul said to the Romans, "with them was committed the righteousness of God." But I am not well today, and must defer to a more propitious season.

In my last letter I made a mistake, that must be corrected. I said that there were but two months between Caesar and Augustus. Caesar put in two months and Augustus put in one month. Augustus was born in August, and Caesar was born in August. I am sure that you will be impressed by my mature life, and I am sure that you will be impressed by my mature life, and I am sure that you will be impressed by my mature life.

AN INGENIOUS MERCHANT.

How He Was Able to Ascertain Certain Facts by a Little Ruse.

Recently a wealthy merchant in Paris, who does an extensive business in Japan, was informed that a prominent firm in Yokohama had failed, but the name of the firm he could not learn. He could have learned the truth by calling, but to save expense, he went to a well known banker, who had received the name of the firm.

"That's a very delicate thing to do," replied the banker, "for the news is not official, and if I give you the name I might incur some responsibility."

The merchant argued, but in vain, and finally he made this proposition: "I will give you, he said, 'a list of ten firms in Yokohama, and I will ask you to look through it and then to tell me, without mentioning any name, whether or not the name of the firm which has failed appears in it. Surely you will do that for me?'"

"Yes," said the banker, "for if I do not mention any name I cannot be held responsible in any way."

The list was made, the banker looked through it, and, as he handed it back to the merchant, said:

"The name of the merchant who has failed is there."

"Then I've lost heavily," replied the merchant; "for that is the firm with which I did business," showing him a name on the list.

"But how do you know that is the firm which has failed?" asked the banker, in surprise.

"Very easily," replied the merchant. "Of the ten names on the list only one is genuine—that of the firm with which I did business; all the others are fictitious."—Tit Bits.

CONGRESSMAN WILBER SAYS

(To The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., of Columbus, O.)

"Pe-ru-na is All You Claim For It."

Congressman D. F. Wilber, of Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio: Gentlemen—'Persuaded by a friend I have tried your remedy and I have almost fully recovered after the use of a few bottles. I am fully convinced that Pe-ru-na is all you claim for it, and I cheerfully recommend your medicine to all who are afflicted with catarrhal trouble.'—David F. Wilber.

Pe-ru-na a Preventive and Cure for Colds.

Mr. C. F. Given, Sussex, N. B., Vice-President of "The Pastime Boating Club," writes: "Whenever the cold weather sets in I have for years past been very sure to catch a severe cold which was hard to throw off, and which would have after-effects on my constitution the most of the winter.

"Last winter I was advised to try Pe-ru-na, and within five days the cold was broken up and in five days more I was a well man. I recommended it to several of my friends, and all speak the highest praise for it. There is nothing like Pe-ru-na for catarrhal affections. It is well nigh infallible as a cure, and I gladly endorse it."—C. F. Given.

A Prominent Singer Saved From Loss of Voice.

Mr. Julian Weissitz, 175 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., is Corresponding Secretary of The Sangerist, of New York, is the leading second bass of the Sangerist, the leading German singing society of New York and also the oldest.

In 1892 The Sangerist celebrated its fifth anniversary with a large celebration in New York City. The following is his testimony:

"About two years ago I caught a severe cold while traveling and which settled into catarrh of the bronchial tubes, and so affected my voice that I was obliged to cancel my engagements. In distress I was advised to try Pe-ru-na, and although I had never used a patent medicine before, I sent for a bottle.

"Words but ill describe my surprise to find that within a few days I was greatly relieved, and within three weeks I was entirely recovered. I am never without it now, and take an occasional dose when I feel run down."—Julian Weissitz.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Pe-ru-na write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Fresh-air tablets are a preparation discovered by a French scientist. It was while investigating acetylene that he discovered that he could combine certain chemicals into a tablet which, on being dropped into water, dissolved and gave forth pure oxygen. These tablets will be exceedingly useful in a closed carriage, a submarine boat, a mine or anywhere else where the air has become vitiated.

The Food of the Red-Shouldered Hawk.

A bird most unjustly persecuted as a chicken thief is the red-shouldered hawk, which with another innocent species, the red-tailed hawk, is shot by ignorant people for the evil deeds of those mischief-makers, the roshawk, the sharp-shinned hawk and Cooper's hawk, all of which occasionally visit the poultry yard. For two months last year I kept three full-grown red-shouldered hawks in a large enclosure with forty chickens of various sizes, and although I purposely allowed them to become quite as hungry as they would have been in a wild state, they never injured a single chicken. On the other hand, they would quickly kill and devour five snakes and frogs. The result of this experiment is not, perhaps, conclusive evidence of the innocence of this species, but it tends to show that red-shouldered hawks may be trusted even in the farm yard. Both red-shouldered and red-tailed hawks live chiefly on mice, though they eat their diet with reptiles, frogs and insects. Very rarely do they molest birds of any kind.—Woman's Home Companion.

"Would you be sorry if your mamma was to die?" asked the smallest little girl on the bench as she palpitantly threaded her needle and fell to work on her hemming.

"Oh, what a silly question!" replied the plump girl with a little pinafore who sat next to her. "Of course I should." And she gave a vicious tug at her thread to shake the knot out of it.

"Well, I shouldn't be sorry if my father was to die," put in a thin little woman of eight.

The other looked shocked and asked why.

"Oh, he's too fresh," replied the thin girl in accents of deepest disgust.

Killed in Street Fight.

Opelika, Ala., Special.—In a street fight here J. L. Moon, deputy sheriff, was shot through the arm, and John Long, a well-known citizen, was instantly killed. Sheriff Hodge, who fired the shot that killed Long, narrowly escaped death, several bullets going within a foot of his body. The firing began when the two officers offered to shake hands with Long and his companion. Instead of accepting the proffered hands Long pulled his revolver and began firing at Moon.
