Start at the Bottom.

Two boys left home with just enough money to take them through college, after which they must depend entirely upon their own efforts. They attacked the collegiate problems successfully, passed to graduation, received their diplomas from the faculty, also, commendatory letters to a large ship-building firm with which they desired employment. Ushered into the waiting room of the head of the firm the first was given an audience. He presented his letters.

"What can you do," said the man of millions.

"I would like some sort of a clerkship."

"Well sir, I will take your name and address; and if we have anything of the kind open will correspond with you."

As he passed out, he said to his companion, "You can go in and leave your address."

The other presented himself and his papers.

"What can you do?" was asked.

"I can do anything that a green hand can do," was the reply.

The magnate touched a bell which called a superintendent.

"We want a man to sort scrap-iron," replied the superintendent.

And the college student went to sorting scrap-iron.

One week passed, and the president asked, "How is the new man getting on?"

"Oh," said the boss, "he did his work so well, and never watched the clock, that I put him over the gang."

In one year the man had reached the head of the department, and an advisory position with the management, at a salary represented by four figures, while his whilom friend was still out of employment and seeking a position.

NO GUSHER

But Tells Facts About Postum.

"We have used Postum for the past eight years," writes a Wis. lady, "and drink it three times a day. We never tire of it.

"For several years I could scarcely eat anything on account of dyspepsia, bloating after meals, palpitation, sick headache—in fact was in such misery and distress I tried living on hot water and toast for nearly a year.

"I had quit coffee, the cause of my trouble, and was using hot water, but this was not nourishing.

"Hearing of Postum I began drinking it and my ailments disappeared, and now I can eat anything I want without trouble.

"My parents and husband had about the same experience. Mother would often suffer after eating, while yet drinking coffee. My husband was a great coffee drinker and suffered from indigestion and headache.

"After he stopped coffee and began Postum both ailments left him. He will not drink anything else now, and we have it three times a day. I could write more, but am no gusher—only state plain facts."

ALL MANILA CHEERS THE FLEET'S ARRIVAL

American Warships Where Dewey Defeated the Spanish Fleet.

FILIPINOS SHOW GREAT JOY

Shore Leave to Be Granted Officers, But Nothing to Be Taken Aboard From Shore Owing to Epidemic of Cholera.

Manila, P. I.—The Atlantic battleship fleet, escorted by excursion steamers and launches crowded with cheering thousands, steamed slowly into Manila Bay, and, sailing majestically across the battlefield where Dewey and his men fought their historic fight with the Spanish fleet ten years ago, dropped anchor off the city.

The fleet cleared the south channel shortly after noon and steamed up the centre of the bay. The ships presented a magnificent appearance as they moved slowly along, and the sight of the long line evoked the enthusiasm and admiration of thousands that crowded every point of vantage. As the Connecticut led the line past Corregidor the garrison there fired the admiral's salute. The passage of the channel was made in single column, but as soon as the last ship in the long line was safely through signals were hoisted for the double column formation, and in this manner the ships steamed up the bay two abreast.

The anchorage was reached at 3 o'clock, and all along the shore line the crowds continued to increase, even after the last vessel had come to rest. As the ships moored, General Weston, Military Commander in this city, sent a wireless message conveying the greetings of himself, his officers and the men of the army to Admiral Sperry and his men. Admiral Sperry replied, thanking him for his kind welcome.

Governor-General Smith witnessed the arrival of the fleet from his launch, where he entertained a large party of officials.

Shore leave was granted the officers, providing they return to ship by 10 p. m. A special permit must be obtained to allow remaining over night, and careful instructions were issued governing their conduct while ashore in order to guard against the remotest danger of bringing the cholera contagion aboard the vessels of the fleet.

In discussing the long cruise from San Francisco with the correspondents who boarded the Connecticut Rear-Admiral Sperry declares that since the warships had been thrown upon their own resources, without the convenience and support of a navy yard, the efficiency of the ships had been greatly increased. This, he said, was particularly true of the engineering department, but the symmetrical developments of the entire fleet had steadily increased with the repetition of drills and with the additional experience of handling the ships under conditions of all kinds.

The Admiral, reviewing that portion of the cruise since leaving San Francisco, expressed himself as well satisfied with the general results attained from the standpoints of discipline, seamanship and adaptability to circumstances.

Thousands of people at night thronged the Luneta, or public square, which was brilliantly illuminated.

Gibraltar—Sir Frederick Forrest-Walker, Governor of Gibraltar, entertained at luncheon Captain Vaughn and Captain Capperton, commanders respectively of the United States battleships Alabama and Maine, and the principal officers of their ships. There were numerous other entertainments and exchanges of visits between American and British officers and officials.

The visitors expressed pleasure at the splendid reception tendered them. They report the voyage here from Naples to have been without incident.

CONVICTED MEN CAN VOTE.

20,000 Whose Sentences Were Suspended Affected in New York.

Albany, N. Y.—In a decision handed down by the Court of Appeals it is held that a person who has been convicted of a crime and upon whom sentence had been suspended can vote without first having been restored to citizenship.

The question was raised by George Febman, of New York City, who was arrested for illegal voting, on the ground that he had not been restored to citizenship, having two years before been found guilty of burglary, when sentence was suspended. The question passed upon was whether the word "convicted" means the verdict of a jury or the solemn judgment of the court.

It is understood the decision will affect the right of about 20,000 to vote in this State.

South's Corn and Hay.

"One of my best customers in Mississippi offers to sell me 400 tons of hay and 50,000 bushels of corn," said a Memphis grain jobber. "I have received other offers of corn and feedstuffs from the same State, so there must have been exceedingly good yields in those crops. The South is learning to diversify its farming more and more, and this year the corn and hay crops are large."

Apple Situation Favors Growers.

Apple buyers in Western New York is pressed rather slowly, but with a trend of prices in favor of the growers. No increasing number of sales is reported on the $2 basis, the price paid for quite a number of choice lots of No. 1 apples.

PROSPERITY IS REAL.

Wheat and Oats Selling Freely at High Prices.

New York City. — Prosperity is just as real as it ever was, and reports from all sections are entirely favorable. High prices for all grains, as well as for farm products generally, have placed the agricultural communities in an excellent condition financially, and farmers have, in most instances, sold sufficient grain to provide for their maturing obligations and to put them in condition to hold a large part of their surplus. They are spending money with reasonable freedom—a fact plainly indicated by the increased purchases of merchandise by interior retailers. Sales of dry goods, clothing and shoes have lately equalled those of last year.

Harvest returns in the agricultural regions must in fact be pronounced generally satisfactory, although yields of small grains have not of course been as large as was anticipated early in the season. Weather conditions have been favorable for both threshing and marketing of small grains throughout the central regions, west and northwest, and farmers west of the Mississippi River and in the Northwest have taken advantage of the high prices prevailing for wheat and oats to sell freely.

Busy Cars Point Prosperity.

Idle railway cars have again been reduced by 50,000, leaving a surplus of only 173,587 cars.

Mint a Profitable Crop.

It is claimed that on the drained marsh land more than twice as much mint could be raised to the acre. Yields of fifty pounds of extract to the acre were secured worth at least $3 per pound. $150, and the cost was only about half the receipts.

Horse Famine Predicted.

The opening up of the big Canadian Northwest is draining the border States of horses of all type. In fact demands are being created in all quarters owing to the industrial activity of the nation. It is just possible that the country may be treated to the novelty of a good-sized horse famine.

Woolen Mills Busy.

The woolen mills have little idle machinery, but shoe shops find difficulty in securing the higher prices made necessary by the firm leather market.

The Wheat Field.

Take a look at the wheat field that has been brought up to perfection, as it stands. Yellow as gold, with the sheen of the sea, billowing from skyline to sky-line like an ocean of gold, where the wind touches the rippling wave crests with the tread of invisible feet. In California, in Oregon, in Washington, in Dakota, in the Canadian Northwest, you may ride all day on horseback through the wheat fields without a break in the flow of yellow heavy-headed grain. No fence lines. No meadow lands. No shade trees. No knobs and knolls and hills and hollows of grass or black earth through. From dawn till dark, from sunrise in a burst of fiery splendor over the prairie horizon to sundown when the crimson thing hangs like a huge shield of blood in the haze of a heat twilight—you may ride with naught to break the view between you and the horizon but wheat—wheat. It is like the gold fields. It goes to your head. You grow dizzy looking at it. You rub your eyes. Is it a mirage? Billowing yellow waves seem to be breasting the very sky. You look up. The sky is there all right with the black mote of a meadow lark sailing the azure sea. He drops liquid notes of sheer mellow music down on your head, does that meadow lark and that gives you back your perspective, your sense of amazing reality. You are literally, absolutely, really, in the midst of a sea of living gold. It is you and not the lark that is the mote. You begin to feel as if your special mote might be a beam that would get lost in infinity if you staid there long; and so you ride on—and on—and some more on—and by and bye come out of the league-long, fenceless fields with an odor in your nostrils that isn't exactly like incense—it's too fugitive, too fine, too sublimal of earth. It is aromatic, a sort of attar of roses, the imprisoned fragrance of the billions upon billions of wheat flowers shut up in the glumes of the heavy-headed grain there. And that's the odor of the wheat—From "Harvesting the Wheat," by Agnes C. Laut in The Outing Magazine for October.

Insignificant Work.

Big men do big things, but how many big things are big failures. The biggest ship that ever was built was no profit to anybody until it was sold and broken up for old junk. Many a little ship during the same time had made good voyages, and brought profit to its owner. A man writes a big book; he is a great man, but few people ever read his book, yet it is learned and bulky, and perpetuates the man's fame through generations. Another man writes a little letter, a pamphlet, an epistle, which can be read in an hour, carried in the pocket, copied in a little while, sent through the mails, or printed on a few pages, and that little pamphlet is translated into hundreds of languages, scattered by millions in every quarter of the globe.

Paul, chained to a soldier in his hired house at Rome, wrote no big books. A dozen pages would contain the largest treatise he ever wrote, and yet the thoughts there embodied and the truths there declared, live through all ages and go to the ends of the earth. A seed is a little thing but in it there is the promise of a waving harvest through all the years to come. A granite monument is a great thing, but it has no advancement, no promise, no growth.

Let the man who does little things wait on God, who can make little things great, and accomplish his own purpose of grace and goodness, working wonders by means of the feeblest instruments through his matchless wisdom and his powerful love.—Chirstian.

Who Can Foretell?

And who can foretell what fashions for women are yet to come? At present the tendency is toward as few garments as possible (although this does not in any way diminish the cost of woman's clothes). The lingerie waist has become a necessity; skirts grow more abbreviated every day. There is said to be a new silk underskirt which will admit of being drawn through a finger ring. Hosiery is thinnest lace, and instep shoes are pumps of such scanty margin as to scarce conceal the rosy toes. The oldest inhabitants do say the climate is changing, and that we never have such cold winters as we used to—fifty years ago. Are these things to be taken in connection, and are women gradually evolving toward that form of dress which obtained in pristine Eden?—From "Do Women Dress to Please the Men?" by Louise Cass Evans, in The Bohemian Magazine for October.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Miss or Mr.?

"Fighting Bob" Evans, during his last stay in Washington, was one evening a guest at a house where he met a number of the younger set of the Capital. As the admiral was leaving, he chanced to pick up from the floor a very dainty handkerchief, edged with lace. He was gravely inspecting this "trifle light as air," when a rather effeminate-looking young man hastened forward to claim it. "Your sister's, no doubt," said the admiral as he handed it over. "Oh, no," said the young man; "it's mine." Evans scrutinized the young man closely. "Would you mind telling me what size hair-pins you use?" he asked after a pause.—October Lippencott's.

RAISED FROM SICK BED

After All Hope Had Vanished.

Mrs. J. H. Bennett, 59 Fountain St., Gardiner, Me., says: "My back used to trouble me so severely that at last I had to give up. Though without hope, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, and in three months was completely cured. The trouble has never returned."

Apple Trees Are Long Lived.

How can an apple tree grow if a few of the trees planted by Sconodoah, the Oneida chief, and Dominie Kirkland, the missionary, in 1791. These trees, now considerably over one hundred years of age, still bear an abundance of fruit. The wood is in good condition, notwithstanding many years of neglect. The average age of an orchard, as generally planted and cared for, rarely exceeds fifty years. I am inclined to think that the more sturdy sorts can make it exceed one hundred years. In order to attain any age there must be a selection of vigorous trees, and they must be grafted upon tough stock. Our father's apple trees were grafted in the top, but the apples planted in these days are grafted in the roots. However, one must not cling too long to an old tree. I love any fine old tree, especially an apple tree, but when beyond usefulness, it is a sin to let it cumber the ground. Jesus laid down a great horticultural law when he cursed the barren fig tree, (i. e., condemned it to being cut down). There is no room for second-rate stuff in the proposed.—F. P. Powell in The Outing Magazine for October.

WOMAN'S BACKACHE

The back is the mainspring of woman's organism. It quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells, with other symptoms, such as nervousness, headache, pains in the loins, weight in the lower part of the body, that a woman's feminine organism needs immediate attention.

In such cases the one sure remedy which speedily removes the cause, and restores the feminine organism to a healthy, normal condition is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Will Young, of 3 Columbia Ave., Rockland, Me., says:

"I was troubled for a long time with dreadful backaches and a pain in my side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to try it; after taking three bottles I can truly say that I never felt so well in my life."

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I had very severe backaches, and pressing-down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and made me feel like a new woman."
