CAMDEN, S. C., FEB. 24, 1911

After a hard session's work our legislative delegation returned home on Saturday last.

Gov. Blease has vetoed the jury exemption act because ministers of the gospel are not exempted from jury duty by the measure.

A letter sent out to the various clerks of court indicates that Gov. Blease will refuse to approve a recommendation for the appointment of any negro as notary public.

Judge Robert E. Copes, of Orangeburg, will preside at the approaching term of court for this county. Judge Cope was, until recently, Judge of Probate of Orangeburg county.

A slandering tongue is more to be dreaded than the most loathsome reptile that crawls upon the face of the earth for he will give warning before he strikes you—but a slanderer—never.

Honest poverty should be respected and not scorned. It was in the homes of the lowly that we oftenest find Christ when upon the earth and in our day it can be truthfully said that we meet Him there oftener than elsewhere.—Ex.

Zach McGee, for the last six years the Washington correspondent of the Columbia State, died last night after an illness of about six weeks. We did not know Mr. McGee personally but through his writings we had learned to love him and regard him as a true and valuable man to the newspaper profession, and this morning we are saddened by his death.

Isn't It So? It was very unbecoming in the Georgian—the great ado it made over the Journal indictment matter. It seems professional courtesy would have prompted a different line of conduct.—Madisonian.

Bleese Against The Field. And so it goes. It's Cole Blease against the field of politicians, and in their efforts to take away from him the power heretofore delegated to other governors, the politicians are not only trying to hobble the governor of South Carolina, but the people of the State who elected him. It is, in effect, saying to them, "You have elected your man Blease, but we will fix him so he can't do you any good—we will shear him of his power, and you can't help yourselves." But the people can help themselves. Ben Tillman with his "drift-wood legislature," was treated in the same manner, but when appealed to the people to give him a legislature in sympathy with his administration, he got it—and Cole Blease will get one, too, in ninety hundred and twelve!—Laurensville Herald.

Do Not Be A Fretter. There is one sin which is everywhere under-estimated and quite too often much overlooked in valuation of character. It is the sin of fretting. It is as common as air, as speech, so common that unless it rises above its usual monotone, we do not observe it. Watch any ordinary coming together of people, and see how many minutes it will be before somebody frets; that is, makes more or less complaining statements of something or other which most probably every one in the room or in the car, or on the street corner, has probably known before, and which probably nobody can help. Why say anything about it? It is cold, it is hot, it is dry; somebody has broken an appointment, ill cooked a meal; stupidity or bad faith has resulted in discomfort. There are plenty of things to fret about. It is simply astonishing how much annoyance may be found in the course of every day's living, even at the simplest, if one only keeps a sharp eye out on that side of things. Even holy writ says we are prone to trouble, as sparks fly upward. But even to the sparks that fly upward, in the blackest smoke, there is a blue sky above, and the less time they waste on the road, the sooner they will reach it. Fretting is all time wasted on the road.—Herald of Peace.

Florida—Cuba. Why not take a trip to FLORIDA or CUBA? They have been brought within easy reach by the splendid Through Train Service of the ATLANTIC COAST LINE RAILROAD.

Leap's Prolific Wheat.
The Most Prolific and Best of Milling Wheats
Yields reported from our customers from twenty-five to fifty-two bushels per acre. It is grown side by side with other kinds of wheat and did beat them all. It yielded from five to eighteen bushels more per acre on same land and under same conditions as other standard wheats. Wherever grown it is superseding all other kinds and it should be sown universally by wheat growers everywhere.
Write for price and "Wood's Crop Specialist" which contains new and complete information on how to grow big crops of wheat.
