A Boston woman, after selecting some embroidery in one of the big department stores, discovered that she had not money enough with her to pay for it. She had never opened an account in this particular shop, and was therefore agreed that the clock should put the goods aside until the next day, when the purchaser should come for it with each in hand.

When the woman returned the day following to get her embroidery she could not remember which of the saleswomen had waited upon her. After fuzzling over the matter for a moment, however, she approached ore who looked vaguely familiar and asked, "Am I the woman who bought some embroidery here yesterday?"

"Yes'm," replied the girl, stolidly, and turned to get it .- Youth's Com-

Important Work For State Board of Education.

The State board of education wil will be called upon next spring to abopt a list of text books to be used in the public schools. Uniformity in the use of books is very much desired, but very few city schools use the same books as other city schools or as the free rural schools.

In regard to this matter, the State superintendent of education, Hon. O. B. Martin, says in his report to the legislature:

"The contract for text books used in the schools under the adoption of the State bord of education will expire on July 1, 1906. The law governin the adoptions has been amended. from time to time, until it has become somewhat inconsistent, and it seems to me that a general law should be passed which will unify and simpyfy the situation. Section 1239 of the code provides that 'county boards of education shall set aside an amount not exceeding $500 for the purpose of providing the public attending the free public schools of the their count ies with school text books at actual eost or exchange prices,'

"By a special proviso, ten counties have been exempt from the mandatory provisions of this act, namely: Charleston, Chesterfield, Edgefield, Georgetown, Kershaw, Lancaster, Laurens, Greenwood, Lexington and Richland. At the last session of the legislature a bill was passed allowing township depositories to make a profit of not more than 10 per cent, on the cost price of the books. Under the contract now in force, no restriction is put upon prices at which books may be sold by dealers, so there is naturally a great deal of confusion and some dissatisfaction in the handling of the books. To begin with, the cost price is stamped on the back of the book. A township depositary may add 10 per cent, to this price. At this, the purchaser naturally wonders. The dealer, I am informed, frequently adds 15 to 25 per cent., and even more The purchaser then wonders again. If it is desired to furnish the books at actual cost, then I think the Indiana plan is best, namely, have a State depository to which the publishers sell the books at the yowest competitive bids. The State depositories then furnish to the county depositories at cost, and the county depositories in turn furnish them to the people

"This is a good theory, but it puts a vast amount of very difficult labor upon school officers who have other multituduous duties. It seems to me that the plan that has been adopted by a majority of the States which have State uniformity is a simpler and better one. Any purchaser is willing to pay a reasonable per cent, for the handling of merchandise of and kind. It is generally agreed that 10 per cent. is a reasonable profit on a staple artiele. I think the law ought to provide for a strict contract with the publishers at a price to be stamped on the back of each book and provide also that the books shall not be sold anywhere in this State above that price It should provide also that this price be determined by scaled bids, protected by bond.

"The State board should have the right to reject any and all bids which are greater than 10 per cent, on the cost price of the book. The cost price can be readily determined by comparison with the price list in this office from other states, and especially such a State as Indiana, which buys books direct at a wholesale price. This 10 per cent. should then be included in the price stamped on the back of the book, and the publisher bound by contract and fond not to allow dealers to sell their books unless they will agree to sell them at the price stamped on the back. This will enable all purchasers to get the books at a fixed price, and a reasonable profit will have already taken out of that price us a discount.

"If the dispository system is maintained in the counties which now have it. I believe the county superintendent ought to be allowed the same 10 per cent, discount which is allowed to the dealers. If this were true, I believe the county superintendents in the 10 counties where the dispository act is optional would handle the books and this would serve as a check on the dealers. I think the county superintendent ought to be allowed the profit on account of the extra work and to enable him to provide extra clerk hire at unusually busy seasons, when it is impossible for him to be at the office. I am informed that under the present contract, the publishers have been giving from 5 to 10 per cent, discount to dealers on what is now understood to be the east price.

Of course, the county superintender cannot expect this discount, because the law does not allow it; so in one case the dealer gets a discount and in another case the county superintendent is not allowed to take it. It is clear that the publisher keeps a discount which he would be willing to give to facilitate the handling of his books; so the county superintendent does the work for nothing, and the publisher keeps profit. It does not cost the State anything to allow the county superintendent to make the same profit which is now allowed to township depositories and to dealers. The dealer under the present law and contract may not only receive a discount, but may add as much profit as he can get above the so-called cost price. Under the system which I suggest and which is in use in a majority of the States which have State adoptor the States which have State adoptions, there would be a uniform, reasonable price, which, it seems, to me, would give very general satisfaction.

Are natural; every ache and pain is gone, and my general health is much improved. I advise all women who unfer to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. Tillie Hart, of Larimore, N. D.,

"I believe the State board of education will handle the text book adop-tion and contracts with an earnest desire for the welfare of the school and let the Phills with due regard to rigid economy."

HIGH CLASS DRUGGIS AND - OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' preso scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent always under original or officinal names and they never sell false brands, or imitation some They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the ar best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefit conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greates reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and princi of the profess. and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the pa he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter hi establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exce exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company California Fig Syrup Co .- printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable
