A communication from Congressman D. E. Finley informs us that on the 18th of February there will be held at Yorkville an examination to fill two vacancies from the Fifth Congressional District of South Carolina at the Naval Academy.

Postoffice Money Order Found.

A postoffice money order for $6.00 was found on Main street, near DeKalb, one day this week. The order was issued from Station No. 2, Charleston, S. C., on the 3rd day of Feb., and made payable to Adam Brown. The name of the remitter is Ransom Deas. The owner can get it by calling at this office and paying for this notice.

Dr. Holley Stays In Augusta.

We take the following from the Augusta Herald:

After careful deliberation, Dr. J. B. Holley, pastor of the Second Baptist church in Augusta, has decided to decline a call recently received from the leading Baptist church at Millen, Ga.

The Millen congregation is one of the strongest in that section of the state, and the action they took a week ago in unanimously calling Mr. Holley was a compliment deeply appreciated by the Augusta pastor.

Mr. Holley had been giving the matter earnest and prayerful consideration, and yesterday decided that he would remain here. He continues his work in Augusta at the urgent request of the board of deacons, the board of trustees and the congregation of the Second Baptist church, and as an evidence of appreciation has been voted a substantial increase in salary.

BAPTIST CHURCH DEDICATED.

Last Sunday, February 2nd, 1908, was a happy day for the Baptists of Camden. Their new Church was dedicated. The Church is located on the east end of Main street and Lafayette avenue. It is a brick structure and cost about $12,000.00. The building committee, consisting of Dr. S. F. Brasington and Messrs. G. C. Bruce, J. J. Goodale, W. G. Wilson and W. R. Eve, Jr.

The deacons of the Church are Mr. C. R. Lewis, chairman, and Messrs. G. C. Bruce, T. E. Goodale, W. R. Eve, Jr., and W. G. Wilson. Mr. W. G. Wilson is also the Sunday school Superintendent and Church clerk, and Mr. T. E. Goodale is the efficient Treasurer.

The officers are all good, strong men and a great work may be expected of the Camden Baptist Church. Last Sunday the weather was cold but there was a large congregation at all the services and the following program was carried out:

- Doxology
- Invocation
- Hymn 161
- Reading Scripture
- Prayer
- Hymn 610
- Offering
- Anthem—"Beautiful are Thy Towers"
- Sermon—Rev. E. M. Potent, D. D. Treasurer's Report—Mr. W. G. Wilson
- Acceptance of Church—Mr. C. R. Lewis
- Ordaining Prayer—Rev. T. M. Bailey, D. D.
- Hymn 616
- Benediction
- Sunday School Rally at 4 P. M.
- Evening Service at 7:30
- Doxology
- Invocation
- Reading Scripture
- Prayer
- Hymn 612

Address on behalf of City Churches—Rev. G. C. Hurbert

Address on behalf of Kershaw Association—Dr. E. M. Potent.

Address on behalf of the State—Rev. T. M. Bailey, D. D.

Address by the editor of the Baptist Courier, Rev. A. J. S. Thomas, D. D.

We do not want to appear partial by publishing the address of only one of the speakers, for both Dr. Potent and Dr. Bailey were at their best as was also Dr. Thomas, the beloved editor of the Baptist Courier, but so full of Christian love and fellowship was the address of Rev. G. C. Hurbert on behalf of the other Churches of Camden, we give it in full. Mr. Hurbert said:

"Brother Mitchell, and Brethren of the Camden Baptist Church:—I accept with genuine pleasure the place upon this program which you have assigned to me. It is a most agreeable duty to give expression upon this happy occasion to the sentiments of your brethren of other Christian Churches in this city.

You have erected upon a commanding and historic site a substantial and beautiful structure for the worship of God. Did I represent upon this occasion any other of the larger interests of this city there is much that might be said; for this splendid work of yours will be a benefit to the community from every point of view. Good Churches advance a city in beauty, sobriety, happiness, education and business, and in universal public esteem.

But speaking, as I have been requested by your pastor to do, from the standpoint of your Christian brethren of other Churches, let me say that we rejoice with you in the higher and more spiritual significance of your work.

A building like this, erected through the consecrated and earnest effort of pastor and people, will speak mightily to this and coming generations concerning the things of our holy religion.

Silently but powerfully through the years this sacred building will bear testimony to the higher nature that is in man. We are not all animal, we are not all earth, our quest is not alone for food and raiment. But God has breathed into us of his spirit, and our earthly temples are the fair shadows of the house not made with hands, whither we would go.

This beautiful Church is an impetuous declaration of your faith in God and the Christian religion. When Ingersoll was at the height of his glory, or his shame, he declared that Christianity had reached its limit and predicted that it would now begin to decline. Next morning C. C. McCabe then secretary of Church building work in the Methodist Episcopal Church, wired the famous infidel: "Dear Bob. All the same we are building two a day." And the permanent significance of that message is this: that every new Church is a substantial and enduring affirmation of the faith of the builders in Jesus Christ. May this building strengthen the faith and arouse the waning courage of many a child of God. Not only does this building declare your faith, but it is a fair expression of praise. It is an anthem in brick and mortar, a song without words. It gives its voice to your spirit of adoration and devotion—and may it be powerful to arouse and bless live in many hearts a personal hymn to the One who is well pleased to receive our praises.

Again, to build a place like this to worship God is to invite God to come here and bless his people. These graceful walls are lifted up like arms toward Heaven for the coming of the Holy Spirit. May this Church prove a point of contact between many a human spirit and the Spirit of the Father, for indeed it is the visible utterance of a people's prayer.

A beautiful Church is an eloquent sermon. Not only does this building express your aspirations towards God but it speaks of what God in Christ has done for man and what he proposes to do. God will use it as a standing declaration of the blessed Gospel. It will tell all who behold it of that un-speakable Gift which God has given to man, and of the love of Christ which brought him to the help of humanity. May many a soul be led here into the blessing of the household of God.

Brethren this Church is now dear to you because of its beauty and because of the sacrifices you have made to place it here. But it will become far dearer to you as the years go by. Here you will find strength for life's burdens, comfort for its sorrows, peace amidst its turmoil, grace sufficient for its temptations. And here your little

PERSONAL.

Mr. D. F. Owen, of Westville, was in Camden yesterday.

Our good friend, Mr. H. T. Johnson, was in Camden last Saturday.

Mr. J. R. Catoe and little son, Edward, were in Camden a couple of days last week.

Mr. B. H. Coats, of Kershaw No. 1, gave us a pleasant call last Saturday. Mr. Coats is a "brand-new paid-in-advance" subscriber.

Mr. W. A. Clyburn, of Bethune, was in Camden last Monday. Mr. Clyburn was accompanied by his youngest son who has just returned home after an absence of eight years.

U. D. C.

The Chapter of the U. D. C. met at the home of Mrs. A. W. Burnet, Jr., Feb. 3. Only twelve members were present.

Mrs. Harry Baum not wishing to accept the office of Treasurer, tendered her at the last meeting, made it necessary to elect another in her stead. There not being a quorum present the election was postponed till the next meeting. The President was requested to take charge of the news collected at this meeting.

The President advised that the Constitution be printed and a copy be furnished each member of the Chapter. She will therefore have it printed at an early date. Other items of interest to the Chapter were discussed. After dainty refreshments, the Chapter adjourned.
