A Word About Advertising.

Augusta Chronicle. Does it pay to advertise? This question is asked by those who have only had slight experience with "printer's ink."

Those who have had long experience with advertising have found that it pays—and handsomely. The proof of this lies in the increase of the prosperous, successful merchant had given from year to year.

If advertising did not pay, the many millions of dollars yearly expended would be decreased rather than increased.

The appropriation for advertising of the large concerns are increased because they found that it was the thing that not only made the business what it is, but kept it up and daily made it larger.

Once heard the proprietor of one of the largest business concerns in this country—a concern now spending annually over a half million dollars a year for newspaper advertising, say: "If I stopped my advertising I would expect to fail inside of ten years."

This appeals to all lines of business. No matter how small your business is—money for advertising in proportion to your income should be spent—if you hope to grow.

Think it over—and you will concur with those that know—that it is a great thing, all you have to do to see, is to try it—and be convinced.

One To Be Reckoned With.

Mr. John G. Richards, of Liberty Hill, Kershaw county, was a caller at the state house to-day. Mr. Richards was chairman of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives last year and is frequently mentioned as a candidate for the speakership of the next house.

Whether he is speaker or not he will certainly be one of the men to be reckoned with.—Columbia Record, 25th.

Judge Meminger expresses himself in the highest terms regarding our new Court House. He is highly delighted with it, but says he thinks it would be a better arrangement for the juries to use the up-stairs rooms—those directly above the ones now being used.

This, he says, would put the juries entirely away from everybody. We fully agree with him. "Taxpayer" says he would like to know what has become of the city ordinance against the blowing of steam whistles within the corporate limits of the city and says that "the ear-splitting, death-raising, head-breaking, nerve-racking whistles of the factory ought to be stopped at all hazards."

The officers of the Mecklenburg fair association of Charlotte, N. C., have our thanks for a complimentary ticket to their annual fair Oct. 16 to 19.

Our neighbor the Messenger is rejoicing over the erection of a Merry-go-round in its locality. We extend congratulations.

Trespass Notice.

All persons are hereby forbidden to trespass upon any of my lands for the purpose of hunting, fishing or any other purpose whatsoever. Parties disregarding this notice will be dealt with according to law. J. J. Bell, Sept. 10, 1906.

Permanent Positions Open.

I have two openings in my business to offer a couple of bright, energetic young men. Country raised boys preferred and only those who can come well recommended. Previous business experience not necessary. Apply in own handwriting to, J. E. Hauff, Box 155, Charlotte, N. C.

Farm Notes.

The following appeared in a recent issue of the Greenville Mountaineer:

If the Cotton Association could purge from its membership all that cotton gambling element, no doubt Farmers' Union men could then claim kin with them and join in with them with some degree of confidence in maintaining profitable prices for cotton.

If it is true that the cotton farmer has made a fine crop this season this good fortune belongs to the farmer who dug it out of the earth, and the farmer can keep this good fortune for himself if he will only join in a concert of action among cotton producers to take his cotton back home from the streets every time that the price drops below 11c.

If you owe bills don't dodge your creditor but go right up to him like a man and, if you cannot arrange matters with him to help you keep your cotton off of a glutted and depressed market, then your last chance is to store your cotton in a warehouse and give your creditor the benefit of all that you can get on your cotton.

Be sure to act honest and square with your creditors every time and then you can't help from feeling comfortable about it.

There is no getting around the fact that the growers of cotton should have the aid of most all other business occupations in the South to back them in their efforts to maintain profitable prices for cotton in the beginning of the season, and it is to the mutual benefit of our whole interest to do it.

As cotton is king we should like the name "Southern Cotton Association."

The business farmer need not lose any prestige, manhood, or anything by his participation in a cotton conference for the good of the whole country.

In fact the Farmers' Union men could gain much business knowledge by this rubbing up against business men in other occupations.

Notice To The Sub-Aliances In Kershaw County.

Having been selected County Trustee for the different Aliances for this County who hold stock in the State Alliance Exchange, I am now ready to pay out the money that the various Aliances in this County put in as Stock in this State Alliance Exchange, and all of the Sub-Aliances who have Certificates of Stock taken in the State Alliance Exchange can get their proportionate share of same by calling on me.

Those Sub-Aliances that failed to get a Certificate of Stock on account of not having paid in all of the installments are requested to establish their claim before me of the amount paid in and they will be paid back their proportionate share on the amount paid in.

W. F. Russell.

GREAT PREPARATIONS State Fair WILL BE GRAND SUCCESS Oct. 22 to 27

Everybody is going to the Greater State Fair this year. Preparations are being made to entertain about twice as many as ever before this year, and that was when the biggest crowd in the history of the fair was there. This year the location for me will be the "homecoming" celebration. Every South Carolinian is invited where he lives to come to the fair. It is in Columbia that the fair will be held. It is from all over the State that the people are being invited to come to the fair. It is a grand opportunity for all of us to see and enjoy the fair. It is a grand opportunity for all of us to see and enjoy the fair. It is a grand opportunity for all of us to see and enjoy the fair.
