The Art of a Sales Lady.

There is a peculiar art in selling goods. Some girls are born with that particular kind of tact. They are sensitive to every currice of the customer. I suppose one kind of magnetism conrists in showing genuine attention to the customer. If you are really interested in having a customer get just what she wants you have magnetical If you take the interest your women customers will detect it. You can deceive a man; but a woman never; and yet there are some women who like to be deceived. They know it is a fake, but they like it all the same,- Lorde's

Sensational Development During the Trading Monday

excitement in cotton this season occurred when an enormous movement was started by an unexpected advance of 11 to 14 points in Liverpool, attended by heavy sales of spot cotton in the English markets. The local market responded with an advance of 15 to 24 points on the more active months, new high records in all cases being made. The bull clique realized heavily in order to avert a bear panic, which at one time appeared inevitable. The !ocal advance was accelerated by sensational reports from New Orleans, which made an advance of 37 points on July. A reaction of 10 to 14 points followed continued selling by buil clique at this point, whereupon the market became more pacific. The heaviest transactions recorded this season during the same time were reported Monday. Towards noon the market became less active, it having become apparent census effect for the year 1900 will by all druggists, price 50 cents per that the bull party was not disposed to force the situation. Public operations were not an active factor, owing to the abnormal conditions now governig the fluctuations of prices. There was, however, some selling for short account as to the new crop positions on the favorable showing made by the weather in the cotton belt and the generally flattering character of the advices now current.

During the afternoon there was an active upward movement. There was gossip pointing to a large Philadelphia house as being short of July and August, several times greater than their spot holdings, or any amount of cotten possibly available for delivery in selling quantities. The afternoon market was an excitable one. A scramble carried May to 11.20, July 10.69, August 10.34, October 8.98, and December 2.25. These figures represent an advance of from 15 to 39 points over Saturday's closing.

The Liverpool markets were almost equally excited. There spot cotton advanced 10 points, or equivalent to $1 per bale, in our fluctuations to the basis of 5 pence per pound for middling, which is equivalent to 11.60 in our market. That was the highest record ington recently paid a visit for the fer cotton since 1990, when it sold in January of that year in this market at 12.75 cents, and about 7 pence per pound at Liverpool, after a prolonged session of bull speculation.

The shorts in the May option here were' practically all driven in last week, except spot dealers, who intend to make good their deliveries. The option will soon expire. stock of cotton here of contract grade, of which there were only 32,000 bales a month ago, has gradually been increased to about 80,000 bales through the recent steady advance in prices attracting cotton here.

Almost every broker was loaded with buying orders when the market opened and there was a great roar when trading began. May sold as high as 11.20 in the afternoon, July, which closed at 10.40, was bid up to 10.50 before there were any sales. Then the transactions were on an enormous scale, ranging from that price down to 10.45 to 10.49, and then there was a break to 10.41. The Auoption, which closed at 9.97. started at 10.20 and 10.21 and was as heavily traded in as July, while the September option of next year's crop. which has only just been planted and which closed at 9.28, opened 14 points higher at 9.42 and sold up to 9.44 and then broke 10 points and afterwards rallied to 9.40. When we cat an unwashed pear about 200,000 bacteria are carried into the system, twice that number New York, Special.—The wildest and still larger numbers on rampherries, grapes and currents. The most infested fruits are cherries, with 12,000,000 bacteria to the half pound; currants with 11,000,000 and grapes with 8,000,000.

A man will readily consume a half pound of grapes at a sitting, and if the state of his health leaves him open to the attacks of disease, it can be appreciated what a tremendous risk he runs of poisonous infection by the germs.

Not many weeks ago inquiry was made into the state of the surface air in this city. The air for several feet above the ground was found to be literally swarming with bacteria. Now it is a matter of everyday observation that the fruits exposed for sale on the sidewalks and curbs of New York are placed at no great distance from the pavement. In many instances they are so near the ground as to be in the very center of the germ-bearing strata of air. The inference is obvious. Yet in spite of these facts, not one in a hundred who hastily buys an apple or a banana on the corner gives the matter of bacteria the slightest thought, and not one in a thousand goes the length of taking the sanitary precaution of washing the fruit.
